FLYING PAIR NEAR GOAL

Record May Be Set Today

St. Louis Flyers Expect to Regain Endurance Crown From Hunter Brothers

Jackson and O'Brine Assert They will Remain in Air 50 Hours

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13 (Wednesday) (AP)—Jack (Red) Jackson and Forrest O'Brine expect to be recrowned as the endurance flyers today. But they don't intend to return to earth for the ceremonies—not for another two or three weeks, anyway.

Their immediate goal, that of Kenneth and John Hunter, the Illinois farm boys who set a 46-hour record at Chicago last week, is just over the horizon. They had been up 547 hours (Central standard time) at 8:33 a.m. Greater Lambert Field at 8:33 a.m. Central standard time) at 8:33 a.m. Jackson and O'Brine are still cruising over Lambert Field at 8:33 a.m. to equal the Hunter brothers' record. An hour later the new record will be challenged.

Whether the record is broken, or not, it will be a demonstration on the part of the endurance flyers that they will do a little more than just stay in the air as part of the show, but the flyers then expect to point their rugged ship toward a 100-hour record, or about 4 days of sustained flight.

JACKSON DOING WELL

Jackson said Tuesday he has his motor "clocked at this mark now" if the ship holds out. It was leisurely and easy sailing as way through the night toward the new record mark with no signs of weakness. Jackson succeeded Jackson-O'Brine as endurance fliers to fame last year in the Curtiss Robin, the same type of ship being used this year. Their 546 hours 15 minute mark of 420 hours and 15 minutes broke and double the previous record that was regarded as epochal at the time.

Food was let down upon inquiry from the airplane manufacturing company that sponsored the flight.

Jackson and O'Brine set a new mark that will be the first refueled endurance flyers to regain the world record after having lost it.

FUNDS WAVER

Despite public subscriptions in hands, the flyers have at times been hard pressed for cash. Only recently Jackson and O'Brine ordered one of the monoplanes sold to obtain money to keep the plane aloft.

With a new record in sight the flyers need also have appeared content. An oil company has agreed to pay the flyers $100 an hour for the first seventy hours beyond the record, and other inducements are coming in.

The Hunter brothers landed July 1 at Chicago after setting their record, and O'Brine and Jackson took off July 21 to regain the mark. The Hunter brothers have stepped as champions after six weeks if their record

LEAD TAKEN BY NORRIS

Senator Ahead in Nebraska Vote

Repealer Holds Advantage Over Four Ohio Opponents

Bankhead May Race Heflin; Robinson and Gore Out Front

By the Associated Press

Returns in five State primary contests last night showed the following standings:

In Nebraska Senator Norris, antiadministration Republican, was leading William M. Stebbins, "regular" candidate for the Republican Senatorial nomination.

In the Ohio Democratic race an advocate for repeal of the prohibition amendment, Robert J. Buckley of Cleveland, held an advantage over four opponents for the Senate nomination, but an avowed dry, George W. White, held a two-to-one lead in the contest for the gubernatorial nomination over Stephen M. Young, a wet.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader and Vice-Presidential candidate with Alfred E. Smith in 1928, had more than a three-to-one advantage over Tom W. Campbell. Robinson is championing national prohibition.

John H. Bankhead, Jasper attorney, was leading Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher, in the Alabama Democratic primary to select an opponent to Senator Heflin who must run as an independent because of his failure to support Smith in 1928.

The run-off primary in Oklahoma to determine the Democratic candidates for the Senate and Governor gave Thomas P. Gore, former Senator, a lead over C. J. Wrightsman, Tulsa oil man; William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray was winning over Frank Buttram in the gubernatorial contest.

NORRIS INCREASES LEAD AS RETURNS COME IN

LINCOLN (Neb.) Aug. 12. (AP)—United States Senator Norris was piling up a steadily increasing plurality over his opponents as returns came in from Nebraska's Senatorial primary tonight.

Standard bearer of insurgent Republicanism, Norris had based much of his campaign on criticism of the Hoover administration, denouncing its tariff and farm-relief measures.

His principal opponent, William M. Stebbins, had the indorsement of the "regular" wing of the party.

Returns from 658 out of 2030 precincts in the State gave the insurgent candidate 35,103 votes to 24,734 for Stebbins.

Aaron Read, who filed for the Republican Senatorial nomination as a wet candidate, trailed with 2161 votes.

Gilbert M. Hitchcock, former Nebraska Senator, was leading his dry opponent, Dr. Jennie Callfas, for the Democratic nomination by a

LET'S FACE THE FACTS

THE time has come for Southern California voters to face the facts in the present State primary campaign. It is time to brush aside side issues, personalities and the straw-stuffed stalking horses of this candidate and that candidate and to recognize the one real problem which the State campaign presents for our votes to settle one week from next Tuesday.

That problem, beside which every other issue is insignificant, is whether Southern California is to continue in its present state of political vassalage to the north, an appendage whose wealth and votes are considered by the northern political machine solely as they may be used to maintain itself in power and extravagance—for the benefit of the north.

The story of the gross inequities from which Southern California has so long suffered, despite her predominance in wealth, population and contributions to State upkeep, is too familiar to require extended recapitulation here. Taxation without representation, fighting words to a sturdier generation of Americans than ours, has been the Southland's lot so long that we have come to accept it more or less supinely. The ten southern counties of California, with 56 per cent of the total population of the whole fifty-eight, 55.9 per cent of the total taxable wealth of the State and 802,005 of the total of 1,599,413 registered Republican voters of Republican California, have for years been forced to accept an arbitrary allotment, dictated by Northern California, of less than one-third of the total representation in State government and a scant third of State benefits for which our taxes pay most of the cost. Southern California has had one Governor in twenty-eight years and one United States Senator in twenty—none at all in the past thirteen. We have three Congressmen out of eleven, ten State Senators out of forty, thirty Assemblymen out of eighty and other State offices in about the same proportion, or less. Los Angeles county alone, with 39 per cent of the State's whole population, 45.7 per cent of its whole taxable wealth and 38 per cent of its aggregate registered Republican vote, has approximately one-sixth of the total membership of the State Legislature.

The business of the California Legislature is conducted by committees, which are appointed to consider the diverse interests of the State. In this all-important division of responsibility, Northern California controls 238, and Southern California 109.

Northern California has six of the seven justices of the State Supreme Court. Southern California has approximately 58 per cent of all the automobiles in California and furnishes nearly two-thirds of the gasoline tax money for State highway construction and maintenance. About one-third of this money is expended on Southern California roads. The whole number of registered voters of the State (all parties) is 2,187,474, of which the north has 1,066,927, or 48.8 per cent, and the south 1,120,547, or 51.2 per cent. The ten counties here considered to constitute Southern California are Los Angeles, San Diego, Imperial, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, Ventura, Santa Barbara, Kern and San Luis Obispo. Geographically they form about two-fifths of the State's area.

Only lately Southern California has seen the army air base removed from San Diego to the north; she faces a like possibility with respect to the navy dirigible base, despite the overwhelming physical and tactical advantages of the southern site over the northern one for that great establishment.

Thanks to Southern California's lack of defensive cohesion and to the north's illegal preponderance of votes in the Legislature, this vicious system has been self-perpetuating. With the cheerful acquiescence and moral support of a succession of Northern California Governors, including C. C. Young, the Legislature has for years and in arrogant defiance of the constitution denied the constitutional reapportionment which would give the south its rightful voice at Sacramento. Under the 1930 census figures just completed, Los Angeles county is entitled to six of the State's prospective nine new Congressmen and to eight or nine additional Assemblymen. Northern California politicians and newspapers are already openly discussing means to defeat such legal reapportionment so as to retain the balance of power in the north.

If these intolerable injustices are not to continue to a point of drastic reprisals on the part of the south—measures disastrous to the unified, all-California spirit which is the State's chief asset—there must be a new deal and it must start with the election of a Governor whose influence will be exerted to secure exact justice, in point of representation and benefits, to every part of the State, proportionate to its population and taxation.

Any Southern Californians who affect to believe that such a new deal may be had through the election of either Young or Rolph as Governor are simply kidding themselves. As is his wont—at election time only—Gov. Young has lately been extraordinarily prolific of promises of what he and his commissioners will do for the south, if the south by its votes will only return him to office. We have heard these promises so often before—and as often seen them flouted and forgotten after the votes were counted—that they no longer impress anyone familiar with Young's record of unfulfillment. As for Rolph, he knows nothing of the south and cares less. He is a northerner of the northerners, a politician steeped in and dedicated to the outworn myth of the north's "pre-eminent rights" in State affairs. His boasted record as Mayor of San Francisco, described elsewhere in this issue of The Times, is not one to commend him to California, either north or south, seeking an efficient, forceful administrator of State business.

Even assuming that Rolph or Young, if elected, should honestly seek to employ the great power of the governorship to give the south its just dues, they would not be permitted to do so. The Johnson-McCabe machine, whose puppets both men are, is dependent for its continued existence on the maintenance of power in the north, which it will accomplish by the election of either. The machine does not care which is chosen; both are equally subservient to its orders.

Buron Fitts is Southern California's candidate for Governor. He is the creature of no political machine. Honest, strong of principle, experienced in the administration of State affairs and thoroughly schooled in the obligations of the law, he is the only man whose election as Governor will mean justice to both north and south, so far as the long reach of the Governor's influence may achieve that end.

A plea for the election of a Southern Californian as Governor is not a plea for sectionalism. It is rather an appeal for the abolition of sectionalism by the only means which experience has shown can accomplish it. Sectionalism in its ugliest and most dangerous form—the arbitrary and continuous over-riding of the rights of one section by another through the illegal exercise of illegal power—has long obtained in California. It must end, if California as California is to endure.

It cannot be made too emphatic that Southern California seeks only her rightful dues in the matter of representation, offices and benefits. Though we have the votes to do so were we so disposed, there is no desire nor intent to visit on the north such injustices as we have so long suffered at its hands. Our rights we do demand—and if we do not use the power that is ours to get them, we shall be less than Americans.

Both Rolph and Young have among their supporters many Southern Californians of the highest character and of undoubted sincerity and honesty of purpose. As loyal Californians, let them consider this:

A vote for either Young or Rolph is a vote to perpetuate as iniquitous a system of organized injustice as ever threatened the unity of a State. It is a vote not only against Southern California, but against the best interests of California itself.

ROLPH EFFICIENCY MYTH EXPLODED BY RECORDS

Claim to Governorship on Strength of Showing as Bay City Mayor Hard Hit by History of Failures

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—The claim of Mayor Rolph of this city to preferential consideration as a candidate for Governor by reason of his nineteen-year record as head of the local municipal government was shattered today by the results of an investigation of the actual results of his boasted "efficiency administration" and the genial Mayor was left in the position of one attempting to sell a political gold brick to the voters of California.

Actual facts relating to his nearly two decades in the Mayor's chair, as shown by municipal records, show Rolph in a light strikingly different from that pictured by himself and his campaign managers during the current gubernatorial contest.

There are three outstanding municipal projects which may properly be considered in connection with Rolph's public record and upon which his claims for consideration as a candidate for Governor of California may be fairly based.

They are:

The municipal street railways.

The harbor.

The Hetch-Hetchy water project.

RAILWAYS IN RED

As to the first, Rolph went into office nearly twenty years ago on the strength of the vote-getting appeal of municipal ownership of street railways, cheaper fares, better service, lower taxes, favorable competition with privately owned street railway systems.

After eighteen years under Rolph's purported management the municipal railway system continues to show a deficit, while the privately owned lines, competing on terms less favorable than those enjoyed by the municipal system, are operating at a profit.

San Francisco Harbor, to which the Mayor refers with pride in his gubernatorial speeches, is not under his management at all, but is operated entirely as a part of the State government.

HARBOR DROPS BACK

However, in the matter of actual business transacted by the harbor, the volume of shipping has slipped during the Rolph administration from a position of dominance over the aggregate harbor activities of Los Angeles, Oakland, Portland and Seattle, to a point where the business of Los Angeles Harbor alone is two and one-half times greater than that of San Francisco.

Some of the strongest opponents of Mayor Rolph in his home city are supporting other candidates for Governor on the very issue of State or municipal control of San Francisco's harbor, as it is feared that Rolph's election to the Governorship might transfer harbor control from the State to the local municipal machine with even greater handicaps to local shipping than have existed heretofore.

HETCH-HETCHY

It is the colossal failure of the Hetch-Hetchy project to materialize in accordance with promises of the Rolph regime, however, that constitutes the greatest indictment of the Mayor's official record.

After nineteen years of "progress" on this hoped-for supply of domestic water, the following has been accomplished:

An original bond issue of $45,000,000 voted by people in 1910 on representation that the sum would approximate total cost of project.

A second bond issue of $24,000,000, and a third bond issue of $10,000,000, making a total of $79,000,000.

An additional bond issue of $41,000,000 to buy the distributing system of the Spring Valley Water Company.

This makes a grand total of $117,000,000, and the Hetch-Hetchy project has not brought a single drop of water to San Francisco. It is estimated that another five years of Rolph "progress" will be necessary for consummation of the undertaking.

This outlay of $117,000,000 relates only to the actual and estimated cost of the water aspects of the municipal enterprise, as there are pending additional bond issues totaling $68,115,000 which are proposed as power-development adjuncts to the original proposal.

Hence, with a prospective investment of $185,000,000 in the entire Hetch-Hetchy project, the people of San Francisco face a necessity of expending slightly more than four times as much to complete the system as was originally promised.

Meanwhile, as San Francisco taxpayers have been forced to remain content with promises, and to vote tens of millions of dollars in excess of the first cost estimates, Oakland and other communities across

But today I read where there has been $125,000,000 spent on these "premature golf courses." That's great. While it hasn't helped anybody's golf game or given anybody any exercise, it's been a wonderful help to labor and the sellers of material, and its benefits have been distributed all over the whole country. So bring on some more nut ideas if they will do that much good.

HIGH WATER IN COLORADO RIVER NEAR

Summer Flood to Extend Cattlemen of Lower Basin Chance for More Feed

BLYTHE, Aug. 12. (Exclusive) The lower Colorado River basin is expecting a late summer flood, with a discharge of 56,000 second feet recorded today at Grand Canyon station. This is the highest river since June 18. Usually the Colorado in August and September is at its lowest ebb. Heavy rains are falling in the watershed in the intermountain States, it is reported.

The rise is regarded as a flash and river men are not becoming alarmed. Cattle men however are pleased with the report as there has been little or no feed in the river bottoms this year due to a low river during the normal flood period. The river discharge yesterday was 38,700 second feet. The river rise will reach Blythe about Saturday.

GILA RIVER HIGHEST FOR SEVERAL YEARS

DUNCAN (Ariz.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Heavy rains southeast of Duncan brought the Gila River to its highest point in years today, flooding lowlands and causing many families to leave their ranch homes.

HOOVER TRIP CANCELED

President Heeds Call of Duty

Will Remain in Capital to Direct Organization of Drought Relief

Visit to Caribbean Countries Sometime During Fall Deemed Probable

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—President Hoover abandoned his western vacation trip today, announcing that he will remain in Washington to give personal direction to plans for relieving the drought-stricken areas of the country. Some two months hence when the relief organization he is setting up is functioning smoothly and the fall rains have eased conditions in the central and southern States, it is probable that he will take a trip to the Caribbean countries, particularly Cuba and Porto Rico. At the same time he may have an opportunity to fulfill an oft-expressed desire of visiting Mexico.

While Mr. Hoover does not view the drought situation as of calamitous proportions, he feels that his duty is here at his desk instead of at a fishing camp in one of the national parks in the West. Therefore, he has decided to be a good soldier and stick on the job seeking relaxation over the week-ends at his Virginia camp, where he can be in constant touch with affairs at Washington and elsewhere. His lodge on the Rapidan has direct telephone and telegraph wires connected with the White House assuring an immediate access to all information as it develops. It is likely the visits to the camp will be lengthened to three and four days, until the cooler weather sets in.

FAMILIAR ROLE

For some time certain of the President's advisers have been counselling against the western trip, fearing that the purpose of his mission would be misconstrued and would become involved in local political and economic difficulties. It is unlikely, however, that such considerations weighed heavily with Mr. Hoover. It is believed he was influenced mainly by the prospects of thousands of farmers in the drought area being hard put to get over the coming winter. He is facing what was described at the White House today as a "great human problem" with the necessity of Federal aid for families whose crops have been destroyed, whose live-stock has perished and whose means of livelihood hang on a slender thread, and he purposes to give the situation personal direction so that the maximum of government assistance may be rendered. He is functioning once more in the familiar role of relief administrator.

PROFITEERING

One of the problems confronting the President is the possibility of profiteering in the emergency. There have already been indications of such practices in reports of rapidly increasing prices for foodstuffs in urban markets based on the anticipated shortage. The Department of Justice is prepared for prosecutions if they become warranted.

Mr. Hoover continued conferences today with Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, who is tabulating reports of conditions by counties in the States worst affected by the drought. The situation as a whole, was discussed at length at the biweekly Cabinet meeting and the President is said to have expressed a desire for all the detailed information it is possible for his aides to collect. More than 1000 county agents of the Department of Agriculture in a dozen States are forwarding reports to Secretary Hyde and as these arrive they are being relayed to the President. They were all to have been sent in yesterday, but some of the agents failed to comply.

Mr. Hoover is not divulging specific information concerning the plan and scope of the drought-relief organization he is building up, pending his conference with the governors of the drought-ridden States to be held here on Thursday. When he receives the views of the gov-

CHINESE FEAR DEADLY ORGY

Reds Reported Returning to Changsha Threatening to Kill All Between 15 and 35 Years

HANKOW, Aug. 12. (AP)—Terror reigned in sacked and burned Changsha today as the Communist horde was reported returning with threats to murder everyone between 15 and 35 years of age.

Thousands of Chinese fled from the city to escape Red vengeance for wholesale executions by provincial authorities of Communists who participated in plundering and assassination during the recent Red rule in Changsha. Gov. Ho Chien is said to have directed torture and killing of approximately 250 Communist suspects daily.

Fears are felt the provincial troops cannot hold the city walls against the Reds, reported only five miles away.

Men said to be Communists are hunted down by troops and quickly executed as military rule is enforced.

The few foreigners remaining at Changsha stayed aboard foreign gunboats.

The new Communist outrages are threatened as reports are received of recent Red depredations in the city. Writing from Changsha Sunday, an official of the American Northern Presbyterian Mission said fifty-five large properties of foreign missions have been burned or badly damaged, while hundreds of small Chinese buildings were fired.

The Communists in a newspaper broadcast throughout Hunan Province, said the missionary, claimed connection with Moscow and announced they plan establishment of a soviet regime in Hunan, Hupeh and Kiangsi provinces. They declared themselves against Nationalist and rebel factions which are fighting for control of China's government.

MINE AIR-BOMB SUSPECT JAILED

Girls Link Illinois Flyer to Kentucky Raid

Color and Number on Plane Declared Identical

Pilot Once Talked About Rome-to-Dallas Hop

MURPHYSBORO (Ill.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Circumstantial evidence tonight points an accusing finger at Paul Montgomery, 25-year-old local aviator, arrested today in connection with Monday's air raid on the Providence (Ky.) coal mining district in which nine bombs were dropped from a mystery plane. Authorities indicated other arrests are in prospect.

In jail here to await extradition to Kentucky to face a felony warrant, issued at Dixon, Ky., Montgomery steadfastly maintained innocence of any connection with the bombing. He said he did not even know of the air raid until informed of it by newspaper men.

He admitted having made an early morning flight Monday, but said he went alone and flew in the vicinity of Pinckneyville, which is in the opposite direction from Providence. The Kentucky town is about ninety miles southeast of here.

GIRLS GIVE EVIDENCE

But Sheriff Flanigan announced he obtained affidavits this afternoon from two Murphysboro girls, Clara Paul and Evelyn Fleming, in which they said they had accompanied Montgomery to the local airport early Monday and saw him take off with a man passenger unknown to them. Some of the persons who saw the plane that did the bombing said two men were in it.

Montgomery's orange and black monoplane fits some descriptions of the bombing ship, even to its number, 505-M. G. C. Martin, Bruce Stone and H. Black, representing Kentucky mining companies upon whose properties the bombs were dropped, said here today they saw an orange-hued plane, No. 505-M, fly over Providence during the bombing. The plane, they said, also was sighted at Hopkinsville, Ky.; Shawnestown Ill., and Harrisburg, Ill. They also said their investigation here revealed Montgomery had taken off about 4:15 a.m., and returned at 8 a.m. The bombing occurred between these hours.

TALKED OF LONG FLIGHT

Jackson county authorities were reluctant to discuss the possibility of additional arrests or the possible motive for the bombing. The outrage was attributed in general, however, to strife resulting from efforts to unionize the Kentucky coal field.

Montgomery, who is married, has been a commercial pilot here in recent years. He gained considerable publicity some months ago when he talked of a Rome-to-Dallas (Tex.) flight this summer. He is not a miner nor affiliated with any of the factions of the mine union, but a few years ago worked for his father who operated a coal mine between De Soto and Elkville, Ill.

Ramond Phifer, 25, a dairyman's son, was questioned late today by Sheriff Flanigan and told him he drove Montgomery and the two girls to the flying field shortly before dawn after they had attended a party. Montgomery, Phifer said, flew away with a stranger who was roughly dressed and carried a sack. Phifer insisted he did not know the passenger's name.

ROLPH MYTH IS DISINTEGRATED

Efficiency Boast Flattened by Official Records

Major Projects Under His Direction Fiascoes

Story of Hetch-Hetchy, of Harbor, of Railways

the bay from the Rolph regime have completed a water project and the East Bay residents are obtaining mountain water merely by turning faucets. Sharp criticism of Mayor Rolph in connection with Hetch-Hetchy is voiced even from Bay City sources ordinarily friendly to the Rolph administration.

ROLPH CRITICISED

The San Francisco News, in a recent editorial following the accident which cost the lives of several workmen on the project, said:

"In the blame for the tragic consequences of this continued attitude of negligence and indifference to the rights and lives of humble working men O'Shaughnessy (M. M. O'Shaughnessy, City Engineer of San Francisco) does not stand entirely alone. Named by Mayor Rolph to the work originally, and in every respect the personal appointee of the Mayor, the latter shares the responsibility with his subordinate for these two horrors which have disgraced the conduct of construction work on the great water project.

"Nor, while O'Shaughnessy contents himself with stereotyped excuses that do not explain, is there any indication that Mayor Rolph, busily campaigning for Governor, is concerning himself, either with any effort to find the causes of these tragedies or with fixing the blame.

"O'Shaughnessy has taken ample time to 'speed up' the Hetch Hetchy work. It was away back in 1910 that the people of this city voted $45,000,000 for that project under the assurances given that in eight to ten years at the most Hetch Hetchy snow water would be flowing from San Francisco's faucets.

"It was three years later before construction work began, under O'Shaughnessy's direction. Not eight or ten years, but nearly eighteen have since passed and Hetch Hetchy snow water from our faucets is still a dream of the future.

"The original $45,000,000 has long since gone and the taxpayers have been called on to advance $34,000,000 more. This over and above the $41,000,000 voted for the purchase of Spring Valley. O'Shaughnessy has had plenty of time and he has had plenty of money. And the people of San Francisco have had plenty of patience with him. That patience is exhausted.

"It is time for action. Rolph is campaigning for Governor on his record as Mayor of San Francisco. He has pointed with pride to Hetch Hetchy. It may be the sort of pride that goes before a fall if the Mayor does not take action, and take it speedily, to end the attitude of negligence and indifference to the rights of workingmen that characterize O'Shaughnessy, and to place the blame for these tragedies where the blame properly belongs."

RECORD OF FAILURES

Summarized, the results of Mayor Rolph's boasted "progress" during his nineteen years' incumbency show that San Francisco Harbor has sharply dropped behind the other leading Pacific Coast ports; that the municipal railways under his nominal management have proved a costly failure; that the community's great water program remains an uncompleted experiment.

Furthermore, inasmuch as Mayor Rolph is telling his auditors throughout California that he is responsible for San Francisco's building program, for the employment of the city's workers, for the prosperity of its business and commercial institutions, it seems pertinent to report the fact that during the last ten years of his regime San Francisco has lost its position at the head of Pacific Coast cities in the following vital respects:

Number and output of its industries, number of factory wage earners, bank clearings, in the volume of water-borne commerce, in postal receipts, in assessed valuations, in building construction.

ernors he will work them into his relief plan before giving it final form.

SEES RAIL HEAD

Alfred P. Thom, general counsel in Washington for the American Association of Railway Executives, conferred with the President again today regarding the relief activities of the railroads in the drought areas. He told Mr. Hoover that there would be uniform reduction of 50 per cent in freight rates wherever needed and suggested that the Department of Agriculture designate the districts which required this assistance. Thom was assured that his suggestion would be acted upon, and it is hoped thus to avoid duplication of efforts and undue revenue loss by the carriers.

EASTERN KANSAS AND MISSOURI HAVE RAIN

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 12. (AP)—Old Jupiter Pluvius staged a comeback today and almost all of Eastern Kansas and a few sections of Missouri were home to him.

The most beneficial rains, perhaps, were received in Northeast Kansas and Northwest Missouri. In those sections, county farm agents estimated roughly their value to crops and pastures as "a million dollars." It was the first good rain for Northwest Missouri since June 25. Hanover, Kan., had 2.59 inches from overnight showers.

Kansas City had 1.61 inches.

The Kaw Valley had a soaking rain and reports from scattered points in Kansas indicate the rain, although light in some instances, was fairly general over the eastern portion.

CHICAGOAN FOUND SLAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Owen G. Leach, real estate dealer and lumber man, was found shot to death in his hotel room today. A pistol with one empty chamber was found beside him, indicating he had taken his own life.

BIRTH OF BABY BINDS PARENTS

Couple Now Cannot Go Separate Ways

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Moyer

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Somewhat less than a year ago a University of Chicago co-ed and a writer for Free Thought publications entered into a decidedly unorthodox marriage ceremony. Ethel Olyette Amelia Cen of Sun Prairie, Wis., and William Kenneth Moyer of Chicago and Souderton, Pa., were joined together with the provision that if there was no issue within two years either of the contracting parties could get a divorce without consulting the other.

Today the "baby or divorce" marriage was put on a permanent basis with the arrival of a son weighing eight and one-half pounds at the home of the husband's parents in Souderton.

The aim of the wedding, as stated in the contract, was not a life of love and companionship, but the "deliberate purpose of creating a child."

"It is our idea that every young couple shall have at least one child in order to live happily," Mr. Moyer said at the time of his marriage.

That is why we had our agreement drawn. This agreement does not mean that we must separate at the end of two years if a child is not born, but we may if we are not satisfied."

Mrs. Moyer, 25 years of age, a typical Nordic with large blue eyes and light, bobbed hair, said: "A childless home is not a real home, and we both feel that if we cannot have a child we should not be required, because of a ceremonial vow, to go on living empty lives, tied to one another."

CHINESE FEAR MASS KILLING

struction at Changsha reached here today with the arrival of the first European missionaries to revisit the Communist-ravaged city and view the ruins.

The missionaries succeeded in making a moderately thorough survey despite growing fears of another Communist attack.

Church workers said both foreign and Chinese properties were plundered and burned and the loss will run into millions.

A report written at Changsha Sunday by a representative of the American Northern Presbyterian Mission said generally speaking the city was not burned but that "heavy damage" was inflicted.

The report said fifty-five major foreign mission properties were plundered and either burned or demolished to some extent. Several hundred Chinese buildings, including virtually all the official structures and a majority of the principal business houses, were robbed and burned.

The report said several missions escaped heavy damage. These include Yale College in China with the exception of the hospital; the Los Angeles Bible Institute; the Young Men's Christian Association, and the Young Women's Christian Association, which is being used as provincial military headquarters.

"The Reds probably did not get more than $1,000,000 cash," the report continued. "The damage done, however, was infinitely greater."

BISHOP J. A. O'SHEA REPORTED IN PERIL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Bishop J. A. O'Shea of the Catholic Mission at Kanchow, whose home address was given as St. Vincent Seminary, Germantown, Pennsylvania, was reported to the State Department today by Douglas Jenkins, American Consul-General at Canton, to be in imminent danger.

The Consul-General said he was informed Kanchow is surrounded by Reds and Bishop O'Shea and other foreigners are in imminent danger because of the recent withdrawal of the Nationalist forces.

Bishop O'Shea is believed to be the only American remaining of some twenty or thirty previously there.

NEW CENSORSHIP RULES APPROVED

SHANGHAI, Aug. 12. (AP)—New regulations for the censorship of news passing from one point of China to another or to the outside world have been approved by the central government at Nanking.

The new rules permit no news being sent abroad without its being censored, and foreign correspondents who file dispatches without first presenting them to the censors run the risk of being blacklisted at the government offices.

NORRIS LEADS PRIMARY RACE

margin of approximately three to one.

Gov. Weaver had a wide margin over Harry O. Palmer of Omaha in the contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Returns from 169 precincts gave: Weaver, 13,980; Palmer, 3779.

Charles W. Bryan was far ahead of Anton Jensen in the Democratic gubernatorial contest.

ROBINSON FAR AHEAD IN ARKANSAS RACE

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Aug. 12. (AP) Senator Robinson has nearly a four-to-one lead over his opponent, Tom W. Campbell, and Gov. Harvey Parnell, is leading his nearest opponent, Brooks Hays, by a narrow margin in early scattered returns from today's biennial State primary.

Returns from 336 precincts out of 2028 gave Robinson 16,417 and Campbell 5254.

BANKHEAD ASSUMES LEAD IN ALABAMA

MONTGOMERY (Ala.) Aug. 12. (AP)—John H. Bankhead of Jasper assumed an early lead over Frederick I. Thompson, Mobile publisher, in the race for Democratic nomination for the United States Senate. The vote in 236 of 1488 precincts in the State was, Bankhead, 5526; Thompson, 2967.

MURRAY WINS IN GOVERNORSHIP RACE

OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.) Aug. 12. (AP)—William H. Murray, self-tagged Commoner who was unlucky as founder of an idealistic American colony in Bolivia, gained the Democratic nomination for Governor in today's Oklahoma run-off primary by an overwhelming majority, rapidly swelling returns indicated tonight.

With more than two-thirds of the State's 3325 precincts reported to the Associated Press, Murray was holding a lead of more than 60,000 over Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City oil man, new to politics. The Daily Oklahoman, ardent Buttram supporter, conceded Murray's nomination by perhaps 100,000 votes.

From 2286 precincts the count was: Murray 157,436; Buttram, 94,182.

Thomas P. Gore apparently was the Democratic party's choice to return to the Senate in which he served for thirteen years. The sightless former Senator led C. J. Wrightsman, Tulsa oil millionaire, by 123,581 votes to 92,016 with 2173 precincts reported.

OHIO DEMOCRATS FAVOR WET FOR SENATOR

COLUMBUS (O.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Ohio Democrats favored a wet for the Senate and a dry for the Governorship race in returns from today's primary. Robert J. Buckley of Cleveland, advocate of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, was 18,000 votes ahead of his nearest rival, W. W. Durbin, in a five-cornered contest for the Senatorial nomination, in returns from 5473 precincts out of 8956.

George White, bearing the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon League, on returns from 5626 precincts out of 8956, had 82,750 votes to 47,621 for Stephen M. Young, for the gubernatorial nomination.

Standings of the other candidates for the Senatorship were:

Charles V. Truax, 21,151; John McSweeney, 20,280; George S. Myers, also a wet, 10,769.

Gov. Cooper was without Republican opposition for renomination as was Senator McCulloch.

BRITISH BOMB RAIDING TRIBE

Air Forces Punish Afridis for Interference

Defense Towers and Houses Being Destroyed

(Copyright, 1930, by New York Times)

SIMLA, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Stern retribution is now following in the wake of the retreating Afridis, whose imposing raiding force was scattered on the outskirts of Peshawar. While the hillmen are retiring from the plains and the cavalry is sweeping up any laggards the air force is methodically punishing those Afridi villages whose men engaged in the ill-fated expedition.

Until the recent participation of the Afridis in the commotion arising from propaganda of Gandhi's supporters, the air force never flew over the district of Tirah in respect, it is said, of the tribesmen's semi-independence. As a result of their interference on this occasion their country has been already surveyed and photographically mapped. Every village wherefrom the men joined the raiding expedition is known to British political officers and such villages are now being bombed and their defense towers and houses destroyed as punishment.

NOTICE GIVEN

Twenty-four hours' notice of these positions by aircraft is given by messenger from the British political officer. The villagers well know its meaning and promptly go out in the open fields until the bombing is over.

The Afridis' neighbors, the Orakzais, in a great tribal assembly two days ago, decided to stand by pledges to help, when they decided forthwith to make a descent by the Khanki Valley upon Kohat. Intelligence of their intention was speedily received through spies at Peshawar and warning was immediately given to the Orakzais that unless they desist they will be bombed.

The Tirah tribe of Massozai, which, two days ago, attacked the Badama post held by the Kurram militia, about eight miles from Parachinar, also paid the penalty by having their villages bombed. Airplanes evacuated all British women and children from Parachinar to Kohat before bombing and a report says the filibustering ardor of the Afridis on the Southern Tirah slope has been effectively dampened.

TRIBE NOT UNITED

The Orakzai tribe, it is said, were not united in favor of co-operation with the Afridis. Their elders dissented, although the young men called the day against them. When the hotheads set forth on the expedition the principal Mullah declined to give them his blessing.

Yet, the British authorities by no means regard the trouble as over. Farther north the notorious Haji of Turangzai has responded to an appeal from the Afridis for assistance. He is again trying to stir up the Mohammedans and there is a possibility of his receiving help from the equally notorious firebrand, Chaknawar Mullah, whose great power among the Mohammedans exceeds that of Haji. The British are, therefore, taking elaborate precautions, additional troops are being concentrated at Peshawar and the frontier air force has also been increased.

I SAVED $18
LAST MONTH
on Daily Transportation

. . . and I'm doing it again this month, without making any sacrifice."

I LIVE a little over 13 miles from my office in Los Angeles," said this man who lives in a suburb, over a fine boulevard, with very little traffic all the way.

"For two years I fought it twice each day—26 miles. It wore me out and I couldn't figure it cost me less than 4 cents a mile. Friends said it was more. Some even figured their costs as high as 7 cents a mile.

"Then one day I read an ad that told about the Big Red Cars . . . how they save you from $10 to $35 a month. It said the commutation fares were only a fraction over ONE CENT a mile, that there was no traffic fight, no parking bother at all, and that I could rest and read riding.

"I went on to say that schedules had been arranged to meet my needs, that hundreds of thousands of people were riding the Red Cars and found work every day. I accepted a seven-day trial to prove these things for myself. I'm glad I took up on it.

"Now I catch the car near my house every morning, read my paper or a magazine on the way to town, and I'm at the office before I know it. Going home I arrive rested, and enjoy my dinner. My wife says I'm going to keep on riding the Big Red Cars as long as I commute, and that's one thing we agree on.

"I liked the ten days so well I stretched it to a month, and figured I saved at least $18 in that time, besides parking fees. My wife likes it, because she doesn't worry any more about my having an accident in traffic. I haven't been late to the office even once during the month, and I feel a lot fresher on the job when I get there. I'm glad I made the test. I've told my friends about it, and several of them are trying the Big Red Cars this month."

ELDERLY PAIR'S FATE SHROUDED

St. Louis Couple Believed Victims of Gangsters

Detectives Think Kidnapers Took Them in Auto

Relatives Here Say Bunko Schemers to Blame

DEFIANCE (O.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Believed by police to be victims of an unknown fate at the hands of St. Louis gangsters, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kern, an elderly and prominent St. Louis couple who had a $70,000 bank draft in their possession, are sought by authorities tonight after they left a railroad train here early today and mysteriously disappeared in an automobile.

Detectives are working on a theory that Mr. and Mrs. Kern were persuaded by glib-tongued gangsters impersonating good citizens, to quit the train and continue their journey from St. Louis to Toledo by automobile, and that they were kidnaped after they entered the automobile. The detectives' theory is that Mr. and Mrs. Kern then were robbed.

ASKED FOR CASH

Kern, a wealthy St. Louis flour buyer, and his wife, left St. Louis last night on a Wabash train. They had intended to use the money for a real-estate transaction in Toledo today, but did not keep their appointment in the latter city.

The money was withdrawn from a St. Louis bank yesterday. Kern first asked for his entire deposits of $90,000 and wanted it in $5000 bills. J. Hugh Powers, vice-president of the bank, and detectives there persuaded Kern, who is 70 years of age, to take $70,000 in a negotiable bank draft instead.

PAIR LEAVES TRAIN

When Kern left St. Louis, word was sent to Toledo detectives to meet him on arrival and to endeavor to protect him. During the train trip, he received two telegrams, one urging him to leave the train at Fort Wayne, Ind., to meet a group of persons. Mr. and Mrs. Kern did not act on that telegram, but spoiled the plans for a protective reception at Toledo by quietly leaving the train at Defiance.

Several persons saw the couple enter an automobile with three men. At this time they apparently were acting of their own will. No trace was found of them after the automobile, a sedan with an Illinois license, was driven away. Toledo detectives opened the investigation shortly after the Wabash train arrived with the couple missing.

RELATIVES THINK PAIR VICTIMS OF BUNKO MEN

Belief that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kern are victims of bunko schemers, was expressed here yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Huber, son-in-law and daughter of the kidnaped St. Louis couple.

"Some two months ago," Huber explained, "Mr. Kern met some people in Hot Springs, Ark., and wrote that he was on some kind of a deal to sell his valuable home property in St. Louis. I believe that the swindlers were working on him at that time. What surprises me most is that the old gentleman would fall for a thing like that."

The Hubers reside at 327 Fourteenth street, Santa Monica, and last night were awaiting replies to half a hundred messages which Mr. Huber has dispatched to the authorities in an effort to aid in the search.

Huber is the owner of the Unico Motor Products Corporation in St. Louis, of which Mr. Kern is vice-president. He is also owner and president of the W. B. Huber & Co., manufacturers of automobile pistons, with plant at 2660 Lacy street.

The kidnaped couple have visited here many times and Mrs. Kern left here about two weeks ago after concluding a visit with her daughter.

CLEW TO MISSING PAIR FOUND BY TOLEDO POLICE

TOLEDO (O.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Toledo police found their first clew this afternoon in trying to locate Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kern of St. Louis, who are believed to have been abducted by a gang of swindlers.

It was learned that a Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kern registered in the Hotel Secor here last Friday. They arrived in the morning and checked out in the afternoon. It is believed they may have talked with members of the gang while here. No trace of the couple has been found here today.

Maps were provided and facilities offered. Bromley also was given permission to fly his plane from Yokohama, where it is being assembled, to the air field selected.

Nonhabit-Forming Drug to be Developed

Would Aid in Fight to Curb Opium Addiction

Narcotics Program Outlined at Conference

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—A program to curb the use of narcotics in the practice of medicine, including active co-operation toward development of nonhabit-forming substitutes for products of opium and cocaine, was indorsed by scientists, manufacturers and government officials considering the legitimate narcotic needs for the United States.

Surgeon-General Cumming of the Public Health Service, who called the conference as an aid in determining what limit the new Narcotics Bureau will place on legal importation of drugs, said after the conference he will hold another consultation on ways of carrying out the program.

Dr. William Charles White, chairman of the National Research Council's drug committee, urged a combined effort toward "replacing every legitimate use of habit-forming drugs in medicine." Through the council research is now going forward on twelve synthetic products which scientists hope will relieve pain without producing addiction.

FLORIDA FRUIT BAN MODIFIED

Success of Fly War Causes Restrictions to be Lifted

Sterilization of Products for North Unneeded

Rule Still Applies, However, to South and West

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—A broad revision of Mediterranean fruit fly quarantine regulations removing sterilization requirements on fruit and vegetable shipments to wide areas of the country, effective on the 15th inst., was announced today by Secretary Hyde.

Eradication efforts conducted by the department in conjunction with Florida authorities, he said, had been so effective as to justify relaxing the restrictions. Only three infestations have been found in the past eleven months, he explained, and these were considered so slight that the more stringent regulations need no longer be enforced.

Sterilization of fruit shipments to the Middle West and Northeast will not be required under the modified quarantine. Tomatoes, eggplants, lima beans and other vegetables except peppers also may be moved throughout the country without sterilization.

Sterilization requirements will be continued, however, on shipments of fruit, except limes, into eighteen southern and western citrus-fruit-producing States. Also, peppers shipped to these States must be sterilized.

AVIATION NEEDS TOLD BY 'EAGLE'

Col. Lindbergh Talks About International Flying

Standard Forms and Rules Necessity, He Says

Institute of Politics Hears Famous Pilot

WILLIAMSTOWN Mass.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today outlined some of his ideas for the facilitation of international aviation before the general conference on aerial navigation at the Institute of Politics.

With the growth of experience and the improvement of aircraft, Col. Lindbergh said, "we find that this country's interest is not alone in communication between the various States by air, but that one of our most important interests is better communication with other countries, at this time particularly, I think, with Mexico and Central and South America.

"There are still great opportunities to make the carrying of passengers and express more valuable, much faster than at the present time," he continued, "if we can obtain a standard set of regulations, a simpler series of forms to be filled out in international transport, and if we can prevail upon the various countries which are served by the United States airlines to co-operate with an idea toward the future and what these lines will bring to them in the future."

Col. Lindbergh said that the private international flyer "requires the most assistance," because he has no organization to advise him in advance of forms and reports to be prepared, weather conditions, routes, restrictions and regulations.

D. O. Baudouy, New York agent of the Compagnie Generale Aeropostale, said that in South America, where French, German and American aviation interests are in competition, the relations maintained are friendly.

NEW CHILD LABOR LAW PROPOSED

Caddies and Newsboys Would not be Molested by Projected Statute

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—A uniform child labor law was formulated in Chicago today, but it holds no threat for the little chap who carries your golf clubs, the lad who shines your shoes or the one from whom you buy your newspaper.

So-called street trades are exempted from the suggested statute being considered by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, holding its fortieth annual session. There were too many pleas from the "boys who made good,"—business and professional men who "remembered when."

The statute would, however, remove another familiar figure from the streets at night. It would prohibit persons under 21 years of age from being messengers between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m.; moreover, it would put a taboo on the performances of child prodigies who flash before the public as violinists, actors and whatnot.

Only the street trades would be left open to boys—and girls—under 14.

Temperature on Eastern Coast Takes Tumble

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (Exclusive) New York's Humpty Dumpty temperature, which drives one under cold showers one day and under blankets the next, took another great fall this morning and the Weather Bureau gave assurance that it will not bounce back for another couple of days.

New Jersey and Connecticut had frost. The official score was 58 for the four hours from 5 a.m. until after 8 a.m. today. Fresh northwest winds, becoming light tonight, prevailed.

Westerleigh, L. I., gleefully reported a minimum of 47 deg. during the early morning, while Plainfield, N. J., clipped that with a 44 minimum, a record low for August.

Annapolis Has 718 Vacancies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Approximately 718 midshipmen may be appointed to the United States Naval Academy in 1931.

The Navy Department announced today that 393 vacancies already exist at Annapolis and that with the graduation of the class of 1931 next June 325 more places will be open for appointments.

Senators, Representatives and Delegates to Congress make the appointments.

THIRD STAGE BRIDE TAKEN BY PICKFORD

Mary Mulhern, Actress of New York, Marries Film Player at Del Monte

DEL MONTE, Aug. 12. (AP)—There is another Mary Pickford tonight, Mary Mulhern, New York actress, who became the bride of Jack Pickford, motion-picture actor and brother of Mary Pickford, today at a little country church near here.

The bride was clad in a blue lace gown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. J. Barkel.

The church, which seats less than fifty, provided ample room for the marriage. James Kirkwood, motion-picture director, was best man. There were no other attendants. A few idlers and children were present.

This is Pickford's third matrimonial venture. His other wives were Olive Thomas, actress, and Marilyn Miller, musical comedy star.

PICKFORD SERVED WITH WRITS ON SUITS

Two civil summons of the local Municipal Court were served on Jack Pickford yesterday at Monterey shortly before he was married to Mary Mulhern, New York actress, the civil department of Sheriff Traeger's office, announced last night. The summons require his answer here in the matter of asserted debts.

The suits filed by collection agencies are in behalf of the Greenfield Day and Night Market for $149 worth of groceries, and the Fulton Market of Beverly Hills for $482 worth of groceries asserted to have been purchased in May and June, last year.

LEAVITT'S TROUBLES ANALYZED

Frozen Assets Blamed by Attorney for Suicide of Automobile Dealer

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Financial difficulties of the J. W. Leavitt Company, automobile dealers, climaxed yesterday in the suicide of its president, J. W. Leavitt, after he had murdered A. D. Plughoff, the vice-president, were attributed to frozen assets today by Leavitt's attorney, Milton Newmark. The latter said a capitulation of assets discloses a potential net worth of between $200,000 and $300,000. The difficulty, Newmark pointed out, was that the assets are tied up and ready cash was not available to meet obligations as quickly as demands were made.

Before the two men were buried today, their widows expressed their sympathy to each other and pledged continuance of their long-standing friendship.

Guilt Admitted in Mutilation

OROVILLE, Aug. 12. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lawson and James Patterson pleaded guilty to mayhem today when arraigned for the mutilation of Charles Randle, Jr., a waiter accused by the Lawsons of attacking their daughter, Emma, 15 years of age.

The defendants asked Superior Judge Moncur to place them on probation but the probation officer said there can be no probation when a deadly weapon is used.

The court said the officer must prove whether a deadly weapon was used.

They will appear the 18th inst. for sentence.

AFTER 40 AILMENT

HEALTH after 40 is imperiled, says medical science, by a prevalent ailment—kidney breakdown. Over half of men and women are affected, it says; many without knowledge of it, for there are no warning symptoms.

Doctors tell us that 75% of poisonous waste from the system must be excreted by kidneys, much in too concentrated form. Delicate kidney cells, through overwork, become congested. Breakdown follows, and poisons which should be eliminated, are thrown back in the system. And to this, doctors trace the cause of many serious ills.

What Doctors Urge

Drink 6 glasses of Puritas mineral-free water each day, say doctors. It acts to dilute and carry off concentrated poisons, thus easing the burden on kidneys.

It acts then to keep kidneys flushed, without adding the further burden of mineral content, found in ordinary water. Only distilled water is mineral-free. And Puritas, through scientific distillation and aeration, is both mineral-free, impurity-free. It is drinking water in its purest form.

With your first taste of Puritas you'll note its distinctive flavor, and each drink you will enjoy increasingly.

Phone WEstmore 0381 for immediate Puritas delivery, anywhere in Southern California. A Puritas iceless cooler furnished free.

BOLTS FROM WILD STORM FIRE TIMBER

Freak Tempest Follows Crests of Sierras and Leaves Blazes in Wake

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)— Twenty-nine timber and brush fires were started during the night by a thunderstorm that roared along the crests of the Cascades and Sierras from Northwestern Trinity county to Lake Tahoe region, according to reports to Federal forest headquarters today. The storm was described as the most intense in the memory of the oldest mountaineers, was accompanied by hail at Trukee and advices tonight from Susanville said it has resumed in that section with a strong wind and heavy rainfall.

Peculiarly, not one of the official gauge stations of the Weather Bureau throughout Northern California, reported a drop of moisture, but this was explained by the fact that the electrical disturbance rode the peaks and no rain fell in the cities, where recording instruments are located.

Sixteen of the fires were started in Klamath National Forest near Happy Camp, ten in Lassen National Forest near Westwood Junction and three in El Dorado National Forest between Placerville and Trukee. Except in Klamath Forest, all the blazes are reported controlled, the rain which fell aiding in their extinguishing.

Flyers Perish as Plane Falls and Then Burns

OAKLAND, Aug. 12. (AP)—Albert Miller, 23 years of age, granted a private pilot's license two days ago, and Harry Hagen, 27, on his first flight, were killed today in an airplane fall at the Municipal Airport. The plane burst into flames after it struck the ground and the men, if not killed by the fall, were burned to death.

Leroy Gregg, flying instructor at the field, saw the crash from another plane. He said Miller attempted a "nose high" turn difficult for experienced flyers. The motor is higher than the rest of the plane when the turn is made.

Gregg said he was explaining the turn to a passenger and pointed to Miller's plane as an example. The plane went into a tail spin and fell to the field.

Miller, an airplane mechanic, and Hagen, a salesman, lived together.

Holy See Plans Naming Consuls

ROME, Aug. 12. (AP)—Tribuna today reports the Vatican is considering the appointment of consuls or individuals to function as such in countries where the Holy See is represented by papal nuncios.

The necessity for having consuls to represent the interests of individuals in Vatican City is said to have been shown by difficulties arising over the personal effects of the late Cardinal Vannutelli after his death.

BRAWLS DELAY BOMB HEARING

Opposing Attorneys Bicker Over Testimony

Prosecutor Still Convinced of Billings's Guilt

Mooney "Alibi" Shattered by Cunha's Experiment

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Documents purporting to show that Thomas J. Mooney and Warrent K. Billings had a direct connection with the bombing of the 1916 Preparedness Day parade will be considered by the justices of the California Supreme Court before the present Billings pardon rehearing has been concluded. The way was paved for their introduction late today.

These documents were brought to the attention of the court, which is sitting as an advisory fact-finding commission, by Edward A. Cunha, Mooney prosecutor. They have been held in abeyance since last week, pending a determination of their admissibility. Today Chief Justice Waste called attention to the fact circumstances beyond the control of the justices had prevented perusal of the documents thoroughly by all of the justices so he suggested Cunha summarize the pertinent material in conjunction with Edwin V. McKenzie, attorney for Billings.

ATTORNEYS AGREE

Although Cunha and McKenzie had spent most of the day fighting each other, they tacitly gave their consent to such an arrangement by informing the court neither is afflicted with "social scruples."

When this has been accomplished and submitted the court then will determine if the material can go into the record as evidence. McKenzie was assured by Chief Justice Waste that he will be allowed ample opportunity to cross-examine fully on each and every item of the documents which is admitted.

This agreement was about the only constructive move of a day featured by arguments, squabbles, tart remarks and a threat to adjourn the hearing unless progress could be made. Cunha and James Brennan, who prosecuted Mooney, were the only witnesses. They were subjected to cross-examination by McKenzie and Thomas F. Walsh, attorney for Mooney. Words were prolific, but evidence meager, and most of the listening justices plainly showed impatience.

McKENZIE CHIDED

McKenzie, particularly, was taken to task by the court for his argumentative manner of cross-examining, to which he replied he could not do otherwise as long as witnesses in the case were permitted to go entirely beyond their province as witnesses and argue questions instead of answering them.

When, late in the day, McKenzie and Cunha became involved in a squabble so heated they deserted the realm of testimony entirely to hurl bitter remarks at each other Justice Preston at length intervened, saying:

"I'm going to ask for a vote of my associates to adjourn this hearing until we can get something new."

The justice declared no one was getting anywhere and the hearing had deteriorated into nothing more than a "harangue."

REFRESHING CHANGE

Chief Justice Waste swung into the situation at this point with the observation Justices Richard and Curtis felt the same way about it. Justice Shenk, however, remarked with a smile that as long as things had gone as far as they have, they ought to go on. The repartee, he inferred, was refreshing, if nothing else. Justice Seawell made no comment and Justice Langdon was not present, being ill.

McKenzie declared he was perfectly willing to stop whenever the justice felt the hearing should be stopped, but he insisted upon the right to cross-examine on matters brought into the recprd by the "volunteering" of a witness, referring to Cunha.

McKenzie demanded the justices make Cunha answer questions instead of arguing them. Chief Justice Waste commented that all legal rules have been violated throughout the hearing in an effort to get at facts instead of theories, and then the hubbub was stilled because Cunha started talking again and evoked the only iron-bound unwritten rule of the hearing to date which is that the witness shall be heard.

"ALIBI" SHATTERED

Cunha's interruption was to advance the assertion that Mooney and Billings, if they planted the bomb suitcase, which he contends they did, had ample time to go to the Ellers Building, where the so-called alibi photograph of Mooney and his wife was taken, a movement declared impossible by McKenzie for Billings. Cunha said he had tried it out over the route they must have taken, that once he had done it at not more than thirty miles an hour at any point and traversed the distance in three and one-half minutes, and a second time he had done it under the same conditions and "just shaded four minutes." They not only had time to go that distance, Cunha declared, but could have done it twice in the time they had at their disposal, according to the time element established by witnesses during the trials.

These time elements, however, are in dispute.

Cunha still believes Mooney and Billings guilty and is supported in this belief by Brennan, the Billings prosecutor.

Brennan today said it was his idea "at the time that there was a connection between the street car strike that was in operation at that time and the planting of this bomb on Preparedness Day and my information was that Tom Mooney had urged the stopping of this parade at all hazards." There were many incriminating circumstances, he averred, that led him to believe Billings guilty.

CHILEAN UNIVERSITY REOPENS

SANTIAGO (Chile) Aug. 12. (AP)—The council of the university, meeting in special session, has voted to reopen classes Wednesday rather than prejudice studies of Chilean scholars by permitting them to remain closed until December 15. Classes were suspended until this latter date recently when student political agitation grew out of hand.

APE CAPERS' APERS UPSET

Hundreds Go After Job Walking on All Fours and Eating Oddly but It's Too Weird

PARIS, Aug. 12. (AP)—The plight of Russian emigres, of whom there are about 60,000 living in Paris, led 300 of them to answer an advertisement in a paper of their language published here, Sforsa, for a married couple who could live on bananas and tomato juice and walk on all fours.

This couple was to help give humanity a good sound lesson in the errors of present desires to eat meat and walk on two feet.

The advertisement read: "Aged American, bachelor, possessing a large fortune, hunts a Russian couple (married, from thirty to forty-five years) without children, from excellent family, with good education and having perfect knowledge of the English language. The work will consist in helping to develop and propagate a new theory of physical and moral education, etc., etc."

A Vendome business address was given.

Of the 300 persons replying a young doctor who had just returned from Colombia was chosen, but when he was ushered into the presence of the "father of the idea," the young doctor was not convinced of the sanity of the proposition. In fact, the offer of the advertisement to pay $200 a month and all living expenses to the chosen couple dropped over the horizon.

The American's notions were a wee bit severe for the Russian doctor, who was asked if he could eat at least a dozen times a day, and then nothing but bananas and tomato juice, and if he could walk on his hands and feet and sleep a dozen times a day for short periods rather than taking the usual nightly repose.

The scheme appeared fantastic to the doctor, who explained it to the other applicants and hopes which the advertisement had brought to 300 Russian couples went glimmering.

DEATH AGAIN DELAYS MERGER SUIT TRIAL

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) Aug. 12. (AP) Another twenty-four-hour delay in the trial of the suit to enjoin the merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation resulted today from the death Friday of Myron C. Wick, Jr., co-plaintiff in the case. After an hour's conference court adjourned until tomorrow to allow time for probating Wick's will and appointing executors whose names will be substituted for Wick's in the court records. Wick's funeral was held yesterday.

New York Mayor Says He's Ignorant of Bribe

Tammany ex-Leader Also Cries "Innocent"

District Attorney Quizzes Both About Scandal

NEW YORK, August 12. (Exclusive)—Both Mayor Walker and George W. Olvany, former leader of Tammany Hall, assured Dist.-Atty. Crain this afternoon that they know nothing whatever about the charge that George P. Ewald paid $12,000 to become a city magistrate.

The Mayor denied he had so much as discussed the Ewald appointment either with Mr. Olvany or with Martin J. Healy, the Tammany leader whom he has suspended as deputy commissioner of plant and structures because he is involved in the scandal.

Mr. Olvany thought he might have talked over Ewald with District Leader Healy, who has admitted receiving a $10,000 loan from Mrs. Bertha Ewald, the magistrate's wife, at the time of the appointment.

KEATON SIGNS NEW CONTRACT

"Connecticut Yankee" to be Rogers's Next Film

Jobyna Howland, Kenneth MacKenna Cast

Russell Hardie Wins Role in Artists' Picture

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Something has arisen to worry picture stars in regard to their popularity. This is the angle of their success in foreign talking versions of their pictures. If their foreign versions don't go, the stars themselves do not find themselves in such good position no matter what their popularity here.

BUSTER KEATON

Buster Keaton appears to be one of the lucky ones. His picture, "Free and Easy," which also was made in Spanish, has been successful in Spain, Mexico and South America, and is one of the contributing factors, we learn, to his signing a new contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The comedian transacted this business yesterday, it was announced by the studio, the event taking place by cable, since Keaton is now in England.

Two writers at M.-G.-M. were at once set to work to evolve a new story for the star, and he will arrive in this country within a fortnight.

WILL ROGERS WINS HEART'S DESIRE

As long ago as six years, Will Rogers was hankering to star in Mark Twain's "A Conneticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."

Now it is definitely decided that he get his wish. Fox and Winfield Sheehan announced yesterday that Rogers's next starring vehicle, following "Lightnin'," positively will be the Twain story.

And Rogers now has the added advantage, inasmuch as the picture will be a talker, which means a great deal, now that he has the prestige of "They had to See Paris" and "So This Is London," not to mention his quite assured success in "Lightnin'," on which he is shortly to commence work with Henry King directing.

David Butler, it is all settled also, will direct "The Connecticut Yankee."

No leading lady to play the intriguing role of Sandy, is yet announced, but if Janet Gaynor's option is taken up in October, and she does not switch to M.-G.-M., we hear it whispered as likely that she will play the wistful heroine and sharer of the Yankee's adventures.

As will be remembered, Pauline Starke played and made a huge success in it, when Emmett Flynn filmed his never-to-be-forgotten silent version of the story.

PARAMOUNT SIGNING PLAYERS FOR LEADS

The play is surely the thing nowadays with no stars in pictures save those made so through popular acclaim.

KENNETH McKENNA

All of which leads up to the announcement that, there being four leading roles in "The Virtuous Sin," and Kay Francis and Walter Huston being assigned two of the four leads, Paramount has been scouring Hollywood for two players who measure up to the requirements of the other two parts.

B. P. Schulberg announced yesterday that two no less skillful players than Kenneth McKenna and Jobyna Howland will portray the roles. McKenna will portray a young scientist, the husband of Miss Francis, who is dragged into the war. Miss Howland will be seen as the owner of a night club run for the entertainment of officers in a town near the battle front.

McKenna, who is borrowed from Fox, was a stage star and producer from 1919 until last year when he entered pictures. Miss Howland has been a Broadway headliner for nearly a decade.

Bert Lytell at Columbia

Having just completed "The Last of the Lone Wolf" Bert Lytell starts work immediately on his second venture for Columbia, which is "Brothers," a film version of the popular stage play by Herbert Ashton, Jr., in which Lytell made a hit in New York last year.

Russell Hardie With Artists

Russell Hardie, the young actor who made such a hit on the stage in "The Criminal Code," has been grabbed off by United Artists for a juvenile lead.

RUSSELL HARDIE

The young player has been signed for a role in "The Dove," in the talking version of which Dolores Del Rio will shortly start work as star.

Hardie has appeared in no pictures so far as I can learn, his work has been entirely on the stage.

Marie Mosquini in It

That pretty and clever young actress, Marie Mosquini, who, it will be remembered, began her film career as a Hal Roach star, but who retired to be married to Fred Harlow, has decided to re-enter professional life.

Miss Mosquini has just been cast for a featured role in Lawrence Tibbett's current picture, "New Moon," it was learned yesterday. The part is one that will call for Miss Mosquini's talents as a comedienne.

Morrow se Encuentra Bien, Pero Necesita Descanso

CUERNAVACA (Méjico), Agosto 12.—Hoy dijo el embajador Morrow a la Prensa Asociada que se sentia bien; pero que iba a quedarse aquí una semana. Sus médicos le han prescrito descanso absoluto.

El embajador andaba en pie, activo y satisfecho. Su indisposición se originó de un ataque de indigestion.

Valeska Suratt Pierde su Pleito Contra De Mille

NUEVA YORK, Agosto 12.—Hoy sobreseyeron en un tribunal federal en el juicio por plagio entablado por Valeska Suratt, actriz de teatro y cine, contral Cecil B. De Mille, productor de "El Rey de Reyes".

El juez Coleman falló que, en realidad, no habia semejanza entre la cinta en cuestión y un libretto escrito en 1924 por la señorita Suratt.

La Congregación Paga la Pensión Alimenticia que Debia Pagar su Pastor

KANSAS CITY, Agosto 12.—La señora Jessie W. Walker se divorció de un mero individuo; pero su pensión alimenticia la está cobrando de la congregación de un tabernáculo.

Su esposo, Carl C. Walker, que es el jefe de una secta local, se habia atrasado varios meses en el pago de la pensión alimenticia de la que fue su esposa. La señora Walker, por procedimientos legales, entró en posesión de un camión cargado de moblaje eclesiástico, en el que figuraban un xilófono, una escopeta, una nevera eléctrica y 193 sillas.

En la subasta de esos muebles, un pastor se interesaba por la nevera para helar bebidas caseras, y otro por la escopeta para cazar patos los domingos. Alarmada la congregación, se unió al grito de 'Alto ahí", y se puso a recaudar entre los miembros una colecta para la señora Walker.

Muchacho que se Va de su Casa Porque No lo Dejaban Trabajar

DETROIT, Agosto 12.—Aquí va una buena noticia para el chico de 13 años, Arthur Schoor, que se encuentra en algún punto de los Estados Unidos: Si consiente Arthur en regresar a su casa, su padre le dará permiso de que trabaje tan duro como quiera.

Arthur se huyó ayer de la casa paterna, porque sus padres insistian en que descansara durante sus vacaciones. Arthur, que es vendedor de periódicos, dejó para su mamá un recado concebido en estos términos: "Querida mamá, te sigo queriendo como siempre. ¿Por qué me privan ustedes de la oportunidad de ganarme un dólar?"

"El muchacho estaba trabajando mucho", dijo el papá. "Me parecia a mí que debia tomarse algún descanso antes de que se abriera la escuela."

Quizá Pierdan su Silbato los Policias de Tráfico

NUEVA YORK, Agosto 12.—¿Conciben ustedes un guardia de tráfico sin su silbato? Pues el señor Mulrooney, comisionado de Policia, va a hacer el experimento de privar de sus pitos a tan importantes conservadores del buen orden en el tránsito callejero.

Arguye el citado funcionario que, haciendo que los policias gobiernen el tráfico puramente con señas y ademanes, se logrará que hagan frente a los automóviles, y estén así en mejores condiciones para ver y salvar a los peatones imprudentes o torpes.

NOTAS LOCALES

La Ciudad Tiene una Buena Reserva Disponible

Un recuento final practicado ayer dio por resultado que el contralor municipal Myers haya trasladado al Fondo de Reserva la suma total de $980,000, que representa el exceso de entradas sobre gastos durante el año fiscal próximo pasado. En el invierno pasado llego a temerse que hubiera, por lo contrario, un déficit de $1,000,000 en el referido ejercicio municipal.

La comisión de Hacienda tiene ahora en carpeta una moción del concejal Lewis, por la que éste propone que se revoquen los acuerdos que redujeron en $993,000 el presupuesto actual, ya que con el superávit anterior tendrá la ciudad el dinero suficiente para pagar los sueldos correspondientes al año fiscal en curso.

Juez que Tendrá que Decidir Entre Dos Testamentos

Cuál de los dos testamentos dejados por el difunto Albert J. Clark, dueño de una "cadena" de tiendas, ha de ser admitido a juicio, es el problema que tendrá que resolver un juez del tribunal de testamentos, pues la señora Irma S. Clark, viuda del testador, se presentó ayer con un segundo testamento. El testamento final dejaba los bienes en depósito a favor de la señora Clark y su hija. El segundo testamento, fechado el 11 de Julio de 1930, deja todos los bienes a favor de la viuda.

LANGDON RETURNS

Film Player in Cast of Drama

Through the permission of Al Christy Marion Shockley will appear in the ingenue lead of "The Missing Witness," the new courtroom drama by Ramon Romero and Harriet Hinsdale, which starts at the Egan Theater on the 26th inst.

Miss Shockley arrived in Hollywood but a few weeks ago and was immediately signed by the Christy brothers to appear in a series of college comedies.

Other members of the play cast are Maude Fealy, Gloria Gray, William Eugene, Harry Stafford and Milo Boulton.

STORY PURCHASED

John Farrow has sold an original screen play, "Mitzi," to Eric Von Stroheim who intends to produce and direct it.

New Film May Start Use of Slang Phrase

The expression "top speed" may soon have a new meaning in the realm of slang, it is said, and if so Joe E. Brown will be directly responsible for it.

In the picture, "Top Speed," Brown plays the role of a loud-mouthed and bragging prevaricator whose unfailing ability to stretch the truth far beyond the breaking point causes many complications of plot.

During the filming of the picture by Mervyn LeRoy, the slang expression began to run the rounds—"He's just been top speeding you," or "You've been listening to a lot of that top speed conversation."

"Top Speed" comes to Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater Friday.

BOWL CONCERT DUAL TRIUMPH

Molinari and Olga Steeb Both Approved

Pianist Brilliant in Playing of Concerto

Conductor Presents Great Brahms Symphony

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

The superficial dazzle of Saint-Saens's Concerto for Piano in G minor was contrasted with the depth and the riches of Brahms's Symphony No. 4 last evening at the Hollywood Bowl, affording the occasions for a dual triumph. Olga Steeb was the claimant of honors in the concerto, which she brilliantly interpreted, and Bernardino Molinari received the acclaim for the symphony. Only these two compositions, and the overture to "The Barber of Seville," plus Miss Steeb's encores for piano alone, were offered, but they constituted an ample and pretentious program—all in all one of the very best during the Molinari reign.

The applause for Miss Steeb was both spirited and insistent, when she had finished the concerto, and she responded first with the Chopin Etude No. 3, Op. 10, and the "Spinning Girls of Carantec," by Rhene-Baton.

Animation, flashes of bright melodiousness, life and a degree of musical color characterize the Saint-Saens concerto, all of which Miss Steeb can express to the fullest. The zest of the rapid tempo that prevails practically throughout this creation for the piano was carried to the audience by virtue of the soloist's splendid technique, and the ease and assurance with which she seemed to fill the bowl with rippling tone.

The work itself makes no deep impression, but the playing of it was inspiring in mood, as it should be for Saint-Saens. The Molinari accompaniment was well subdued throughout, and gave the pianist large scope. In fact, the performance was so predominantly pianistic as to seem almost like a solo, rather than a concerto. Which is suitable enough for this composition.

Of the beauty of the Brahms symphony much can always be said. The work is magnificent from the first phrase of the opening movement to the climax of the Passacaglia. Outstanding were the fluency of the melody in the first section, as interpreted by Molinari, and the vigor of the Scherzo and the finale. I was more impressed with certain portions of this symphony than anything that I have heard Molinari do this season, and he has been responsible for various impressive presentations.

Less of poetry than drama prevailed in the Molinari rendition, put individuality distinctly marked many portions of the production of the famed Brahms composition. Also it was obvious throughout that Molinari gave a most earnest warmth of feeling and vitality to the interpretation. He was recalled to the stand several times for bows at the close.

The crowd was much larger than usual for a Tuesday evening.

R.-K.-O. BILL TO CHANGE TOMORROW

"Night Work" Booked as Screen Attraction; New Stage Show Opening

"Hell's Island," costarring Jack Holt and Ralph Graves as Americans of the Foreign Legion, closes today at the R.-K.-O. Theater. The Columbia film drama, which features Dorothy Sebastian in the feminine lead, will be followed by Eddie Quillan in "Night Work."

Replacing the current stage show, which includes Sylvia Clark, Pressler and Klaiss and Loma Worth, the variety unit opening tomorrow is buied as "A Trip to the Valley of a Thousand Laughs." The excursion is conducted by Bob Murphy, as master of ceremonies, and also presents Bob Ripa, the boy juggler, Kerr and Ensign in a travesty called "Women," and Joe Daly.

In "Night Work," Quillan plays the part of an assistant window dresser in a large department store. The supporting cast includes Sally Starr, Frances Upton, John T. Murray, George Duryea, Ben Bard and others. Russell Mack directed.

John Barrymore Loses Wager; to Attend Theater

As the result of an unusual wager John Barrymore must attend one performance each day during the entire run of "Moby Dick," starting at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater Friday.

During the filming of the picture Barrymore made a wager with Darryl Zanuck, associate producer, that it would take the whaling expedition which set out to photograph the whaling scenes for "Moby Dick" two months to sight a real live whale for the picture, according to studio reports. Zanuck said that it would not take more than three weeks, with the stipulation of the wager being that if Barrymore lost he was to appear and sit in the audience through one complete showing of the picture each day that it ran locally in Los Angeles.

The whaling unit sighted and captured their first whale ten days after being out at sea, it is said. It was seen off the coast of Lower California, harpooned, killed and these scenes appear in the picture.

'Bright Lights' Next at Tower

"Bright Lights," a film in technicolor comes to the Tower Theater Sunday. Dorothy Mackaill is the heroine and Frank Fay the hero. The two reveal the days of struggle before fame comes to their lives.

Others in the cast are Daphne Pollard, Noah Beery, Tom Dugan, James Murray, Ines Courtney, Eddie Nugent and Philip Strange.

Noted Star Flies in "Dawn Patrol"

Richard Barthelmess

CALIFORNIA ANNOUNCES NEW POLICY

Theater to Reopen with Spanish Film Version of "Benson Murder Case"

The California International Theater, the first playhouse to be operated strictly as a home for foreign language talking films, will be opened in Los Angeles, Friday, the 29th inst.

The theater is located at Eighth and Main streets and is equipped with the latest sound apparatus. At the present time several sound experts are making tests, and slight changes in the equipment will assure excellent reproduction when the theater opens.

The opening attraction under this new policy will be Paramount's Spanish version of "The Benson Murder Case." The Spanish title is "El Cuerpo Del Delito," and the film features Antonio Moreno, Barry Norton, Ramon Pereda, Carlos Villarias, Emanuel Conesa, Maria Alba, Andres De Segurola, Vicente Padula and Maria Calvo.

In addition to the main attraction the management proposes to include a program of typical Spanish subjects, comedies, news reels and musical features.

"GRUMPY" RUN WILL OPEN HERE

Cyril Maude Plays Old Role in Screen Version of Noted Drama

"Grumpy," starring Cyril Maude, opens at the United Artists' Theater today. Tonight, Miss Frances Dade, who plays the leading feminine role, will appear in person on the stage.

"Grumpy" is the talking screen version of the play of that name in which the title role was created and played more than 1400 times by Cyril Maude.

Miss Dade was recruited from the New York stage. She previously appeared in Ronald Colman's picture, "Raffles," and Samuel Goldwyn later placed her under contract. In "Grumpy" Miss Dade supplies the love interest opposite Phillips Holmes.

Cyril Maude as the grouchy old man, is said to give a characterization that will rank as one of the screen's best. The surrounding program includes a comedy, a song cartoon, Paramount sound news and Gaylord Carter at the organ.

DOMESTIC CONFLICT DEPICTED IN PLAY

Theater Mart Presents "Irene Makes Her Bed;" Cast Well Chosen

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

Reversing the usual order of things, Ethel Mowbray Dolson in "Irene Makes Her Bed" at Theater Mart elects to present a sophisticated mother whose perspective upon life is hopelessly beyond the horizons of a convent-bred daughter, a serious-minded young person, so sure of herself that she feels competent to judge her elders in the mood of her cloistered reminiscences.

Complications for mother and daughter arise in quick succession, and the mother's love is tested to the full. Despite her confinental attitude she proves herself ready to submit to any indignity rather than lose the love and respect of a priggish young daughter. The disillusion of the young girl is well drawn, and though she might appear a shade mid-Victorian, her emotions as revealed are those which any young woman might experience upon hearing of the amorous experience of her own mother. The dialogue is spirited and the humor is natural and unforced and at times highly amusing. Characterization is realized in a thoroughly consistent manner. It is perhaps a trifle difficult to imagine the smartly accoutered and charming Irene as ever becoming infatuated with "Joe, the slugger," still "ladies love brutes," so they say, so there you are.

As the delightful Irene Ellis, who really made rather a poor business of "making her bed," Symona Boniface proves herself an actress of poise and compelling charm, and made a stunning appearance. Frank Ball as Joe gave an excellent characterization, and his comic efforts drew spontaneous merriment.

Richard French was refreshingly individual. Magdalene Schaeffer managed well as the difficult "jeune fille" strayed from her convent milieu, an unusual character in this day of advanced moderns. Murray Edwards was the convincing lover who manages to conquer the flirtatious Irene.

Bingham Wins Design Honors

Honors go to Clark Bingham, now a member of the Hollywood art colony, for designing two of the major posters used in national exploitation of "Hell's Angels," Howard Hughes's air epic, now in its twelfth week at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

The artist attained prominence in film circles as a special art director for Cecil B. De Mille during the filming of "The Ten Commandments." Recently he has been engaged as art director for Theodore Kosloff and as a contributing illustrator for the New Yorker and Collier's.

EL CAPITAN SCHEDULES "POOR NUT"

Elliott Nugent, Stage and Screen Notable, to Play Leading Role

"Greater theater season" will be ushered in at El Capitan Sunday, the 24th inst., when Elliott Nugent will be presented in "The Poor Nut," a rollicking comedy of college life.

Nugent, who played for two years in New York, Boston and Chicago in "The Poor Nut," will be supported in the production by most of the original New York cast, whose names will be announced in a few days. The play calls for twenty principals, in addition to runners and more than fifty actors who take part in the relay race scene in the second act.

"The Poor Nut" was written by J. C. and Elliott Nugent, who have contributed outstanding successes to the theater for many years past and are now duplicating their success in Hollywood.

With the opening of the play, El Capitan's "greater theater season" will be in full swing, ushering in notable productions, with principals from original New York casts.

"Tea for Three," costarring Tom Moore, Ernest Glendinning and Gladys George, is now in its last fortnight.

"Holiday" Star to Play Hostess Role at Circle

The star of "Holiday," Miss Ann Harding, will personally attend Monday's matinee at the Carthay Circle Theater as hostess to a group of prominent club women.

"Holiday" is the answer to a motion-picture exhibitor's prayer, according to the management of the Carthay Circle Theater, where the film is now playing.

For, unlike the successes and semi-successes which a theater offers its patrons in a season, "Holiday" has qualities which make it a "matinee picture."

Proof of "Holiday's" matinee-drawing power is found in the fact that the Carthay Circle has posted the "sold-out" sign before the start of every afternoon performance since the picture opened last Thursday, according to the theater. Ann Harding, Mary Astor, Edward Everett Horton and Robert Ames enact the leading roles.

One-Act Drama to be Offered

Dayton Lummis, who will enact a role in Katherine Von Blon's one-act drama, "The Blue Peacock," at Theater Mart starting tonight, is said to be a well-known player in productions in the West. He has recently finished an engagement in Salt Lake City.

Francis Josef Hickson is directing the one-act play which also includes in its cast Miami Alvarez, Elly Malyon and Shizu Okajima.

HOOVER TO CURB ARMY-NAVY ROW

Steps Taken to End Dispute on Air Coast Defense

Economic and Military Aspects Surveyed

Technical and Professional Experts Get Busy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—President Hoover as commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy has moved to bring about a settlement of the long-standing dispute between the two over control of aerial coast defenses.

The efficiency bureau at the request of the President is investigating the economic aspects of the dispute, which concerns the points where the Army defenses of the land must end and the Navy's defenses must begin at sea. Meanwhile a board of technical and professional experts of the two services are studying the question from a military viewpoint.

The question was brought up by Secretary Adams, who asked the Attorney-General for an opinion on certain phases of the coast air control, to which the Army took exception. Secretary Hurley placed the matter before the President.

FLOOD MENACE GROWS IN UTAH

Heavy Rainfall Continues to Increase Damage

Highways Affected on Three Sides of Capital

Blockade Threatens Deluge for Town of Provo

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 12. (AP)—Continued heavy rainfall over the Great Salt Lake Valley and the mountain ranges that rim it, caused new slides of mud and rock today that hampered highway traffic and flooded new areas not touched by yesterday's storms.

Highways in three directions from the city—north, east and west—were affected by the slides. Traffic to the north, on the road to Ogden, is being detoured around slides at three places. In Parley's Canyon, the main highway to the east is being cleared of yesterday's slides.

On the west, the highway to San Francisco is blocked by a slide between Magna and Garfield, smelter towns southwest of this city.

DAMAGE CAUSED

Boilers and machine shops of the Arthur mill of the Utah Copper Company were flooded by a downpour in the mountains behind the town and several thousand dollars damage caused.

Streets and basements in Garfield were submerged and a section of the Denver and Rio Grande Western track there was washed out. Farther to the west, south of Great Salt Lake, the town of Grantsville was flooded.

A heavy rain this afternoon in Ogden deluged streets and basements of the downtown district and hampered wire communication when it short-circuited underground telegraph lines.

A landslide in Provo Canyon, above the town of the same name, blocked the highway and threatened a Denver and Rio Grande Western branch line that parallels the road. Fears are expressed that the town will be flooded if the blockade continues to hold back the waters of the Provo River, which flows down the canyon. The State Highway Department expects to have the road cleared for traffic by tomorrow, however.

HIGHWAY CLOSED

Continued rainfall in Davis county which bore the brunt of yesterday's floods to the north, hampered efforts to reopen the highway and further damaged farms and homes covered by the latest mud slides. North of Ogden the road also is closed by mud.

The Bingham Highway, blocked in several places by yesterday's flood above the mining town, was shut off again today by a small slide. Rainfall continued during the day in that community, where a dozen families are homeless as the result of the slide of yesterday.

CLOUDBURSTS CAUSE DAMAGE IN WYOMING

LANDER (Wyo.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Cloudbursts in the Dubois, Shoshone and Table Mountain districts of Fremont county last night caused heavy crop and slight live-stock losses.

In the Dubois region small bridges were washed out. East of Shoshone several railroad bridges were carried out and crops and farm buildings damaged.

TRACKS WASHED OUT BY MONTANA RAIN

BUTTE (Mont.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Damage estimated at several thousand dollars has resulted from a sudden heavy rain which washed out the main lines of the Northern Pacific and Milwaukee railroads near Warm Springs.

Trains today ran five hours behind schedule over these lines.

A Northern Pacific passenger train which passed through the canyon last night during the downpour found conditions perilous.

Jury Absolves Carroll and His 'Vanities' Cast

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Earl Carroll and eight members of the cast of his "Vanities" were freed today of charges of presenting an immoral performance when a grand jury refused to return an indictment against them.

Among those against whom an indictment had been sought were Faith Bacon, dancer; Kay Carroll, actress, and Jimmy Savo, comedian, participants in scenes which caused police to raid the Vanities on July 9.

It took the grand jury only about an hour to set Carroll and the three members of his cast free. The taking of testimony began this morning. Capt. James J. Coy, police department censor who conducted the raid on the "Vanities," was the principal witness against the four defendants. All of the latter also testified, signing waivers of immunity before they went into the grand-jury room.

STATE'S GRAPE CROP ESTIMATE INCREASED

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 12. (AP)—California's 1930 grape harvest was placed at 2,078,000 tons, slightly greater than the forecast a month ago, by the State Co-operative Crop Reporting Service here today. Tonnage is divided: Wine grapes, 463,000 tons; raisin grapes, 1,193,000 tons; table grapes, 422,000 tons. Forecasts for all classes are on the basis of fresh grapes, Statistician R. E. Blair explained, under conditions prevailing the 1st inst. Accepted totals of bearing grape acreages are: Wine, 161,885; raisin, 244,903; table, 112,212, with a total of 519,000 acres.

AMERICAN FILM EXPORTS GROW

Large Increase in Shipments to Europe Shown

United Kingdom Proves to be Leading Buyer

France Declared Second; German Market Opens

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Exports of American motion pictures continue to increase with the principal foreign market remaining in Europe where the sound pictures have virtually taken the place of the silent films.

Figures given out today by the Commerce Department show that during the first six months of this year 144,932,674 linear feet of sound and silent motion-picture film valued at $4,127,172 were exported as compared with 121,810,453 feet of both types valued at $3,331,022 during the same period of 1929.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE

The increase of 23,122,221 linear feet was absorbed chiefly by the United Kingdom and France, the present leaders in Europe and throughout the world for American motion pictures.

Great Britain has more than doubled its imports of American films, taking 23,677,004 feet of film in the first half of 1930 as against 11,193,243 feet during the same six months of last year. This large increase places the United Kingdom not only as our largest revenue market for films, but also the largest from point of quantity in the world.

France is our second largest market. During the first six months of 1930 that country imported 13,445,037 feet of film, as compared with only 5,160,988 feet in the corresponding period in 1929.

GERMAN MARKET OPENS

Next in Europe and sixth in world markets is Germany, which for the first half of 1930 imported 7,875,256 feet of American film (all silent,) as against 6,638,085 feet in 1929. Sound patent difficulties existing in Germany have prevented the exportation of sound motion pictures in that country in the past, but these controversies were ironed out on July 1, last, and Germany is now expected to assume a position second only to England among the purchasers of pictures.

According to reports reaching the Commerce Department, a great number of German theaters which held off during the patent dispute are now rushing installation of sound apparatus so they may display American talking films.

For the first six months of 1930 38,207,638 linear feet of American motion picture with a declared value of $939,759, were exported to Central and Latin America, as compared with 39,501,876 linear feet during the same period of 1929.

– says James M. Clark
PITTSBURGH'S DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SAFETY

free wheeling with positive gear control

HIGHWAY commissioners and safety directors throughout the country have voiced unqualified approval of Free Wheeling with positive gear control—manufactured under Studebaker patents—and available only in the brilliant New Series President and Commander Eights.

Here, for the first time in a motor car, momentum works for you, saving fuel and oil, banishing the stresses and strains of reversion. Yet the force of engine compression is ready like a giant hand to add its restraint to the silken-smooth stroke of powerful brakes. Full engine braking power is available instantly, easily, quietly, at any speed!

Come today and drive the seasoned New Series President and Commander Eights. Know what a relief it is, to be able to shift at will, back and forth between high and second, without so much as touching the clutch! In these remarkable cars you need use the clutch only to start or back up.

No other cars can offer you motoring to compare with Free Wheeling under positive gear control. Try this revolutionary achievement of Studebaker's 78 years of manufacturing progress.

You shift from high to second, back and forth, at 40—50 miles an hour, and never touch the clutch. You need use the clutch only to start or back up.

The braking power of your engine is available as readily as in conventional cars.

For the first time in a motor car you get the full benefit of momentum automatically. When your car has gone 10,000 miles your engine has "worked" only 8,000 miles.

You save 12 per cent on gasoline, 20 per cent on oil—even more in heavy traffic.

Strains on engine, transmission and axle are lessened. Tires wear longer.

There is nothing new to learn—Free Wheeling with positive gear control is simplicity itself. You drive just as you do in a conventional car.

When one buyer at the auction wanted the ice box for "home-made" drinks and another the shotgun for Sunday duck shooting, the congregation rallied to the war cry of "hold everything" while a purse was raised for Mrs. Walker.

RUMORS OF FILM DEAL STIR MART

Warner Brothers May be Financed by New Banking Affiliation

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Unconfirmable reports in Wall street today said that a new banking affiliation, together with new financing for Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., which recently omitted its common dividend, would be announced shortly. A heavy buying wave carried the stock up $4 a share on the New York exchange today, but it then lost all but 75 cents of its rise.

Hayden, Stone & Co., were prominently mentioned in connection with the reports, although in some quarters other interests were thought to be in the background. Formerly, Goldman Sachs & Co. have acted as bankers for the corporation.

Wall street was particularly interested in the possibility of a change in the control of the corporation. Where this control now rests cannot be learned. John J. Raskob has been regarded as one of the leading stockholders.

New York Stocks Break Close of Session

Industrial Index Approaches June Bottom Level

Many Issues Established Low Prices for Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. The stock market's answer to the situation and to the failure of business to show improvement was a break today to the lowest levels since the bottom of the decline.

The closing price index of 45 leading shares dropped 4.1 points to 157.9 against the year's low of 154, made on June 24, and the previous minimum for the current reaction, reached last Monday.

Reacting during the morning under the Department of Agriculture estimate of a shrinkage in the corn crop, the market turned later on the appearance of new forecasts for the grain belt. However, President Hoover's conference failed to result in any definite plan for relief, and selling was renewed in some quarters. There were net losses of 2 to 5 points in many shares, with numerous vulnerable issues showing more severely. J. I. Case dropped 14 3-4 and People's Gas 11.

NEW BOTTOMS

A score of prominent stocks sold to new lows for the year or longer. Among them were Gaumont, Kelvinator, Hupp Motor, Rock Island, Simms Magneto, Harvester, Kennecott, Coppers, International Lead, Sears, Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Gulf States Steel, American Locomotive. Losses of several of the lines represented in this group, especially the motor, farm machinery and rail shares, was based on the poor

FIRST MORTGAGE SECURITY
«PLUS» INSURANCE PROTECTION

The investor in Indemnity Mortgage Insurance Company 6% First Mortgage Assignments enjoys the proven security of diversified first mortgages on improved California real estate valued at least twice the amount of such loan by appraisers approved by the State Superintendent of Banks. That, in itself, is a greater margin of security than is offered by many first mortgage bonds and similar investments. But your protection does not stop here. Payment of principal and interest on each of these first mortgages is insured and guaranteed by the Indemnity Mortgage Insurance Company which operates under the supervision of the California Insurance Commissioner in accordance with the strict regulations of California law. Combined with this double safeguard goes an unusually liberal 6% income exempt from California Personal Property Tax, in opinion of counsel.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—The bears, concentrating their attack on the utilities and some of the more active specialties, dominated trading on the curb market today, but losses in most prominent issues were restricted to about 3 points. Trading was fairly active in the last hour, but the day's turnover of 431,400 shares showed some contraction from yesterday.

Electric Bond and Share, American Gas and Electric, American and Foreign Power warrants, American Light and Traction and United Light A each lost 2 points. Missouri Kansas Pipe Line sold off more than a point.

In the Industrials, Ford, Ltd., dropped more than 2 points, which nearly canceled yesterday's gain. It closed at 20¾. Columbia Pictures dropped more than 4 to a new low at 31. Safety Car Heating tumbled 9¼. Curtiss Flying touched 4, a new minimum.

Chain store issues were under pressure. Lerner Stores and J. J. Newberry lost two each, the latter reaching new bottom ground at 30. Great Atlantic and Pacific dropped 5¾ to 197, then rallied to 200.

Oils were inclined to sag. Cities Service lost a point and Gulf 2 points.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

Downward Trend Follows Broadening of Trading Activity; Two Issues Set New Lows

Trading activity which in recent sessions has been chiefly confined to several leaders broadened on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday and while most net changes were fractional, the heavier selling was reflected in the downward trend. Mortgage Guarantee on sales of 170 shares broke 4 points to 172. Citizens' National was down 1 point to 101½ while Standard Oil of California showed a similar loss at 61.

Transamerica with a volume of 17,900 shares at prices running from 19½ to 20 3-4 closed at 19 3-4, off ⅛.

✦7-8. Southern California Edison common on sales of 2600 shares was also off 7-8 at 54½. Security-First National eased ½ to 100 1-4 on a turnover of 600 shares.

Among the oil shares Rio Grande was the most active with 4400 shares selling at prices ranging from 15 7-8 to 16 1-8, closing at 16 unchanged. Richfield common dipped 3-8 to 15 1-4, Union Oil was down 5-8 to 39 7-8 and Union Associates lost ½ to 39½.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Bond buyers showed partiality for carrier obligations in the listed market today and enabled further advances. A moderate demand developed for a scattered list of investment issues among utilities and industrials, which pushed them fractionally higher, some to the best levels of the year.

Investment rails were fairly steady. New highs were scored by Central Pacific 4s, Rock Island Central 4s, Canadian National 4s of October, 1955, Monawk and Malone 4s, New York Central consolidation 4s, Nickel Plate first 4s and Western Maryland 4s. Nickel Plate 6s, however, declined more than a point to the year's low.

Already selling at high levels, some of the utilities negotiated the narrow distance to reach new 1930 peaks among these being Brooklyn Union Gas 5s and Public Service Electric and Gas 4½s.

Among industrials, oil company bonds attracted buying. General Petroleum 5s and Humble 5½s turned at over the year's best figure and Standard of New York 4½s established a new high.

Stock privilege issues worked irregularly lower. Warner Brothers 6s made an attempt to rally, gaining 2 points on the movement, and closed ½ net higher. Paths 7s with warrants dropped 6 points. General Theaters 6s equaled its year's low.

A slightly easier tone was apparent in foreign dollar bonds. Standard issues were steady and dull.

United States governments worked slightly lower on an unusually small turnover. Liberty fourth 4¼s the active issue, held steady.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

BIDS FOR TWO CRAFT OPENED

Los Angeles Corporation Low on Oil Carriers

Award of Contracts Due in Next Few Days

Coast-to-Coast Travel Gets New Attention

BY WALDO DRAKE

Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation was low bidder for both the 180-foot coastwise Diesel tanker and the 150-foot bunkering barge to be built by the Rio Grande Oil Company when bids were opened yesterday noon at the Wilmington offices of Lambie & Mabry, designers of both vessels. Award of construction contracts for both craft, each of which will carry 10,000 barrels of oil, is expected within the next few days.

Bids for the Diesel tanker, with time of construction, follow: Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, San Pedro, completion in 170 days, $162,140; General Engineering and Dry Dock Company, San Francisco, $170,500, 155 days; Lake Washington Construction Company, Seattle, $189,500, seven months; Moore Dry Dock Company, San Francisco, $190,498, seven months; Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Ltd., San Pedro, $192,500, six months; Craig Shipbuilding Company, Long Beach, $216,600, and Albina Machine Works, Portland, $216,750, eight months.

Bids for the towed barge were: Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, $81,500, 130 days for completion; General Engineering and Dry Dock Company, $83,600, 140 days; Moore Dry Dock Company, $84,952, four months; Albina Machine Works, $93,450, six months; Craig Shipbuilding Company, $119,500; Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Ltd., $97,000, four months.

The above bids are exclusive of operating machinery. Two 275-horsepower Diesel engines and two rotary pumps to be installed in the self-propelled craft will cost about $35,000 additional, while the rotary pumps for the barge will cost approximately $12,000.

COAST-TO-COAST TRAVEL GAIN FORECAST

One hundred and fifty local railroad and steamship passenger officials last night heard William A. Young, passenger traffic manager of W. R. Grace & Co., and the Panama Mail Steamship Company, from New York outline the future of intercoastal steamship travel. Mr. Young spoke at a dinner at the Alexandria Hotel tendered by Clay Hutchinson, district manager of the Panama Mail Line, at which C. C. Mallory, general manager of Panama Mail, from San Francisco, also was a guest of honor.

Mr. Young urged closer co-operation between coast-to-coast steamship lines and transcontinental rail lines as a means of properly developing both industries. As proof of his companies' faith in the future of the coast-to-coast trade, he pointed to Panama Mail's plans to build immediately four 15,600-ton express liners.

George Sands and John Rollins, co-owners of the large fishing schooner Progress, are at work on reconstruction of the craft as a refrigerated bait boat. To insure proper transport of fish caught on distant banks, two four-ton Globe ice machines are being installed, together with an unusual rearrangement of cargo bins. Auxiliary power will be supplied by a twenty-kilowatt generator driven by a thirty-horsepower Fairbanks - Morse Diesel motor.

Harry E. Nicholas, veteran marine surveyor, went to San Francisco last night for a series of conferences with Bay City insurance executives relative to coverage of the local fishing fleet.

All records in shipbuilding were shattered at the port yesterday when a power cruiser was rushed to completion within the hours between daylight and dark. However, the craft is just a working model, twenty inches long, and served as the center piece to a birthday cake at a party held last night aboard J. A. Talbot, Sr.'s, yacht Carissima in honor of Mrs. C. M. Fuller, wife of the president of the Richfield Oil Company. The model was made by the Club Boat Shop, Wilmington.

Ships totaling 504,641 tons, gross, were inspected here by the United States Steamboat Inspection Service during the past fiscal year, a gain of 50,000 tons, according to J. K. Bulger, supervising inspector of the district, relieving Inspectors Kennedy and Moody on their vacations. The district, ranging north to Portland and west to Hawaii, inspected 2,411,598 tons, second to New York. THEY WANT TO KNOW WHERE MONEY WENT

Celia, Mary and Dora Terrazas

Mary, Celia and Dora Terrazas, sisters, of Puente, came to Superior Judge Edmonds's court yesterday to find out what became of $3900 damages they obtained as a settlement when they were injured by G. N. Shear's car in an automobile crash.

The sisters, 15 to 19 years of age, were in a hospital from two to three months, Celia suffering a broken neck. They were attended by Dr. William G. Delamater, who has retained Attorneys Robert L. Fausett and Elmo L. Morris to represent the sisters, who are suing William T. Stevens, adjustment agent. They claim Stevens arranged their legal affairs for them and obtained $5500, of which they received only $1600.

The hearing will be resumed today.

MAYOR HITS BUNKER HILL FUND MOVE

Council will Have to Get Another Official to Sign Contract for Survey

After holding it on his desk for many weeks, Mayor Porter yesterday returned to the City Council without his signature the contract whereby the city contributes $5000 toward the economic survey on the reduction of Bunker Hill by Babcock & Son. Mayor Porter made no explanation of his action.

Inasmuch as the Council passed the contract by a vote of 10 to 4, and Mayor Porter merely was designated as the officer of the city to sign the document, it is expected that the Council will go through the formality of directing someone else, President Sanborn, President McGuire of the Board of Public Works or City Clerk Domingues to execute the contract.

The county contributes $5000 and private interests contribute $25,000 toward the survey to determine the economic feasibility of reducing the hill to the surrounding grade. The City Engineer now has on file tunneling projects through the hill costing $6,000,000, which will be saved the taxpayers if the hill is cut down by private enterprise, as is planned.

JAIL MEAT BIDS ASKED

The Police Commission yesterday approved the request of City Purchasing Agent Oughton that bids be advertised for on 58,000 pounds of meat for use in the City Jail during September and October.

NEW STEEL PLANT TO RISE

Consolidated Corporation will Break Ground Soon for Ten Buildings in Maywood

Completion of plans and specifications for the ten or more steel buildings which will comprise the new plant of Consolidated Steel Corporation, Los Angeles, at the intersection of Eastern and Slauson avenues, Maywood, was announced yesterday by Waller Taylor, president of the company.

Within the next few weeks ground work for the new plant will be started, the executive said, and by the end of the current year the area which is now a vegetable farm will have been transformed into one of the busiest industrial units in Southern California.

The buildings to be erected will comprise structures required in the fabrication of every kind of structural steel. The main structural shop will be a unit of 222 feet wide by 600 feet long, equipped with the latest devices for the fabrication and handling of the heaviest metal used in the structural steel industry.

A further indication of the extent of the area the new plant will occupy is contained in the dimensions of the other buildings. These will comprise, in addition to the main structural shop, the Gallagher pontoon deck plant, 135x475 feet, the template shop and powerhouse, 75x275 feet; the erection equipment

LATIN VISITORS SEE FACTORIES

Pan-American Delegates Tour Los Angeles

Sale of Machinery Expected as Echo of Trip Here

Civic Groups of Southland Entertain Guests

From an inspection yesterday of Los Angeles manufactured machinery by Latin American delegates, visiting here prior to attending the Pan-American Reciprocal Trade Conference at Sacramento the last of this month, is expected to come large purchases especially of agricultural and road machines.

Following an examination of the Bishop & Co. candy and cracker plant, the delegates were taken to the Killefer Manufacturing Company's factory on Downey Road, where a special exhibition of agricultural, road-making and other equipment supplied by almost a score of manufacturing concerns in the Los Angeles district was viewed. Some time was spent in following a demonstration of agricultural and other machinery.

ANOTHER VIEW LATER

Capt. Julio Cesar Paldao, of the National Fruitculture Society of Argentina, head of the industrial and business section of the Argentine delegation, and his associates were much interested in the agricultural machinery performance. Capt. Paldao announced he intends to remain in North America until December and will return here in October for a more detailed investigation of this sort of machinery. A prior statement indicates that Argentine fruit-growing interests are in the market for a considerable amount of it.

O. P. Robb, general sales agent of the Killefer company, represented his concern in welcoming the visitors.

FOREIGN TRADERS' GUESTS

The delegates were luncheon guests of the Foreign Trade Club of Southern California at the Central Manufacturing District Club, President Smiley of the foreign traders presiding. Chairman Socha of the Los Angeles committee that is co-operating with the conference sponsors, addressed the visitors in behalf of President Lubin of the Sacramento Region Citizens' Council, sponsoring the conference. James Sheridan, Brazilian Consul here, addressed the assembly in Spanish and English. The spirit of competition between the American nations, he said, is now to be succeeded by the spirit of mutual helpfulness and co-operation.

STUDIOS VISITED

Group visits were made to several of the motion-picture studios during the afternoon.

The visitors attended the Hollywood Bowl in the evening to enjoy a program conducted by Bernardino Molinari.

They later viewed filming and recording of the Spanish version of "The Cat Creeps," now being made at the Universal studio, following which they were guests there at a midnight supper.

A tour of agricultural sections in Los Angeles county, a luncheon at the Maryland Hotel to be given by the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce and a visit to the Huntington Library and Art Gallery will precede the departure of the Latin Americans this afternoon for Bakersfield.

The delegates will arrive at Bakersfield at 6 p.m. today and will be welcomed at a civic banquet directed by the Kern County Chamber of Commerce. The delegation will stop at Bakersfield over night and will leave tomorrow morning for Shafter.

F. N. Puente, general agent of the National Railways of Mexico, San Francisco, and F. Alatorre, representing these lines here, who are accompanying the Latin American visitors, described the increasing trade between California and Mexico.

In the last five years this business has increased 300 per cent, it was asserted, and also that 25 per cent of the Mexican machinery purchases formerly made in eastern centers has been diverted to California. Attention was called to the fact that a trainload of bananas arrived here yesterday from Mexico.

JUDGE MUST CHOOSE BETWEEN CLARK WILLS

Which of two wills left by the late Albert J. Clark, chain-store merchant, will be admitted to probate is a problem that will be faced by a judge of the probate court, following filing of the second will by Mrs. Irma S. Clark, the widow, yesterday. The first will left the estate in trust for Mrs. Clark and her daughter, Barbara Keller Clark. The second, dated July 11, 1930, leaves the entire estate to the widow.

PAIR TO TAKE AIR

Mendell and Reinhart Preen Wings in Plan to Make Early Attempt Here to Beat Eastern Record

While Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine were ready to set a new world's air endurance record over St. Louis this morning, Loren W. Mendell and R. B. (Pete) Reinhart, local dethroned endurance champions, were making secret preparations to take off from here in pursuit of the record the St. Louis pilots may set.

Motor experts completed overhauling the Wright Whirlwind 300-horsepower engine on the Mendell-Reinhart ship last night in the Aviation Service Company hangar at Grand Central Air Terminal.

LOREN W. MENDELL

R. B. REINHART

The date set for the take-off is the 20th inst., with Grand Central Air Terminal as the starting point and base of refueling operations. It was reported at the airport.

Two days before the appointed take-off Mendell is scheduled to appear in a local Federal court to plead to charges of attempting to violate the Federal immigration laws. He was arrested in Mexico last spring and charged in a Federal indictment with plotting to smuggle Japanese into the United States by air. His attorney, Richard Cantillon, has requested a bill of particulars in connection with the case. This request also will be decided by United States District Judge Cosgrave when Mendell appears on the 18th inst.

The legal hitch in Mendell's plans, however, probably will not keep him out of the air, as a trial date will be requested far enough ahead to allow time for the proposed flight, Cantillon stated.

An Albatross high-winged monoplane is in a Grand Central hangar and is the one to be used on the local flight. The ship was built by C. S. Rocheville and is a roomy cabin ship capable of cruising at a slow speed. It is equipped with tanks for 850 gallons of gasoline but these will be cut to about 200 gallons for the endurance grind.

LOCAL MAN BACKER

A. L. Gilbert, local business man, is reported as backer of Mendell and Reinhart. A Curtiss Carrier Pigeon will act as refueling ship for the flight. It was not stated who will fly the second craft, similar to the one Paul Whittier captained

RED-TRIAL JURY LOCKED UP

Hopeless Disagreement on Verdict Reported to Judge After Hours of Deliberation

Unable to reach a verdict after several hours' deliberation a jury trying four Communists for asserted offenses in connection with an attempted radical meeting March 23, was locked up at 10:30 o'clock last night after the jurors had reported earlier in the evening to Municipal Judge Stutesman that they were hopelessly deadlocked.

Judge Stutesman, after sending them out for their dinner, ordered them back to the jury room to resume their deliberations.

The defendants are Frank Spector, Communist agent now serving a sentence in San Quentin prison for criminal syndicalism, Mrs. Bertha Turch, Sol Ehrenberg and Joe Turchinsky. They are accused of battery and blocking the sidewalk outside the Sons of Herman Hall at Twenty-fifth and Main streets. The meeting was halted by police.

Spector, who acted as his own attorney during the trial, was cited for contempt of court by Judge Stutesman when he persisted in asking questions prohibited by the court. Hearing on the citation will be set after the present case is concluded.

A jury to try the next Communist case, that of Ed Fitzwater, charged with blocking the sidewalk in front of the hall, was obtained late yesterday and testimony in the case will be presented this morning by Deputy City Prosecutor Avery.

FUTURE DARK MYSTERY TO PRETTY GYPSY MAID

It is going to be rather hard at this time to tell just how Rosa Demitro's romance is going to come out. All her life this 16-year-old Gypsy girl has told fortunes, but right now the fates have her puzzled. She can't read her own hand.

ROSA DEMITRO

The first chapters of her romance followed true to conventional form. She eloped with the man she loved, her wrathful parent pursued her and caught her in Los Angeles and now she is behind the bars. Her husband is fighting for her liberty and her father is trying to have the marriage annulled.

Countless castings of the cards refuse to tell the finale of the story, nor do the stars have a word to say. It will not be determined, in fact, until September 15, at which time a hearing has been ordered by Referee Pratt of the juvenile department, before whom the girl was brought by her parent. In the meantime she has been made a ward of the court and is detained at Juvenile Hall.

The romance of the pretty little Gypsy girl (she weights slightly more than 100 pounds) and her husband, Stanley Lucas, dashing Romeo of the tribe of Romany, started at Denver, in a camp near the Colorado metropolis. They met under the stars and loved, and vowed their future life to each other.

In the meantime papa Demitro, whose given name is Long, had other plans for the beautiful little Rosa. Another suitor appeared who had much money and the elder Demitro looked with great favor on his suit. All this information was given, it appears, together with much more, at the preliminary hearing yesterday.

The lovers debated not overly long. Rosa took "250 and with Stanley she ran away June 23 and came to Los Angeles. Lucas took her to the home of a woman friend while he remained away from her. A day later the party went to Yuma, Ariz., and were married, they told the court.

The irate father declares he will have the marriage annulled and

RACING SHIP SENDS CALL FOR HELP

Yawl Contender on Way from Honolulu Exhausts Fuel 400 Miles Out

Reported disabled 400 miles northwest of Los Angeles Harbor, with a full racing crew of twenty-five persons aboard, the yawl Contender, which won second place in the recent race from the harbor to Honolulu, last night sent out a wireless call for help.

The message, which was sent to the United States Coast Guard at the harbor, said the yawl was in distress and in need of fuel. Coast Guard officials believe from the tone of the message that the craft has been partly dismasted as under ordinary circumstances it would have been able to sail in. It is equipped with a small Diesel engine.

The United States Coast Guard Algonquin, under Commander Muller S. Hay, left the harbor at 10:30 o'clock last night with provisions and fuel. It expects to reach the yawl by Thursday morning, Commander Hay said.

The message indicated the owner, Walter Horne of Long Beach, and commodore of the Pacific Yacht Club, is aboard the craft.

The yawl formerly was owned by Prince Lippe and was brought from Europe by the late Max Whittier. The boat is 106 feet long and is built of steel. The ship was returning from Honolulu.

CITY FINDS MORE FUNDS IN RESERVE

Final Check Reported by Controller Puts Total of $980,000 Transferred

A final check yesterday showed that City Controller Myers has transferred to the reserve fund a total of $980,000, representing the excess during the last fiscal year of income over outgo. During the past winter, it was feared that a deficit of $1,000,000 would arise. This figure later was reduced to $632,000.

The Finance Committee now has in its files a resolution by Councilman Lewis, proposing that the actions slicing the present budget by $993,000 be rescinded, due to the fact that the city will have plenty of money to pay salaries during the year.

DRILLING PERMIT VOTED

An ordinance granting the application of G. De Bretteville to drill for oil on Lot 3, Block E, Ocean Strand Tract, Venice, was adopted yesterday by the City Council.

ARCADIA ROAD ASSURED

Colorado-Street Extension to Make Connection with Huntington Drive Gets Funds

An extension of Colorado street from the east city limits of Pasadena to connect with Huntington Drive in Arcadia, and merging of the two with Foothill Boulevard a little east of Monrovia, was assured yesterday when the Board of Supervisors allocated $98,149 from the county good roads fund. The money will be paid to the city of Arcadia in September after which the municipality will advertise for bids.

The money is from the county good roads fund, which is income received from the State from auto-license plates.

Colorado street, one of the main east-and-west arteries through Pasadena, is improved to Lamanda Park, the east city limits of Pasadena. At Lamanda Park it makes a jog for several blocks to connect with Foothill Boulevard.

The new improvement calls for the extension of Colorado street straight through to Arcadia, where it will be merged with Huntington Drive at a point several hundred yards west of Santa Anita avenue. In order to eliminate a sharp turn in Huntington Drive to connect it with Colorado street in Arcadia a long curve will be made in it through the old Arcadia balloon school grounds. The merged highways then will connect with Foothill Boulevard a little east of Monrovia.

BLAZE DAMAGES ACTORS' HOMES

Singer's Wife Overcome by Smoke in Hollywood

Water Causes Heavy Ruin to Apartment Furnishings

Film Players, Writers and Musicians Occupy Suites

One woman was overcome by smoke and property of guests and furnishings of the fashionable Villa Carlotta Apartments, 5959 Franklin avenue, were damaged to the extent of $100,000 by a fire of undetermined origin late yesterday afternoon. Tenants comprise a number of motion-picture actors and actresses, writers, artists and musicians.

Mrs. Nicolai Nadejue, wife of the Russian baritone, was in her apartment on the third floor taking a nap. She was aroused only when firemen burst into her apartment. The room in which she was asleep was choking with smoke. Several firemen carried her to the offices on the first floor where physicians revived her. She was not taken to the hospital.

ACTOR GIVES ALARM

Few of the tenants of the fifty-four apartment-building were in their quarters when the fire was discovered. The blaze originated in the attic above the apartment of Francis McDonald, character actor, who had been asleep until awakened by the smoke. McDonald rushed to his telephone and notified the operator and an alarm was turned in.

Fire Chief Scott took charge of the fight and the blaze was confined to the attic. The tons of water poured into the attic, however, flowed down stairways and seeped through ceilings and walls to the first floor, damaging costly rugs, tapestries, pictures and clothing.

WIRING SUSPECTED

Although officials of the fire department would not state definitely their belief, it is thought the fire was caused by defective wiring. The blaze occurred at a time of day when traffic was heaviest on Franklin avenue and several extra details of policemen were spread throughout the neighborhood to untangle the snarl of busses, automobiles and street cars that resulted.

Shortly after the fire started the elevator and electric light service went out and fleeing tenants had to take to the stairways.

The building is owned by Mrs. Holmes Herbert, the former Mrs. Ince, who also owns the luxurious Chateau Elysee, directly across the street.

Evening School Principal to be Married in East

With three weeks in which to go to Philadelphia, get married and arrange the details of a motor-tour honeymoon that will bring him and his bride back to Los Angeles by September 1, Edwin L. Martin, principal of Lincoln Evening High School, decided to eliminate unnecessary travel delays.

EDWIN L. MARTIN

He took passage aboard a T.A.T.-Maddux plane last Saturday, arriving in the Quaker City yesterday, a telegram received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Martin, yesterday announced.

Tomorrow he and Miss Anne M. Crighton, society girl, will be wed in Philadelphia, starting at once on their honeymoon motor tour to Los Angeles.

Rites Today for Mrs. MacArthur

Funeral rites will be conducted this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather at Forest Lawn Memorial Park for Mrs. Elizabeth T. MacArthur, wife of Alan MacArthur, treasurer of the Biltmore. Interment will follow, also at Forest Lawn.

Mrs. MacArthur was 46 years of age and a native of England. She and her husband came here in 1923 from Weehawken, N. J. They have made their home at 1222 North Alexandria avenue, Hollywood. She also leaves a son, G. D. MacArthur of Glendale, engineer of the Electrical Research Products, Inc.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

THE most interesting social movement going on in the United States is in Santa Barbara, where rich young men are returning to the simple life of the old California hacendado.

Having seen everything, been everywhere, tried everything—they are going back to the life of the old-time ranchero. They have cattle ranges, ride on silver-mounted stock saddles and raise beef cattle.

MILLIONAIRE TOYS

It has taken the influence of two generations to bring this about. The older millionaires of Santa Barbara bought great estates in Montecito; copied English, Mediterranean or Pompeiian houses they had seen. They are beautiful, incredibly luxurious, but not solid. After all, this isn't the Mediterranean, nor England nor Pompeii.

LIKE TOPSY

The old California ranch house had solidity and restfulness because it was not planned. It just grew.

The old-time hacendado wanted an outdoor life, convenience, freedom, a place to take care of a necessarily large household and hordes of guests.

The need of these young Santa Barbara millionaires is surprisingly the same. The money that came from the hustle and strain of modern industrial life is, after two generations, going back to the life of old-time California because old-time California learned by experience that that is the way to live here.

DON JOSE ANTONIO

They don't spend all their time on these country estates. But neither did the old-time Californians. Don Jose Antonio Julian de la Guerra y Noriega owned several great ranches—the Simi, the San Julian, Los Alamos, the Tapo, the Conejo. But he lived in Santa Barbara in a town house and went out to the ranches with companies of guests—just as Lolita Armour-Mitchell does today.

PALOMINOS

Dwight Murphy owns the great Los Prietos Rancho in the Santa Ynez Valley back of Santa Barbara. He raises palomino horses—beautiful creatures, cream colored, with white tails and manes. This is a millionaire's game, because palominos are crossbred and the colts often slip back to other colors.

Charles E. Perkins has the Alisal Ranch, also in the Santa Ynez, a great estate of 10,000 acres, where he raises fine stock.

THE OXEN

Syl Spalding of Beverly Hills has the Tecolote Ranch of 1600 acres of rolling hills and wooded valleys, where he raises fine horses. He has a saddle brought from Mexico which is studded with silver and embroidered with silver thread. It is valued at $5000.

Mr. Spalding even has oxen and an ancient carreta with squealing wooden wheels on the Tecolote. He has two fine oxen from the Terrazas Ranch in Mexico. They are named Tequila and Mescal.

MOVIE QUEEN

Mrs. C. R. Holmes, who was Katharine McDonald, the film star, lives with her husband on the Feather Hill Ranch near Santa Barbara. Their specialty is a zoo of wild animals and remark-

DEPUTIES HUNT MASKED RIDERS

Horsemen Seen Near Home of Mrs. Doyle

Sought as Possible Slayers in Tujunga Case

Capt. Bright Says Death Probably Due to Fall

A weird touch was added last night to the slaying Sunday of Mrs. Barbara Doyle, 70-year-old widow, in her Tujunga home, by the report that three masked night riders were seen near her home immediately after the murder is supposed to have been committed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Bradford of La Crescenta told police they not only saw the three masked white men in the road, but also saw what they believe were blood spots on their hands and clothing. Mr. and Mrs. Bradford added the trio attempted to halt their automobile in which they were returning from Hollywood, but that they dashed past them.

MURDER DISCOUNTED

Police last night sought to obtain some clew to the reputed night riders as the possible slayers of Mrs. Doyle, notwithstanding Capt. Bright of the homicide detail of the Sheriff's office declared it is possible the aged woman was not the victim of violence at all, but had died of injuries suffered in an accident.

Mrs. Doyle's head was badly battered when her body was found last Monday but Capt. Bright, after conferring with Assistant Autopsy Surgeon Schaeffer, said the woman might have fractured her head in a heavy fall and that the bloodstains on the walls may have been caused by her staggering about dazed by her injuries. Capt. Bright added, however, that the murder theory ought not to be entirely discounted.

Capt. Bright added the fingerprints discovered on a pane of glass in the Doyle home may prove to be those of one of the persons who found the body.

NEIGHBOR ELIMINATED

C. A. Kelly, 38, truck driver living across the street from Mrs. Doyle, was yesterday eliminated from the case, Capt. Bright said. Kelly was questioned originally because he was said to have quarreled with Mrs. Doyle some time ago, causing her to file a complaint against him of disturbing the peace. Kelly convinced deputy sheriffs he had no knowledge of the woman's death.

Mrs. Doyle's body was found on the sleeping-porch of her home, 347 East Greeley street, Tujunga. From first appearance she seemed to have been felled by an assassin who crushed her skull with a bludgeon.

Doctor Found Shot to Death at Sanatorium

Dr. Gavin S. Herbert, 45 years of age, owner and manager of the Bankside Place Sanatorium, 3227 Santa Monica Boulevard, was found shot to death in one of the cottages there yesterday. Near by lay an automatic rifle. A niece, Dorothy Herbert, found the body.

Detective Lieutenants Warren and Stephens of the Hollywood division reported the physician had been under treatment for heart disease.

The physician's widow declared at her home, 3962 Ingraham street, she is certain the shooting was accidental and that the rifle was discharged while Dr. Herbert was cleaning it in preparation for a hunting trip.

VAUDEVILLE PROGRAM AT AIRPORT TONIGHT

With installation of a loud-speaker system completed, everything is in readiness for the vaudeville program featuring Olson and Johnson to be presented tonight at the Valley Boulevard terminal of Western Air Express. The program will start at 8 o'clock and will continue for an hour.

WOMAN OF 'OGRE' FAME REAPPEARS

Elusive 'Witch' Who Beats Children Attacks Small Girl at Central Station

VIRGINIA LEE HUFFMAN

The middle-aged, heavy set and slovenly dressed "witch woman," who, in times past, kidnaped and switched half a dozen small children in various parts of the city, reappeared yesterday at the Central Station. Her victim this time was Virginia Lee Huffman, 10 - year - old daughter of Mrs. J. N. Huffman of 308 West Tenth street, Pittsburg, Kan.

Mrs. Huffman had just arrived with her daughter from her home city and left the girl sitting in the waiting-room while she went to a telephone booth. While she was absent the so-called "witch woman" sat down by the girl and immediately began to slap her about the face and shoulders. As the child began to cry and scream the woman became more frenzied and jumping to her feet cried out: "Red Top, come and kill this girl!" Then she walked quickly out of the depot and was seen to board a street car.

Mrs. E. E. Shull of Niland, who was a witness, described the woman as being 50 or 55 years of age, about five feet four inches in height, weighing about 170 pounds, dressed in a dirty black or blue dress, black hat and black ragged shoes. Mrs. Huffman is making her home here with Mrs. E. W. Monson at 457 West Tenth street, San Pedro.

Federal Jurist on Visit Here

Judge Hand of New York, member of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, who is regarded as one of the outstanding members of the Federal judiciary, came to this city yesterday in the course of a month's vacation tour of the West and spent part of his time here at the Federal Building, where he visited Judge James and remained some time chatting.

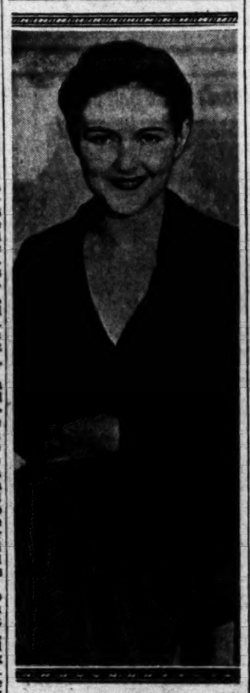
Accompanying Judge Hand on his vacation trip are his wife, Pierre Jay, former governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and the latter's wife. The party left last night for Santa Barbara.

State Building Deeds Approved

Approval by the Attorney-General's office of the deeds for the site of the new State Building to be erected on West First street between Broadway and Spring street, was announced yesterday at the Los Angeles office of Atty.-Gen. Webb. Piling of the deeds with the County Recorder's office is to follow.

Bids for the construction of the building were submitted recently and it is expected that actual work on the structure will start in about ten days. The bids are now being analyzed by State officials at Sacramento.

ACTRESS UNABLE TO SIDESTEP CELL



Mary D'Arcy

Mary D'Arcy, 28-year-old film actress of 1543½ North Kenmore street, yesterday surrendered herself in Presiding Judge Ambrose's Municipal Court and was committed to jail to serve a ten-day sentence, imposed by Judge Bogue on June 2, last, following her conviction by a jury on a reckless driving charge. Her attorney, S. S. Hahn, appealed and the conviction recently was affirmed by the appellate division of the Superior Court.

Police Officers Kahler and Prayton, who arrested the girl, reported that she attracted their attention by driving through the intersection of Santa Monica Boulevard and Vermont avenue at 1 a.m. at a rate of forty-five miles an hour.

The motion-picture actress asserted that a flat tire was the cause of her troubles. She admitted she had had a few drinks some time prior to the flat tire.

CRYER AND SON RETURN FROM TOUR

Former Mayor Pleased to Get Back After Long Trip Made in Automobile

Former Mayor Cryer yesterday returned to Los Angeles from a 10,000-mile automobile trip across the continent with a prayer of thanksgiving to be back in California.

"It was good to strike the California roads at the boundary," he said. "I didn't see any highways like ours on the trip, nor a City Hall like ours either."

He was accompanied by his son, Edward. Edward is 18 years of age and will re-enter Pomona College this fall as a sophomore.

Mayor Cryer, after thirteen months at ease, is now contemplating a return to work. He intends opening a law office, a calling he left nine years ago to become the city's chief executive. Meanwhile, he is devoting considerable time to study as a member of the State Constitutional Commission.

SANHUBER STAR IN MURDER CASE

"Attic Ghost" on Stand in Oesterreich Trial

State Witness' Story Backs Widow's Defense

Skill Shown in Verbal Tilt with Prosecutors

Holding the attention of a crowded courtroom all day yesterday before Superior Judge Hardy, diminutive Otto Sanhuber again recited details of his garret romance with Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, on trial for the murder of her husband.

Admittedly distrusted by the prosecution, which, nevertheless, had placed him on the stand as a State's witness, Sanhuber, who only a few weeks ago was convicted of manslaughter in the same courtroom for complicity in Oesterreich's murder, again was the target of Dep. Dist.-Attys. Costello and Russell.

WITNESS CAUTIOUS

Fighting to avoid legal traps set for him by the prosecutors, he chose his words carefully when he answered questions and many times volunteered statements that he wished to make, although no question had been asked him. At other times he sought to parry a question with an interrogation of his own but Costello was relentless in demanding that the specific question asked be answered.

At one point Costello asked the witness a question about his love for Mrs. Oesterreich.

"I object to that word 'love,'" replied Sanhuber. "I loved Mrs. Oesterreich as a boy loves his mother, not as a man loves his wife."

At another time when the prosecutor had led the witness up to the point of the actual shooting of Oesterreich, Sanhuber suddenly told Judge Hardy he wished to stand on his constitutional rights and refuse to testify on the ground that such testimony might incriminate him. The court refused, however, and told the attic man he had been tried once for the Oesterreich murder and could not be again brought into court on the same charge.

Sanhuber repeated his former testimony that he was in his garret rendezvous on the night of August 22, 1922, when the shooting took place. He said he heard Mrs. Oesterreich in her second-story bedroom closet when the shots rang out downstairs and that he called to her, but she told him to be still if he didn't want her killed. Later, he said, he heard heavy footsteps come upstairs and still later Mrs. Oesterreich hammering on the closet door.

"How long after that was it before you came out of your attic?" asked Costello.

"Two nights and a day."

"But you had a lot of affection for Mrs. Oesterreich," countered Costello. "Why didn't you come out of the attic and release her from the closet?"

PLEADS TIMIDITY

"Oh, gee, I wouldn't dare; I was too timid," was his explanation.

Sanhuber, who went on the stand Monday afternoon, finished his direct examination yesterday afternoon and Defense Attorney Geisler began the cross-examination. Under questioning by Geisler Sanhuber admitted it was at his repeated asking that Mrs. Oesterreich first went with him back in Milwaukee a score of years ago.

He also admitted he went willingly to live in her attic a short time later and that once when the Oesterreichs moved he "couldn't get back fast enough" to the attic in the second house. He said, too, that he had the opportunity to leave the different garrets practically whenever he pleased, often going and coming by the front door.

New Orleans Excursionists Arrive in City

Los Angeles' tourist population went up considerably yesterday because of the activities of two friends.

The friends are Misses Florence Schrader and Mary Rinderle of New Orleans, whose enthusiasm for California was responsible for the organization by the Southern Pacific Railway of a tour that brought 126 southerners to the west coast.

Joseph P. Pujol, city passenger agent of New Orleans, came to Los Angeles in charge of the party. He reported at the Alexandria, where the party is staying, that the tour has been so delightful to those participating that the railroad probably will arrange other conducted tours from the New Orleans district.

The party left New Orleans on the 8th inst. and will return on the 25th inst. Misses Schrader and Rinderle recruited friends for the trip and those friends recruited still other friends until the large party was brought together.

Patent Medicine Vender Arrested

Dan Chandler, Main-street patent medicine vender, was arrested last night on complaint of the State Pharmacy Board and released after posting $100 bail on a charge of violating State medical laws.

Chandler has had repeated brushes with both police and investigators of the Pharmacy Board.

MARRYING FOR PITY CHARGED TO HUSBAND

Married for pity, was her husband's expressed reason, complained Mrs. Luella May White yesterday in obtaining a divorce from Roy B. White on grounds of extreme cruelty. Superior Judge Collier granted the decree.

On January 13, last, he told me he loved another girl, and exhibited a revolver, saying he almost would rather kill himself than tell that he did," asserted Mrs. White. "I took away the gun. Later he told me that the other woman had gone back to her husband and that he would forget her, but I learned he still was going out with another woman, so I left." The Whites married October 30, 1925 and separated June 28, last. Attorney Clarence Hansen represented Mrs. White.

GIRL SEEKS SHARE OF $60,000 ESTATE

Violet Smith

Violet Smith, 17 years of age, hopes through a suit started by her mother, Mrs. Grace A. Smith, in Superior Judge Sproul's court yesterday, to share the $60,000 estate left by Mrs. Etta Billings Ernest, her grandmother.

Mrs. Ernest disinherited Mrs. Smith because of circulation of a story the latter had "scattered poison" on Mrs. Ernest. Violet, innocent victim of the quarrel received but $10, whereas her grandmother originally had planned to give her a fifth share in the estate.

P.E. VOTED NEW PERMIT FOR STREET

Utilities Board Approves Renewal of Franchise for Edendale Red Car Line

A ten-year renewal of the Pacific Electric Railway Company's franchise on Sixth street, between Olive and Figueroa streets, for the Edendale cars was approved by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation and handed to the City Council for its approval yesterday.

The renewal of the franchise, which expires on the 18th inst., was asked by the railway last year, but action was deferred pending disposition of the union terminal question. With the latter still unsettled the board could see no reason for opposition to the renewal, since refusal would leave a gap in the line from Olive to Figueroa streets.

The franchise was granted in 1909, after which the railway abandoned a former franchise over Seventh street between Olive and Figueroa streets, at request of the City Council.

The line operates from the Pacific Electric depot on Sixth street to Figueroa, thence to Second street and over the present route of the Edendale line. The original thirty-six-year franchise was on Sixth to Olive, thence south to Seventh, along Seventh to Figueroa and then north. This diversion was eliminated and the line straightened under the twenty-one-year franchise that expires this month.

German Flyer Defends Self in Theft Charge

Fred Schmidt, who says he is a German war ace, but who now is selling automobiles, took the stand in Superior Judge Finney's court yesterday to defend himself of a charge of burglary.

The former war aviator blamed his troubles on bootleggers who would bring stolen property to his apartment in Pasadena where police found it, and subsequently filed burglary charges against him. Clothing, hair brushes and wallets, from Mullen & Bluett's, shoes and sox identified as the property of Ray A. Hopping, and hardware asserted to belong to J. A. Hook were found in Schmidt's room.

Schmidt is prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Veitch and defended by Deputy-Public-Defender Thomas. The case will go to the jury today.

Millions Flock to City Strand During Month

Revealing the lure of the Los Angeles municipal beaches, records for July completed yesterday show a total of 3,413,716 persons enjoyed the public strands during the period, according to the Playground and Recreation Department.

During the month, forty-four persons were rescued from the sea by the Los Angeles municipal beach guards. Not one life has been lost by drowning this summer at any of the beaches operated by the city playground and recreation department, which maintains a crew of fifty guards.

ANNULMENT GRANTED ON UNDER-AGE PLEA

They both were under age when they married in Santa Ana, and she went right home to her parents and never lived with her husband, Mrs. Merle Lawry McCready said yesterday in getting her marriage with John Robert McCready annulled. She was 16 years of age and he was 20 on their wedding day, August 23, 1929, and neither had the consent of parents, said the pretty young wife. Superior Judge Collier annulled the marriage.

TWO DEATHS IN DAY LAID TO TRAFFIC

Five Other Persons Hurt, Two Perhaps Fatally, in Auto Accidents

One person was killed and another died from previous injuries yesterday as the results of traffic accidents in and near Los Angeles. Two others were injured possibly fatally.

An unidentified Mexican, about 38 years of age, stepped from the curb at Alliso and Lyon streets, directly in the path of an automobile driven by M. A. Borker, 859 Lowe street. He received a fracture of the skull and died at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

William E. Raney, 31, 518 Olive street, Bellflower, died at General Hospital from injuries sustained July 29, last, on Cerritos avenue, south of Artesia Boulevard. Raney was changing a tire when he was struck by another machine.

Fred Gurner, 50, 526 South avenue Nineteen, is at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital with a fractured skull and is in a critical condition, as the result of an auto mishap at Twenty-sixth and Alameda streets. He hit a traffic button and the truck which he was driving upset, pinning him beneath.

Jack Nishimoto, 24, 1339 Garden street, received a skull fracture and may die as the result of a collision between a truck which he was driving and a sedan driven by Lester A. Gibson, 535 North Citrus avenue, at Van Ness and Clinton avenues. Three others were hurt slightly in the accident. Gibson was not injured.

that she will have to come back to Denver with him. The girl said she would rather die in jail than go back, according to Mrs. Claudia Proffitt, of the City Juvenile Bureau, before whom she was first brought for questioning.

She denied that she stole the money. She told the policewoman that she had told fortunes and lied for the money and then had given it to her father. Someone heard that $100 reward had been offered for her apprehension by her father and "turned her in." She declared she is 19 years of age.

She also told the policewoman that her husband has treated her with fine consideration and that he has already taught her to write her own name. She was unable to tell th: time of day or to count, she told the authorities, until her lover-husband taught her. He planned to send her to school, according to her story.

Anyway, the lockamith that love usually laughs at, is on the job and will be for nearly a month. In the meantime the cards say nothing and the stars, too, are silent.

"JUAN Y LOLITA"

Mrs. John J. Mitchell, who was Lolita Armour, and her husband have a gorgeous Montecito estate; also a wonderful cattle ranch named Juan y Lolita, which has four miles of frontage on the Santa Ynez River and comprises 6388 acres of an old Spanish grant. They raise fine blooded sheep, cattle and horses.

Many other great fortunes are being used to perpetuate the old life of California in a new way; but these will suggest the idea.

GLENDALE WIFE ASKS SEARCH FOR SPOUSE

Police were asked yesterday to search for Benjamin M. Moulder, 43 ears of age, telephone engineer, of 1104 Ethel street, Glendale. His wife said he left the house Monday with the intention of going to work and was not seen again. He previously had complained, she said, of pains in the head. Her alarm increased when she found that before leaving Moulder had emptied his pockets of all documents that might tend to identify him.

TRIO PASS TESTS FOR DEFENDER

McCullough, Hall and Jack Placed on Eligible List in Unusually Fast Time

Within twenty-four hours after the test was held by the Los Angeles Civil Service Department for a public defender eligible list, from which to choose a successor to E. R. Orfila, whose resignation becomes effective on the 31st inst., the result was known by the department yesterday. Ordinarily, the result of civil service examinations is not known for several weeks.

Only three applicants took the test and all passed. They include John J. McCullough, who obtained 85.4 credits; Fred M. Hall, with 79.4, and Deputy City Attorney Ford M. Jack, with 75.5.

The result was tentatively approved by the Civil Service Commission, which will certify the names a week hence, so that the Mayor may appoint Orfila's successor. Orfila resigned to enter private practice.

The commission yesterday set October 4, next, as the date for a test for new policemen. The age limit is between 23 and 35 years of age, inclusive, and applicants must be high-school graduates.

Rolph Leaves on Final Jaunt in North of State

Mayor Rolph of San Francisco, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, left the Bay City yesterday on his final tour of Northern California in airplanes and automobiles to complete his circuit of visits to the fifty-eight counties of the State.

The Mayor will return to Southern California next Sunday for a six-day visit. He will be the principal speaker at rallies in behalf of his candidacy in Los Angeles, Riverside, San Bernardino, Orange and San Diego counties, with the final meeting in this city on the night of the 22nd inst.

From here he will return to Oakland for an Alameda county rally and his campaign will be brought to a close on the night of the 25th inst. in San Francisco. The final Southern California tour has been arranged under the direction of Al G. Faulkner, campaign manager in this section.

Course Opening to be Gay Event

Searchlights, music and entertainment will feature the opening tomorrow night of the newly completed $25,000 Mary Louise miniature golf course between Tenth and Eleventh streets on Flower street.

This newest course is owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Harris, owners of the tea rooms of the same name on West Seventh street, and is constructed on approximately 21,000 square feet of valuable downtown property. All the latest features that go to make an attractive and sporty course are embodied in the Mary Louise. Part of the office building will be used to house a luncheonette, where breakfasts, luncheons and dinners will be served.

SON OF LATE ACTOR CLAIMS ESTATE SHARE

William Russell, Jr., 11 years of age, son of William Russell, the late actor, appeared in Superior Judge Edmonds's court yesterday with his mother, Mrs. Viola Irene Gorman, formerly known on the stage as Viola Vale, to claim his share of his father's $6000 estate. By a previous order Mrs. Gorman was named administratrix.

COUNCIL PIGEONHOLES PROTEST ON DRILLING

The communication of the Ocean Park Protective Association protesting against leasing the ocean bed off Venice for oil drilling was pigeonholed by the City Council yesterday, while the protest of the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce against such action was transmitted to the Playground and Recreation Commission.

YOUNG PICTURED AS WET AND DRY

In North He's Moist but Here Not, Says Richardson

"Squander" Called Motto at California's Capital

Radio Speaker Lauds Fitts as Fearless and Free

Gov. Young is the Jekyll and Hyde of the present campaign, his predecessor in office, former Gov. Friend W. Richardson, charged here last night in a radio address from Station KNX. In San Francisco, according to the speaker, Gov. Young has a dripping wet organization manned by wets. In Los Angeles he has a dry organization headed by a dry.

"In his campaign procession," declared Richardson, "march the dripping wets and arid drys. In the same political bed with C. C. Young, who has been a dry for political purposes ever since the dry law became popular but who has never offended the most sensitive bootlegger, booze-fighter or moonshiner, we find the radically wet newspapers of California."

Richardson further charged that "squander" is the motto at Sacramento and that "shudder" might well be the watchword of the taxpayers who bear the load.

"This administration has had money to burn and it has burned it at the people's expense."

YOUNG OUT OF IT

Richardson declared that after a careful canvass of the various counties of the State it is evident that the contest for the Republican nomination for Governor is now between Buron Fitts and Mayor Rolph of San Francisco.

He asserted that it is generally recognized among the people of the north that the south is this year entitled to the Governorship should they have a candidate who measures up to the standard. "Such a candidate," said the former Governor, "is Buron Fitts. On merit alone, Buron Fitts is entitled to support. He is fearless, independent, and thoroughly posted upon State affairs. The present Governor has shown by his reckless extravagance, his temporizing of public questions and his subserviency to Hiram Johnson that he should not be continued in office."

Richardson discounted Gov. Young's highway assertions, saying that Commissioner of Public Works Meek has been most industrious in trading roads for votes. He declared that Meek's program has cost the people millions of dollars of money wasted.

Discussing the new corporation tax law under which Buron Fitts charges Gov. Young permitted a reduction of approximately $5,000,000 in taxes upon banks, large oil companies and other large corporations, Richardson stated:

"LAW UNNECESSARY"

"This new Young tax law was passed while the Governor and his cabinet were in a state of hysteria. That the new law was unnecessary and foolish was attested by able lawyers who offered to draw up a constitutional law that required banks, and oil companies to pay a fair proportion of taxes. This they were willing to do, but Gov. Young and his cabinet had a brain storm and rushed this new law through the Legislature.

"The new corporation tax law will cost the people each year more than $6,000,000 in lost tax revenue. It will save a like amount for certain banks, large oil companies and other large corporations."

Richardson challenged the veracity of claims that corporations pay the bulk of State taxes, holding that the truth is that public utilities corporations simply act as collectors, and that the people themselves pay the tax bill of California. He quoted from the figures supplied by State Controller Riley in which Riley warned that another two years of the present administration's policy of free spending will leave the State with a deficit of $12,000,000.

ST. GEORGE'S SONS START CONVENTION

Keys of City Presented to 400 Delegates in City for Pacific Session

Welcoming 400 delegates to the convention of the Grand Lodge, Pacific Coast Jurisdiction, American Order Sons of St. George, which opened at the Alexandria yesterday, Mayor Porter presented the visitors with the key to the city, also offering the guests a "ring of keys," admitting them to the City Hall and all other buildings and places of interest within the area of Los Angeles.

"There is easily room for 1,000,000 more home makers and home owners in Los Angeles, which is destined to be the first city of the nation," said John Topham. "The Sons of St. George, whose ambition is to further the friendship between America and England and to put an end to war among nations, are most cordially invited to make their home with us."

A card and tea party for visiting women and a dance at La Monica ballroom were features of yesterday's program. Sessions of the convention will be resumed at 9 a.m. today.

Spring Street Work Ordered

The City Council yesterday issued instructions for the drafting of plans and ordinances by the City Engineer for the improvement of new Spring street from Temple street to Sunset Boulevard, condemnation proceedings already having gone through the courts. The improvement includes permanent pavements, curbs, sidewalks, and combination ornamental light and trolley poles.

POLITICS

THE WATCHMAN

Trend of Political Thought and Action

—BY THE SENTRY, ON HIS BEAT—

Judge Henry M. Willis, seeking election to office No. 2 of the Superior Court, has received the indorsements of the Los Angeles Civic League, the Latin-American Social and Political Club, the Los Angeles County Bar Association and the Los Angeles Women's Political League, it was announced yesterday.

C. E. Toberman, Hollywood business man, will support Sidney T. Graves, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, for re-election, according to Frank J. Egger, Hollywood-Wilshire manager of the Graves campaign. Toberman was one of the active Graves supporters when Graves was elected to the board following his service in the Assembly.

Judge Edward T. Bishop will address the Optimists Club at Burbank at noon tomorrow. In the afternoon he will address the League of Women Voters at the San Pedro Y.W.C.A. Judge Bishop is seeking re-election to office No. 6 of the Superior Court.

Municipal Judge Raymond I. Turney, candidate for office No. 2 of the Superior Court, will address the Ad Club of Long Beach at noon today. Tomorrow he will address meetings at Long Beach and San Pedro.

Leslie R. Tarr, candidate for the Assembly from the Fifty-first District, has been indorsed by the Los Angeles County Council of the United Veterans of the Republic.

Maj. Frank E. Benedict, candidate for the Assembly from the Fifty-fifth District, has been indorsed by the United Veterans of the Republic and the Independent Order of Veterans.

A paragraph in a recent article in The Times in reference to the opposition of Representative Crail to a bill for printing books for the blind at the last session of Congress, is questioned by J. Robert Atkinson, vice-president and manager of the Braille Institute of America. Mr. Atkinson states that the bill opposed by Representative Crail was introduced by Congresswoman Pratt of New York instead of Congresswoman Rogers of Massachusetts, as stated. He says further that Mr. Crail's bill for the printing of books for the blind is of superior merit to the Pratt bill and that when some of those who at first opposed Crail's bill were informed of the facts, they swung to its support. Crail's bill is to come up as unfinished business when Congress reconvenes.

Appointment of J. K. Baillie, local business and financial executive, as chairman of the campaign of Lieut.-Gov. H. L. Carnahan for re-election, was announced yesterday at Carnahan headquarters.

D. Mac D. Jones, candidate for Sheriff, has been engaged in a heavy speaking program during the past week. Two outstanding talks on the narcotic situation were given before the D.A.V. chapter at Long Beach, and the 233 Club of Hollywood.

Importance of voting for candidates at the forthcoming primary election who thoroughly understand and have the capacity to work for the best interests of Southern California is stressed in a letter received from Louis M. Cole, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, by Attorney Lawrence Cobb, Republican candidate for Assemblyman from the Fifty-eighth District. Mr. Cole's letter reads, in part:

"I have known you for many years and have watched your progress and conduct. I am hopeful that you may be successful in your campaign and I am doing all that I can to bring about your election at the August primaries.

"You have a thorough grasp of important pending problems and I am sure your experience and training will stand you in good stead in meeting those problems when you are elected."

That Hollywood's women's organizations are vitally interested in the election of an Assemblyman from their district was evident yesterday when a committee of club women called at the Milton M. Golden campaign headquarters and pledged their support to Mr. Golden. Mrs. John Young, acting as chairman of the committee, said: "We urge the election of Attorney Milton M. Golden because we know he is clean, able and honest, and would be a credit to Hollywood in the Assembly."

Federal aid in the problems of reforestation, conservation, fire prevention and flood control in Southern California will result from additional appropriations made for this work as a result of the visit last summer of the Congressional committee investigating these problems, Representative Crail of the Tenth District stated yesterday.

Support for the campaign of Assemblyman Walter J. Little of the Fifty-sixth District for re-election is growing steadily among the voters of his territory.

Among the names enrolled under his standard are those of R. C. Waltz, Frank Homer, Mary Jane Riley, George L. Eastman, Louis Evans, E. F. Consigny, Ray Seldon Price, Caden Jenkins, Edward J. Hummell, Harrison Lewis, Telford Work, William Vernon, Clifford E. Hughes, Gilbert H. Beesemyer, Martin J. Kavanaugh, George R. Barker, Clarence A. Singer, Sam J. Haddock, John R. Scantlen, P. R. Graham, A. F. Farrow, William Forst, Thomas M. Tibbak, T. C. Harreson, John W. Eagle, George E. Gave, John T. Smith, Harry H. Bannett, James Davidson, Alfred L. Bartlett, Milford M. Hurford, David W. Noble, F. M. Douglass, W. D. Larrabee, Lawrence Arnold, Arthur L. Erb and Otto A. Gerth.

Among the indorsements of the candidacy of Senator Charles W. Lyon for re-election are those of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Long Beach, Artesia, Burnett, Compton, Norwalk and Sawtelle.

Remsen D. Bird, president of Occidental College, has indorsed the candidacy of William G. Bonelli, Republican, seeking election to the State Legislature from the Fifty-fourth Assembly District.

"Having observed the work of Mr. Bonelli during the seven years in which he held the chair of political science at Occidental College, his subsequent public service while he was president of the Los Angeles City Council, and aware of the public service he has rendered elsewhere in civic organizations, I have no hesitancy to recommend his election to the voters," Mr. Bird said.

"He is energetic, understands Southern California's legislative needs, is capable of applying himself to the task of obtaining their remedy, and I feel that Mr. Bonelli's training as an attorney will make him an admirable representative to the State legislative body."

Mr. Bonelli's district includes the Highland Park, Garvanza, Eagle Rock, Glassell and Atwater sections.

Among the organizations which have indorsed the candidacy of Sam M. Greene for Assemblyman in the Sixty-fifth District are the Men's Brotherhood of his home church, Inglewood Methodist Church; the Inglewood Ministerial Association, the Non-Partisan Better Government League, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and the Women's Political League. Mr. Greene reports that his campaign is progressing very satisfactorily. He formerly was secretary of the Southern California Editorial Association.

SMALL SIZE CARDS TELL OF PROJECTS

County Changes Style of Notices of Improvements; Map Now Used

Hereafter when notice is posted by the county in a district where a public improvement is to be made the property owners affected will not haye to take a day off to read it.

From now on, in place of the huge placard, 20 by 27 inches, filled with legal phraseology printed in small type, will be one only 11 by 17 inches, carrying a map showing where the improvement is to be made and a short printed description of it.

After years of using a notice almost as large as a horse blanket the county yesterday, for the first time, began using the new form. It was pasted in the Lomita district notifying the property owners of a contemplated sewer. It is understandable and requires only a few minutes to read it.

The change in the form of notice came about through the efforts of the County Counsel's office following a campaign for it waged by Deputy Counsel McKesson.

The city of Los Angeles has been using the smaller placard for some time.

Judge Collier Sustained in Contempt Case

Petition of D. T. Blodgett of Santa Barbara for a rehearing before the Supreme Court in a contempt of court proceeding that developed before Superior Judge Collier while the jurist was sitting in Santa Barbara, has been denied by the upper court, according to word received yesterday at the Los Angeles office of the tribunal.

The case excited much interest among the legal fraternity because of an issue raised as to whether or not a judge charged with prejudice could hear a contempt of court action. Blodgett accused Judge Collier of prejudice and when the case went before the Supreme Court the Santa Barbara man made the same charge against six of the seven justices.

MOTOR PATROL URGED

The Los Feliz Improvement Association yesterday filed with the City Council a communication supporting the plea of the Police Commission for the purchase of fifty motorcycles and the appointment of fifty officers to patrol the streets. The Council referred the matter to its Police and Fire Committee.

MEDICAL FREEDOM DEMANDED

Chiropractors' Secretary Charges Gov. Young with Repressive Policies

Unfair treatment of chiropractors in California by the present administration under Gov. Young has led the International Chiropractors' Congress to seek relief through the election of some candidate other than Gov. Young, it was announced yesterday.

DR. HARRY GALLAHER

Dr. Harry Gallaher, secretary of the international organization, is in the State to aid in acquainting the public with what are described as the repressive policies carried out against chiropractors by the present State administration.

"We are taking this action not only in behalf of ourselves, but in the interests of medical freedom," Dr. Gallaher said. "Throughout his years in public life, C. C. Young has shown himself to be what we know as promedical as against chiropractors, osteopathy and the like.

"In our own case, he has selected for members of the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners certain men who are promedic and antichiropractic in the administration of the board's affairs. Gov. Young has, for years, always placed obstacles in the way of chiropractic progress in California. Having failed to obtain what we believe is a fair deal for chiropractics, we have nothing left to do but see that he is defeated."

The International Chiropractic Congress at its convention last July 10, adopted resolutions calling upon all friends of chiropractic to use their influence to prevent the re-election of Gov. Young.

The International Congress of Chiropractic Examiners, acting upon charges placed against the California State Board of Chiropractic Examiners by the California Chiropractic Association, suspended the board from membership in the organization.

PETTY TILTS CAUSE BOY TO TAKE HIS OWN LIFE

Pete Loya, 12 years of age, concluded yesterday he could not get along with people. At least that is the basis of the police theory to explain what followed.

Early in the morning the boy's mother gave him a scolding at the family home, 691 Moulton avenue. It was for some minor dereliction on the boy's part and increased his conviction he was not looked on with affection by his family.

Later he and his sister Adella quarreled over a game of miniature golf they were playing in the back yard. Adella returned to the house and Pete disappeared.

An hour later an older sister, Josephine, found him hanging by the neck in the basement. He had made a noose of a rope cut from a swing, tied it to a beam and stepped off a chair. He had been dead several minutes when found.

ROYAL ARCANUM TO ASSEMBLE TONIGHT

Los Angeles county councils of the Royal Arcanum will meet tonight at 936 West Washington street in honor of Arthur W. Kennedy, Supreme Warden of the national order, who returned recently from West Baden, Ind., where the organization held its national convention last month. Warden Kennedy said yesterday it is probable the 1931 national session will be held in California. Speakers at tonight's meeting will include Kennedy, C. C. McNeill of San Francisco, Grand Regent for California, and Harry A. Heins of Los Angeles, Grand Vice-Regent.

ARIZONANS PICNIC SUNDAY

The annual picnic of the Arizona Society of Southern California will be held next Sunday in Bixby Park, Long Beach.

To keep a clear brain for the work of the day she should eat a light, nourishing, easily digested noonday lunch. Heavy foods for lunch mean sleepy, lazy afternoon hours. Shredded Wheat with milk is the ideal food for the women in the office or store, writers, stenographers, typists and clerks, who must be "on their toes" all the day. Shredded Wheat is the whole wheat in a digestible form—and is so easily and quickly served. Delicious with fruits,

Today's Bible Text

It is a faithful saying: for if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him: If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us: If we believe not, yet he abideth faithful: he cannot deny himself.—2 Tim. ii, 11-13.

CRITICISM AND ADULATION

A lot of American women are shocked because Queen Mary drinks beer and smokes cigarettes, but not many would refuse to be presented at court.

THE FASTEST LADY

Wife of a clergyman flew her solo plane from the Los Angeles airport at the rate of 197 miles an hour. No lady ever got up more steam than that, and it stands as a world record for her sex.

THE NEW JERSEYS

Paris is once more trying to popularize jersey materials for women's wear. At a recent showing morning dresses of jersey in raised patterns were a feature. There were also evening gowns of jersey in perforated silk. Anyhow, jersey can be recommended for snug fits.

ON MANY LINKS

A New York golfer has made a record of his own. He has played the game on 750 different courses in all parts of the world and is now on his way to clean up Africa. He intimates that he won't be happy until he has seen them all, but he still has far to go.

BIG INSURANCE

Life insurance payments in this country last year exceeded $2,200,000,000. This is a lot of money, if anybody should ask, and proves conclusively that America has developed the insurance habit to a remarkable degree. The heaviest payment on a single life was the $5,000,000 paid to the heirs of William B. Ward of New Rochelle, but there were a score or more of more than a million each. Folks are no pikers in taking out insurance.

VENUS AT THE BATH

They have a statue of the Venus de Milo at Winona Lake, Ind., and a prim maiden lady of the town objected to the nakedness of the hussy. So she planted a thick fringe of poison ivy around the marble brat and fancied it would grow up and make a nontouchable shield for the armless beauty. But the fire department turned out one day with several lengths of massive hose and gave the passionate lady a stiff bath. They washed away all her greenery and left her bare and gleaming in the morning sun. Once more the proud citizens have their Venus in the raw.

THIS SHOOTING BUSINESS

Complaint was made that some boys were shooting craps. The police responded. One of the players started to run away and was shot dead by one of the officers. All that was really desired was to break up the game and this was accomplished with the arrival of the police. The shooting was inexcusable. The trouble with some of our cops is that they shoot at the wrong time. The time to shoot is when bandits are holding up a bank or robbing a pedestrian with a show of arms. The London bobby carries no pistol and is saved some embarrassments, but is still frightfully efficient. If some of our officers were sent forth without their automatic their roars could be heard for miles.

CHIROPRACTORS TO CONVENE

About 1000 chiropractors, from all parts of the country, will meet in this city next Monday in the College of Chiropractic Auditorium for the eighth annual convention of the National Progressive Chiropractic Association. This is one of the few national organizations whose members meet year after year in Los Angeles in a large representative way, the reasons being that California is one of the strongest chiropractic States and that the Southland holds a strong lure for the delegates on account of its natural charms.

The aims of the coming convention will be to extend chiropractic scope by legislation, encourage more comprehensive study courses for students, lay a groundwork for minor surgery, establish the association in States where it is not yet represented and to exchange ideas and reports of experiences.

Such clearinghouses of information are of service to the profession and to its patrons.

CONGRESSMAN CRAIL'S RECORD

While a Congressman's services to his nation and to his district are not always to be measured by the amount of legislation which passes with his name attached—some very useful members seldom introduce a bill—there is nothing else positive in the career of Representative Crail at Washington by which to judge him. He did not figure in the battle for Los Angeles Harbor; he paid no attention whatever to the efforts to obtain the Navy dirigible base for Camp Kearny; he did little or nothing to obtain favorable tariff rates on California products. To further the Boulder Dam appropriation he prepared, or had prepared for him, a speech which he did not deliver, but which was printed in the Congressional Record with the word "applause" scattered through it in brackets. Its effect on the appropriation, naturally, was nil, and the insertion of "applause" earned the Tenth District Representative nothing but snickers.

Representative Evans of the Ninth District, on the other hand, took his coat off and worked for all these benefits. The harbor improvements, the Camp Kearny fight, the tariff bill and the Boulder appropriation all owed much to his efforts and to the respect which he won among other Congressmen by his sincerity and energy.

Crail did nothing but introduce bills, so far as can be discovered. At this he was busy. The Congressional average for the special and regular sessions was thirty-two bills to a member; but Crail dropped into the hopper exactly 402 proposed legislative enactments, fifty-nine of general import and 343 private bills.

But that is only part of the story. The other part is that exactly two of the general bills became law and precisely thirty-one of his private bills. The failure of a large percentage of general bills does not mean a great deal, perhaps, except to show bad judgment. But when a Congressman can get only 9 per cent of his private bills passed it indicates there is something radically wrong. Either he has sponsored measures without merit or without sincerity, or other members of Congress have taken a dislike to him.

In either case he is a liability to his district rather than an asset, and it is time for him to retire or to be retired.

By sponsoring bills without merit is meant putting in measures which plainly ought not to be passed. By sponsoring bills without sincerity is meant introducing measures with no intention of trying to obtain their passage. A Congressman may become persona non grata to his colleagues in a number of ways. Crail's unpopularity is attributed in some quarters to inattention to duty; it is said of him that he frequently has asked other members to look after bills of his introducing, doing no work for them himself; and that he follows few of his many bills any further than the introductory stage.

His attitude toward the administration must be judged by a single incident—he voted to over-ride the President's veto in the World War pension matter and then failed to vote at all on the substitute measure, which finally became law. It is a fair inference he had no interest in whether disabled veterans were or were not compensated, but was willing and even anxious to take a slap at President Hoover.

Representative Crail is now concluding his second term at Washington and has had time enough there to learn the ropes if he is ever to learn them. It is plain from his record that nothing of benefit to the Tenth District is to be gained by retaining him in the post. That district is entitled to be represented by a real Congressman, not a nonentity.

A few years ago when union officials desired to impress workingmen with the superior advantages of union membership, they appointed an entertainment committee amply provided with sandbags or pieces of lead pipe to call on the prospective members. But the world moves, and Providence, Ky., has just been visited by an entertainment committee aloft in a monoplane. Members of the committee dropped dynamite overboard to prove that nobody ought to work in a nonunion mine.

Fortunately none of the bombs reached its objective and fortunately, also, the carelessness with which they were scattered over the landscape did not result in any fatalities. That none of the open-shop mines was hit may be attributed to the poor aim of the bombers; that innocent bystanders were not slaughtered may be attributed to luck. It has not yet been discovered who dropped the bombs, but no one seems to be in any doubt why they were dropped. The fact that mines near Providence recently reopened after an unsuccessful strike and that most of the former strikers had returned to work was taken to be a sufficient explanation.

Federal aircraft inspectors have plenty of charges they can file against the operators of the bombing plane if they can catch them, but caught or not, it is a safe bet they will not be subjected to discipline by the union. There is no case on record in which union officials ever gave any help in prosecuting dynamiters, or where any union local ever lost its charter for employing violence. Yet they could easily turn up the perpetrators and stop the use of such tactics if they desired.

LOST OPPORTUNITY

It seems a pity that the Senate adjourned so quickly. The Senators could have done wonders in investigating the drought and denouncing the heated term. They could have passed resolutions forbidding thermometers from registering anything above 95 deg. That is high enough for anybody and too high for some of us. As for the drought, the Democrats will blame that upon the Republicans. The Republican Senators were no longer in Washington and could not meet the situation as well as if they were on the spot.

But anyhow, Congress missed the opportunity of taking action in two natural crises. The administration will be subject to much criticism for the scorched fields and gardens and the want of adequate water and there will be no loyal Senators at the capital to investigate and place the blame. The Weather Bureau will be widely condemned. What does it mean by burning up the country? But this is what the country gets when Congress folds up its knitting and goes home. Of course the President could call the statesmen in special session to consider the thermometer evil, but he would be accused by many critics of trying to evade some of the responsibilities that beset the administration.

Anyhow, we may expect a few haughty remarks from Tom Heflin. The country may not have been going to the dogs, but it was perilously near the point where a good fire department would be needed.

WILD HORSES OF THE WEST

A recent news item says that wild horses in Montana are being caught and slaughtered for meat. Up in Oregon at Bend, where there is a large herd, they are turned into chicken feed. Time was when wild horses were prolific in the West; but for the most part they have thundered by.

However, the greatest band of wild horses in the world still ranges rampant in the West. The horse power of the sun's rays may be problematical, but it is unlimited. They race over the deserts of California and other Western States unbridled and untamed.

Sea horses have been running wild for ages with but a feeble and abortive attempt to harness them. They dash up the coast and flirt their manes and tails into the face of man and roar back upon clattering hoofs into the depths, their stables.

Recently Dr. B. Lange has developed a new type of photo-electric cell. His idea is to transmute the sun's rays directly into electricity by a device consisting of two layers of copper separated by a minute layer of copper oxide. This combination, under sunlight, is said to give off electrons. Here may be the key long sought. If the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute of Silicate Investigation really has solved the problem, the world may forget some of the damage done by his royal ambition.

Heretofore, we have been content to convert the sun's rays into heat and thence into power. Lenses that focus the rays upon boilers have been about as far as we have gone.

Dr. C. G. Abbott of the Smithsonian Institution believes that the time will come when the sun's energy will propel motor cars, heat homes, light cities and cook meals. He has a solar stove in his own home that works.

One thing is certain, when the harness is finally flung upon the sun, California will have more of it than any other State. She now has the condensed sunlight of other ages in her oil fields and is utilizing it to the full. She is canning the sunlight of today in her peaches and movies. She will also have the largest herd of wild horses of sea and sun in the country to be harnessed for the future.

SLIPPING

By James J. Montague

Government statistics indicate that the average man has $2.52 less money this fiscal year than he had the last one.

I have tried to be prudent and saving,
To dispense with imported cigars,
And to conquer my natural craving
For elegant, high-powered cars,
But now that a twelve month is finished,
Without any foolish expense,
I find that my wealth has diminished
Two dollars and fifty-two cents.

The tale is not told by the ticker,
For I have not a stock in the street,
I have not invested in liquor
In any back-alley retreat.
I have spent no unwonted amount for,
The speakies or neckties or sport,
And I'm at a loss to account for
That two fifty-two I am short.

I took but a modest vacation
In a place a short distance away—
A motoring peregrination
Which required not the half of a day.
My clothes were of cheap, flimsy texture,
I did not pay more for my rent,
So I have not the slightest conjecture
How the sum I have mentioned was spent.

Alas, for my youthful ambition
Each year of my life to advance,
Till I rose to a lofty position
In the powerful ranks of finance!
I've been careless, and lax and unheeding,
The future looms dismal and sere,
For my visible wealth is receding
By two fifty-two every year.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

WE NOT only have auction bridge in Hollywood but bridge auctions.

Los Angeles undoubtedly has some of the most ingenious auctioneers in the business. One of the regular games with a certain bunch is to rent a house in an exclusive neighborhood, furnish it up to the limit—and then invite all the neighborhood in to the auction of the "complete furnishings of a fine home."

But nearly always, after one of those residence auctions is over, there are lots of things left. So now the company of bidders is invited to sit in on a bridge game, first, second and third prizes for which are to be selected from the unsold stock.

The other day our friend, Mrs. K., broke up the meeting of the anti-gambling committee of her club by telling the others present for a committee conference how she had won an $85 rug in such a game and it cost her only $1—for service charge—to sit in the game. The committee adjourned to dash over to another auction which was to be followed by a bridge party.

Has Its Merits

Lee: Of course, forest conservation is a fine thing. But still we seem to have degenerated a long way, from rail-splitters to tree-sitters.—E. D.

Well, we don't know. At least, a kid that's in a tree-sitting exhibition is out of mischief for quite a while.

Modern Switches

"Oh, spare the switch and spoil the child,"
Our earnest elders said
(And reared Tom Brownes, Don Juans and wild Young blades of whom we've read.)
In modern homes more switches are
Than ever then to scare 'em,
But they're electrified (Har-har!)
And surely we don't spare 'em!

Straight Talk on Unemployment

There's no use denying that some people are complaining of very slow business. But our should-be humble opinion is that a lot of those who are doing the kicking are losing business through being shorthanded.

We often drift about through stores, just to see how things are going, and besides that our helpspend frequently gives us orders to bring home this or that. And we can say with conviction that several times lately we have had to stand around and wait longer than we had to wait for service during the holiday rush last December. As we often are short of time, we have to walk out without being waited on sometimes. But the fact that there are not enough clerks to care for the customers has impressed us. Maybe it's just because of vacation season. But the paucity of clerks seems especially noticeable in the cheaper stores and chain stores. In a five-and-tin chain store we noticed several counters which apparently had no clerks stationed in them. When customers waited beside those counters some girl ran over from another counter to serve them—when she got time. That looked as if those folks were both driving away trade and cutting off the salaries of potential customers.

On the other hand, in one of our finest department stores, we saw several clerks doing nothing. But they were right there, ready to serve you. The store might have been able to get along with two or three fewer clerks on every floor. But it was standing by them. And darned if we didn't go through that store with a feeling of deeper respect for the organization which was standing by its employees.

How Shopping Crowds Vary

Monday has become a great shopping day in Los Angeles. The Sunday newspaper has carried the merchants' messages to more people and the salary budgeters have divided up the Saturday pay envelope and are all cleared for action. But Saturday still is the day of days for seeing the human interest in the shopping crowd. That is the day you see an old lady trundling a baby buggy at the Grand Central Market. She parks the buggy on the sidewalk, but frequently hurries back to it to tuck something under the coverlet. For there is no baby in that buggy—it is merely her grocery truck. That, too, is the day when the old-fashioned wife who finds it pays to meet her husband at the office, just before pay time, sallies out with her bundle carrier to expend his earnings. And that is the time when the girl with an afternoon off and a Sunday date does her heavy shopping and light buying.

Thursday, too, is an interesting shopping day, as Thursday afternoon generally is the maid's day off. There probably are 100,000 maids in Los Angeles and its suburbs who do practically all their shopping that day. The study of the variations on shopping crowds is a matter of supreme importance to the managers of many stores.

Indian Collegiate Spirit

The Purple and Gold, the annual of the Sherman Institute Vocational School for Indians, is on our desk and is not only as lively and collegiate a publication as one can find anywhere, but is more to the credit of the Indian boys and girls who wrote and edited it than are most school publications because it was printed by them, too, in their own print shop, and all the art in it is student work. Indians from all parts of the Southwest are in the school, representing many different tribes, and this handsome, clever, artistic publication is evidence that they are learning to work with their heads as well as with their hands.

BOYHOOD OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

PATRICK E. CROWLEY

[This is the sixth of a series of articles on the boyhood of famous Americans and telling how they got their start in life.]

BY J. V. FITZ GERALD

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

Cattaraugus was a railroad town on the Erie line. It was the ambition of most of the boys born and raised there to learn railroading. A conductor in his natty uniform, an engineer, fireman or mechanic in work-stained overalls, was a common enough sight to the boys thereabouts. Still it always gave them a thrill. They hoped to rise that high in the world themselves some day.

Patrick E. Crowley shared the ambition of his playmates to become a first-class railroad man. He was born in a house near the tracks of the Erie in 1864. His father had worked on the Erie for years. He was the station agent at Cattaraugus and as such was a man of authority and prestige in the little railroad community.

The youngster knew the language of the railroad almost as soon as he was able to talk. His ears would tell him when the puffing engines were in need of repairs or overhauling before he was 10 years old. He could tell at a glance the condition of the rolling stock as it passed through Cattaraugus. He was inquisitive and friendly with train crews from the time he was able to get around alone.

He was a wiry youngster of rather smallish size. While he played in the fields with the other boys he managed to spend much time around the station and in his father's little office. He took particular interest in the work of the train dispatcher.

His mind was made up while he was in grammar school that he would seek a job on the railroad as soon as his father would permit. In those days the generally accepted way to learn the business was to begin young and work your way up. The boy's father thought that as long as he was so anxious to start railroading he might as well pass up a high school education.

So the lad left school when he was 14 years old and went to work as a messenger and odd-job boy for the Erie in his home town. Each month the pay envelope contained $5. While that wasn't much financial incentive the youngster was satisfied and proud of being a wage earner. He was learning the business he liked, getting a lot of fun out of it and being paid in the bargain.

Getting up at 5:30 in the morning, going to work at 7 o'clock and not finishing the day's tasks until 9 o'clock at night, might not seem so much fun to boys of the present day. But young Crowley thrived on the hard grind. His thin legs carried him over many a mile in the course of an average day's work as messenger.

When he wasn't on the jump he sat and watched the telegraph operator at his work. There was something in the click of the instrument that seemed to fascinate the lad. The train dispatcher, noting his interest, helped him to learn the Morse code. The boy proved to be a mighty apt pupil. By the time he was 16 he was a full-fledged operator.

Most boys would have gone to bed as soon as they arrived home from such a hard day's work as this youngster put in. But not young Crowley. He was a great reader of history and technical books dealing with railroad problems. Often he remained up reading until midnight or later. In this way he continued the education that was halted, so far as school was concerned, when he finished his grammar-school course.

Long before he was able to vote he was known as a boy who always was on the job, who studied it thoroughly until he knew his particular task better than anyone else. It wasn't so strange, in view of this, that when he put his mind to it he became an expert telegrapher at the age of 16.

The Erie sent him to Custer City, Pa., as telegraph operator. There were only a couple of trains a day at the little way station, but it was a start for the boy. He didn't remain there long. Soon he was transferred to Buffalo and became a train dispatcher at an important point.

He continued to be a wide reader of good literature in his spare moments, burning the midnight oil to improve his mind. He worked as hard as he had done on his first job. He was gaining a thorough foundation in railroading. He went with the New York Central in 1890 as a train dispatcher. Next he became chief of the department and then chief train master. He was already a man marked for promotion by officials of the road.

When he was offered the place of superintendent of the Pennsylvania division of the New York Central system he refused it at first. He was so modest he didn't think he deserved such an important post. Friends persuaded him to change his mind. He made a notable record in the position.

From then on his promotion was steady and sure until he was named president of the vast Central system. His thoroughness in mastering every job as it came along has paid him and the New York Central big dividends.

LIFE TERM OF A GERM

The question is often raised as to the life term of a germ. Germs have been found in ancient tombs and in mummies buried thousands of years ago, but this was never regarded as conclusive, as the germs may have been of recent origin. A number of culture tubes sealed up in 1903 were recently opened by Dr. Ortiz Patto, of Rio de Janiero, Brazil, and found to contain living germs capable of communicating disease. This is regarded as the longest authentic record of germ life.

Upon opening the tubes Dr. Patto made cultures of them and inoculated living animals. Many of the germs grew in the new culture and some produced disease. Since germs often produce offspring within half an hour, his observations mean that these germs lived more than 100,000 times a normal generation, which in human life would be equivalent to nearly 1,000,000 years.

SLAVERY DAYS

BY EUGENE BROWN

I

Letters of One Slave to Another, Telling All About It

Dear Bill Hearst: Just got a hot wire from King George, saying he had signed that London treaty. Said he wanted to get it over with as quickly as possible so far as he was concerned. I expect you were right. That makes us the slaves of the Britons.

Just because we were dumb.

We can't say that you and Hiram didn't give us warning. You stood on the battlements and shouted like pickled Indians, but we walked unthinkingly into the bull pen like lambs to the slaughter.

Oh, it was pitiful.

Look what happened to us:

Now we are slaves.

Just think of it. Once we were proud and haughty and now we are in gyves.

It is going to make it mighty hard for me. I am not much used to work. I can't say that I have toiled very hard for nearly a year and now to turn out and slave for somebody else cuts me half-way to the bone. The King was sarcastic about it at that. He said I might better be doing something worth while for somebody instead of wasting my time on bantam golf and pitching horseshoes.

I don't like that man.

Isn't he the mean thing?

And now I am his slave!

Imagine me putting on a ball and chain and turning out at 6 in the morning to spend a couple of hours currying the British lion. I hope he croaks.

Also it is going to be doggone tough on you and Hiram entering serfdom at your age after having such a free-and-easy time of it. Anyhow, you may be able to go down and punch the time clock together when you draw your morning ball and chain. It would be awful if they gave you some hard job like working in the mines or carrying pig iron to the rolling mills. Somehow or other, I can't imagine either of you in a task like that. The only mining you have done has been in Broadway, where the gold diggers are reasonably busy, while poor Hiram can't tell a mine from a gopher hole.

So I hope you draw an easy job—something like waiting on table or carrying up the King's breakfast. If you do I hope you slip some knockout drops in his coffee. Personally, I think I would rather work for the Prince of Wales, anyhow. He is not a bad sort of a guy and looks as if he might be reasoned with.

But the trouble is that as slaves we are double-headers. You will remember that you said we had also yielded our birthright to Japan. That would make us the slaves of the Mikado as well. While I am wearing a ball and chain on one leg for King George the Japanese ruler will be slipping an iron anchor on the other dog. That is going to make it mighty hard to run away. I might be able to pick up one ball and sneak off, but with a double burden a guy would feel like a bigamist.

We might organize a revolutionary party and start a rebellion. You would make a dandy drum major and I am sure that Hiram could master the trombone. I can carry a sword. Then when we gave the call to arms we could at least make some noise. But the trouble is that the King might interfere and order us shot. It hurts me like the dickens to get shot—or even half-shot, for that matter.

So it looks like we were doomed to a life of slavery, and all just because we didn't listen to your warnings. If we had only paid attention to you and Hiram we might now be able to thumb our noses at King George instead of wearing his livery and answering his beck and call.

It is doggone pitiful.

I am almost moved to verse.

The boy stood on the burning deck,
He knows just how it feels,
To scurry from a fiery deck
With blisters on his heels.

I do not want to be a slave,
And wear an iron ring—
In fact, I think I rather crave
To be a pirate king.

Hoping these lines find you the same.

Health in Sunshine

That the rays of the sun distributed health and strength was recognized by the ancients. The famous Colossus of Rhodes was a monument to the sun god Helios, and every Roman villa had a sun parlor. Herodotus, ancient philosopher, is reported to have said that the sun is especially necessary for people who need increase of muscle, which fact was also noted by the Romans who gave their gladiators sun baths. Modern proof of the truth of this theory is furnished by Dr. Rollier, a Swiss physicians, who recently effected cures by sun. At the same time much harm may be done by infrequent overindulgences of sunshine, such as exposure on the beach. These baths should be taken in moderation.

Even some poor people may be numbered among those who have more money than brains.

Couple to Wed as 'Walk-aways'

"Run-away marriages" are of frequent occurrence, but a "walk-away wedding," such as is planned for tonight by the Walter Brinkop Post of the American Legion, Ninety-second and Vermont avenue, is expected to be the first of its kind in California. The "walk-away wedding" is one of the features of the "walk-away race" being conducted by the Legion post to raise funds for a clubhouse.

The bride-to-be is Miss Roberta Vaughan of 6826 California avenue. Bell, and the bridegroom-to-be is Dallas Neville of 1258 West One Hundredth street. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Scott Hamilton, who will be required to walk backward while uniting the couple. There remain ten couples in the "walk-away race," which started July 26. The leading couple, Miss Rita Phillips and Jerome Cavanier, had walked an estimated distance of 922 miles in 402 hours.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

The patient gain their ends at last,
But often when the need is past.
—Mother West Wind.

THE REWARD OF PATIENCE

Peter Rabbit was nothing if not patient. He spent a great deal of time—more than he should have—over by the old stone wall alongside of the Old Orchard. He wanted to see and talk to Striped Chipmunk. And as he couldn't possibly go where Striped Chipmunk was, he had to wait for Striped Chipmunk to come where he was. It seemed to him that never in all his life had Striped Chipmunk been so retiring.

At last, early one morning, Peter's patience was rewarded. Striped Chipmunk popped out from between the stones of the old wall almost over Peter's head. "Hello, Peter Rabbit!" cried Striped Chipmunk in that sprightly way of his. "You seem to have been spending a lot of time around here."

"How do you know?" demanded Peter bluntly. "You haven't been around."

"Who says I haven't been around?" asked Striped Chipmunk, and chuckled when he said it.

"I do," declared Peter. "I've wasted a lot of time watching for you and you haven't been around."

"Let me correct you, Peter," said Striped Chipmunk. "You may have wasted a lot of time. I dare say you have. However, you always seem to have plenty to waste. But you are wrong when you say I haven't been around. You haven't seen me, that is all. There hasn't been a day when I haven't been around. There are some advantages in seeing without being seen."

"What do you mean by such a foolish question as that?" he demanded

Meanwhile, Peter Rabbit was staring very hard at Striped Chipmunk. If was impolite. Yes, sir, it was impolite. "Do you ever change your coat?" blurted Peter Habbit.

Striped Chipmunk looked puzzled; he was puzzled. "The same way you do," said he. "I shed my winter coat in the spring and get a thicker and warmer coat in the winter."

"I mean," explained Peter, "do you sometimes wear one kind of a coat one day and another kind of coat another day?"

It was Striped Chipmunk's turn to stare. "What do you mean by such a foolish question as that?" he demanded.

"It isn't foolish," protested Peter. "I asked the question because I want to know. Do you, Striped Chipmunk?"

"Of course, I don't!" retorted Striped Chipmunk. "Of course I don't! "Have you ever known any one who wears a fur coat who did?"

Peter admitted that he never had known any one with a fur coat who could change his coat at will. "Then I suppose," said he, "that you always wear this striped coat that you've got now."

"Of course," replied Striped Chipmunk. "That is why I was named Striped Chipmunk."

"Then I must have been asleep or dreaming or there is something the matter with my eyes," declared Peter. "And I am not the only one. Some of the feathered folk over here in the Old Orchard are suffering from the same trouble. I was certain that I saw you all in black. Sammy Jay" says the same thing. Sammy thought you had fallen into something black. What are you chuckling about, Striped Chipmunk? I don't like being laughed at."

Striped Chipmunk made no reply. He continued to chuckle for a moment or two and then he disappeared as suddenly as he had appeared.

Health and Diet

ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

CAUSES OF EXCESSIVE GAS

Flatulence may be caused by many different things. Here is a list of some of the more common causes:

First: Imperfectly balanced digestive juices. Whenever the acid juices of the stomach are produced in too large quantities or are excessively acid they result in the formation of gas when coming in contact with the alkaline bile. A small amount of gas or air in the stomach seems to be normal. It is only when the digestive ferments are not adjusted to each other that an excessive amount of gas is formed.

Second: Overeating of even the best food is liable to produce indigestion which will be accompanied by too much gas.

Third: Wrong combinations of even the best foods will cause excessive fermentation.

Fourth: Using foods which cause flatulence, such as onions, garlic, cabbage and dried beans. These foods nearly always cause gas because of their peculiar chemical composition. Condiments, by stimulating excessive formation of digestive juice, also may produce gas.

Fifth: Excesses of sugar and starch. The foods which ferment most readily are the sugars and starches and one who is troubled with flatulence should eat sparingly of anything made of cereals and sugars. Honey or maple sugar is just as bad as any other kind of sugar for those who are troubled with flatulence.

Sixth: Eating too fast. If one eats too rapidly so that the starchy food is not properly mixed with saliva he may expect that the starch will not digest in the right way.

Seventh: Eating when tired will produce indigestion and result in excessive gas.

Eighth: Swallowing air with food, as people often do when eating too quickly. Swallowing air with food only aggravates a condition of excessive gas.

Ninth: Drinking too much liquid with meals may cause additional gas by causing an excessive amount of gastric juice which is needed to overcome the diluting effect of the water.

Tenth: Eating too often will keep the stomach overloaded and make the formation of gas probable.

Eleventh: Eating indigestible foods. Any foods which one finds difficult to digest should be avoided as one with weak digestion frequently has an attack of flatulence from eating something which he knows he should not.

Tomorrow: The Cure of Flatulence.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

DON'T MAKE CHILDREN BEAUTY-CONSCIOUS

When the perfection of a young girl's skin is marred by a noticeable growth of hair it is often more distressing to the mother than to the child who is unaware of its beauty significance. The small baby almost always has a growth of fine down, running low on the forehead and often on the cheeks, and mothers of infants have been driven to desperate ideas of depilatories for the removal of this quite natural and temporary growth, which disappears of itself in time.

When the growth on the arms and legs of the small girl is noticeable the parent is aroused to a keen desire to "do something" about it and there are frequent appeals to this department to suggest something that is effective and safe.

Most of us know that superfluous hair can be temporarily eradicated by depilatories. We know, too, that the results are never permanent, and the process of removing the hair must be repeated constantly. And besides making a poor youngster a constant martyr to the use of depilatories, it is well to keep in mind that the use of such strong drugs on the tender skin of a child is almost certain to result in severe burns.

The electric needle in the hands of a competent operator might be used for a few hairs, but it is not advisable for such large areas as the arms or legs and is likewise not always effective and sometimes results in a scarred skin that is a more horrible blemish than a soft growth of hair.

HARMLESS BLEACHING BEST

It remains thus to rule out these methods for children and use some harmless means of making the hair less conspicuous. Peroxide used after a hot, soapy bath, which denudes the skin of oil and makes bleaching easier is perhaps the safest method that can be advised for turning the hairs a lighter shade. We are taking it for granted that the child herself is distressed enough about her appearance so that the mother feels justified in taking steps to help the condition.

Most children are quite unconscious of hair as a blemish and mothers make a mistake to focus their attention upon it.

We once knew a dear, sweet woman whose fetish was the removal of blemishes. A light crop of freckles on the face of her very blond daughter stimulated her to buy an assortment of freckle lotions and creams which she insisted must be used nightly. A few fine hairs on the chin of her niece sent her scurrying for the tweezer to remove them. The result was that both daughter and niece began to look at themselves with bitterly critical eyes, each blemish rearing its head and demanding to be removed.

A child's experience is so limited, she is so unaware of her own deficiencies or her divergence from accepted beauty standards, that any adult should hesitate to make corrections or institute any kind of beauty treatments that shall make her unhappily conscious of them.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

It was apparent that the man was wooing the maid, and Tarzan needed no knowledge of their spoken language to interpret the gestures, the glances and the facial expressions of eager pleading upon the part of the man, or of the cold aloofness upon the part of the girl.

Sometimes a tilt of her head presented a partial view of her profile to the ape-man and he guessed that she was very beautiful, but the face of the young man with her reminded him of the face of Pamba the rat. It was evident that the courtship was not progressing very well.

As the rat-faced man's voice rose in anger, the girl rose haughtily and with a cold word turned away. Then the man leaped to his feet from the bench upon which they had been sitting, seized her roughly by the wrist and clapped a hand across her mouth, dragging her into an embrace.

The man bent the girl's frail body back upon the bench. His lips were close to hers, when there was a sudden jarring of the ground in front of him and he raised astonished eyes upon the figure of a half-naked giant. Steel-grey eyes looked into his beady black ones.

BUT, MR. NICHOLAS, THAT LAND IS WORTH TWICE THAT MUCH AT LEAST. OWING TO THE FACT THAT I WANT TO RAISE SOME CASH I MIGHT BE WILLING TO TAKE $12, BUT NEVER $8.
YOU KNOW YOURSELF, MR. NICHOLAS, THAT WITH A RAILROAD IN THERE THE TIMBER ALONE WOULD BE WORTH TEN TIMES THAT.
BUT THERE IS NO RAILROAD, HOWEVER I'M A MAN OF ACTION AND I WILL SELECT FIFTY THOUSAND ACRES AND PAY YOU $0 AN ACRE - THAT'S $500,000 - AND NO MORE.

GRANDPA'S GROCERY BILL SEEN

Although Sugar Now Sells for Less than for Forty Years, Other Commodity Prices of "Gay Nineties" Way Below Present Cost, Old List Shows

VAN NUYS, AUG. 13—Back in the gay nineties sugar sold to the retail consumer at twenty pounds for $1. For years it was a standard price for the commodity. In later years it has reached twice that price, and during the World War, for various reasons, sugar found itself on a prohibitive list. The stores now are selling sugar at twenty-three and twenty-four pounds for $1, at a price cheaper than it has been within forty years.

There is still, however, some noticeable difference in the prices of now as compared with those of thirty-eight years ago. A. J. Boulanger, senior member of Boulanger Brothers, one of the oldest grocerie in San Fernando Valley, today dug up a price list of 1892, showing the retail proces of that period. Prices for 1930 are added.

HIGHWAY NAME SELECTED

Riverside Supervisors Decide on "Pines to Palms" Highway for Mountain-Desert Link Title

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 12.—Denoting the famous characteristics of the highway which will link mile-high mountain country with the below-sea level territory where the largest New World date plantings are located the title "Pines-to-Palms Highway" today was chosen by the Board of Supervisors for the $300,000 road the county is constructing from Keen Camp in the San Jacinto Mountains to the floor of Coachella Valley near Indio.

Selection of the name was made after several others were discarded because of their local nature. The title chosen will be maintained in all advertising of the route and is expected to make the scenic drive one of the most famous in Southern California, as far as titles go.

Crews from the county prison camp are at work on construction of the road from the Keen Camp end. More than seven miles has been built.

Keen Camp and the other resorts of the San Jacinto Mountains are expected to form delightful "way stations" on the high-gear drive that construction of the Pines-to-Palms Highway will complete. It will link directly with the new broad high-gear Hemet-Idyllwild road at Keen Camp. The Supervisors envision popularizing the "loop drive" from Hemet, over the high-gear road surmounting the mountains and to the Coachella Valley. Thence the motorist may drive farther into the valley or stop at Palm Springs en route home via paved roads through San Gorgonio Pass.

BLAST OF DYNAMITE KILLS MAN

Amil Wittak, Employee of Construction Company, Blown to Pieces

VENTURA, Aug. 12. (AP)—Amil Wittak, 37 years of age, of Los Angeles, was killed shortly before noon today by a dynamite blast on the Maricopa Highway in the mountains northeast of here.

Wittak, an employee of the C. G. Willis Construction Company of Los Angeles, was setting dynamite for a blast in road construction on the Pine Mountain grade.

Meager reports received here said he literally was blown to pieces when the charge was exploded accidentally.

Municipal Bus Lines to Expand if Bonds Carry

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 12.—This city's municipal venture, the Santa Monica municipal bus line, linking the bay district with Los Angeles, will be expanded with new busses, new terminals on Olive street, Los Angeles, between Fifth and Sixth streets, and at Ocean avenue, Santa Monica, between Broadway and Colorado avenues; and will operate lines both on Pico Boulevard and Wilshire Boulevard to Pershing Square, if a bond issue carries at a special election to be called here.

The action agreeing to call the election was taken by the City Council, and the projected expansion was fostered by the Santa Monica Public Affairs Association.

Other contemplated improvements are construction of a bus garage and repair shops in this city and appointment of a bus-line manager at a salary of $250 monthly.

Details were being studied today by city officials preparatory to drafting the ordinance calling the special election.

SONG WRITERS LIKE TO BOOST REDONDO

REDONDO BEACH, Aug. 12.—According to James H. Dalton, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce, people don't spend quite all of their spare time in endurance contests or baby golf. MILK ORDINANCE WEIGHED

Clark of San Diego May Veto Measure Passed by Council as Tending to Monopoly

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 12.—Fear was expressed by Mayor Harry C. Clark that the milk ordinance passed by the Council yesterday would create a local monopoly, thereby causing the people to suffer higher prices. For that reason he may use his veto. He said he intends to give the ordinance several days' study before he decides.

"The people who buy milk and dairy products should be protected for that reason I have passed the ordinance," the mayor said. "I tried to introduce reason of the situation at the council meeting yesterday, but had to vote. I'm afraid of a milk strike.

"I have friends to have conferences with health officials and members of the dairy interests to see if I can't do something either way, to sign the ordinance or veto it," he said. He had his conference with Dr. A. M. Fish, health officer, this morning. The effect of barring Imperial milk from the city was discussed.

Those who favor the ordinance declare the effect of removing Imperial milk from the supply of milk for San Diego will be small. They said it would not affect the supply for manufacturing cream or butter. Discussing the ordinance's effect on market prices, Dr. Lesem said the dairies themselves fix the price of milk and cream. He added that neither the health department nor the public has anything to say about prices.

Dr. Lesem also said that the ordinance adopted by the Council was one that suited the Health Department and that it was acceptable to the health authorities of Imperial Valley. He declared that last Friday officials of the San Diego County Farm Bureau were in conference with the health board and that the greater part of the day was consumed in arguments over the control of milk supplied to the San Diego public.

He said the farm board officials wanted an ordinance that would protect the milk producers, while the health board wanted one that would protect the consumers, and that the health board decided the consuming public would get the protection needed.

Inquest Held on Victims of Sewer Fatality

VENICE, Aug. 12.—Accidental death due to drowning after being overcome by gas, was the substance of the findings of a Coroner's inquest, conducted at the Kirkeile, Bernard & Peek undertaking establishment here, following the storm-drain accident last Saturday which took the lives of Lee Mutaw and Green Mitchell, both of Venice.

An autopsy revealed the presence of water in the lungs of the two victims.

The foreman of the crew working in the storm drain was exonerated.

David Striteoff, who was overcome by the deadly gas fumes which sent Venice firemen and policemen rushing to the scene with gas masks, was reported recovering today.

Resigned City Head to Check Up Successor

PASADENA, Aug. 12.—Former City Controller George H. Wood will receive $25 a day and will audit accounts, books and financial transactions of the city for the fiscal year ending June 31, next.

In view of the fact that Woods and Edwards have not been considered the closest of friends, employment of Wood to audit accounts in Edwards's charge occasioned comment at the City Hall today. Wood's official connection with the city ended June 30, last.

HOSPITAL CEREMONY SET

Ground-breaking for $650,000 San Bernardino Group of Buildings will be Held Friday

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 12.—Ground will be broken Friday for San Bernardino's new $650,000 hospital, to be erected by the Sisters of the Incarnate Word, it was announced today following the awarding of the general contract to Frank J. Solt, local contractor. Work on the structure, a 150-bed institution, with a nurses' home and training school, will begin Monday, Solt stated.

Local labor will be used as far as possible on the project, the city's major construction unit of the year.

Solt's contract totals approximately $400,000, with a total of $200,000 in subcontracts yet to be awarded by the Sisters through Architect I. E. Loveless of Los Angeles. The contract was formally signed today by Mother Placidius, representing the Sisters, and Solt.

The ground-breaking ceremonies at the site, at Waterman and Highland avenues, will be arranged by the citizens' committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which directed the campaign by which the city subscribed $100,000 toward the $650,000 project.

The city purchased out of its contributions, the site for the hospital, which will be the largest in Southern California, outside of Los Angeles.

The hospital group will include three principal structures, the main building, to be six stories in height, the nurses' home and the training school. Smaller structures to house various departments may be necessary. The buildings will be constructed of steel and concrete and equipped with modern hospital facilities.

County Clerk Preparing for Election Day

REDLANDS, Aug. 12.—Some 5500 little booklets telling all about the State candidates will be received by local voters within a few days. They have just been mailed out of the offices of Harry Allison, county clerk. The pamphlets contain the statement of candidacy of all persons running for State offices and the sponsor's certificates. They were published in the State Printing Offices at Sacramento. Meanwhile, other work of the county clerk's election staff is going forward at a rapid rate in preparation for the primary election.

Allison says that the work of installing booths in the polling-places throughout the county is nearing completion. One booth is installed in each polling-place for every fifty registered voters. There are 290 polling-places in the county and the registration requires that more than 900 booths be set up.

The next job of the election staff will be to send out the ballot boxes which will first be packed with all necessary election instructions and with the ballots to be voted in the primary election. When the boxes have been packed, they will be locked and sent to the inspector in charge of each polling-place. Distribution will be made by trucks and express.

The flood of pamphlets which arrived yesterday occupied nearly 100 square feet of space when stacked in a corner of the election department. The stack varied from three to five feet in height.

A large truck was necessary to haul the material from the freight depot.

PROBATION FIGURES GIVEN

San Bernardino County Officer Has 1207 Under His Supervision, Including 1059 Juveniles

REDLANDS, Aug. 12.—George Larmore of this city, county probation officer, says there are now 1207 on probation in the county, 148 being adults and 1059 juveniles. Money collected by probation authorities for the support of families of probationers totaled $4017.65 in adult cases and $2221 for juveniles.

There are 7097 adults on probation in California, a total greater than the number of convicted persons in prison. One in seventeen was a woman. Of the 12,228 children on probation, 8123 were boys and 4105 girls.

Collections in adult probation cases for the State as a whole amounted to $166,993.83, and for juvenile cases $116,007.33.

"The cost of supervision is a very small fraction of the cost of maintenance in institutions," Larmore declared, "and the number who succeed on probation is far greater than the number who 'come back' after serving time in prison.

"Probation has been a pathfinding job in California, in which each office has worked out its own methods, with no established machinery for learning what practices other offices had developed. The courts have had no generally recognized policy toward probation, and cases which would be placed on probation by one judge would be sent to prison by another."

"Data to assist probation officers and the courts, in an effort to unify activities throughout the State, are being gathered.

"The data so far gathered show the field covered by probation officers is much more extensive than was realized," Larmore declared.

PASADENA, Aug. 12.—With the national juvenile nonstop bicycle record under their belts, Rex Hill, Rufus Hurley, Jack Rohr and Godfrey Crusberg are resting today after keeping one bicycle in motion for 353 hours in which time they covered 2410 miles. The long ride terminated at 5:30 a.m. today, when the rear tire blew out.

They kept the wheels of the bicycle in motion while changing riders. They have sold 200 postcards and this afternoon received offers to appear on the stage of a local theater.

PASADENANS GREET FITTS

Four Thousand Throng Memorial Park to Hear District Attorney Expound Platform

PASADENA, Aug. 12. (Exclusive)—Dist.-Atty. Fitts tonight spoke before the largest crowd that has gathered in Memorial Park to hear an address since the Presidential campaign.

More than 1000 stood up for nearly three hours while 2000 more were seated in the park Gold Shell, outdoor amphitheater, to hear Fitts outline his platform of his candidacy for Governor of the State.

The District Attorney also scored an advertisement carried in a local newspaper tonight, purporting to show that Gov. Young had reduced taxes during his administration. Fitts charged that Young campaigners had juggled and padded figures to create a reduction impression and quoted figures to substantiate his protest.

Joseph Scott, Los Angeles attorney, who introduced Fitts, declared Gov. Young has avoided action in the San Francisco Mooney bombing case for fear that any decision he might make would lose him votes. He stated Fitts is a man of action and that the State needs a leader who will protect the interests of the entire territory within its boundaries.

Mrs. Torrey Everett, local women's leader, spoke and read a letter urging support of Fitts written by Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, San Marino leader. Dr. Daniel F. Rittenhouse, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pasadena, pronounced the invocation.

FITTS SPEAKS AT HUNTINGTON PARK

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 12. Dist.-Atty. Buron Fitts, candidate for Governor, was greeted by approximately 200 persons this morning, as speaker before the members of the Council of Members, at a breakfast session held at Cole's Cafeteria.

Fitts spoke upon the work which has been accomplished in the District Attorney's office since he was elected head of that department two or more years ago, and declared that in whatever office he occupies, he will continue to serve the people honestly and faithfully.

Fitts was scheduled to be present at 7:30 a.m. He was twenty-five minutes late in arriving and was fined "two bits" by Robert J. Shanahan, executive vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, for being late. Fitts placed the quarter in a cup, with other funds collected from those present, to go into a charity fund.

WOMAN BLAMED IN STUDIO THEFT

State Charge Filed Against Material Witness

Accused of Plot to Steal Scenario Script

Detective and Film Writer Already Under Arrest

Edith Higgins, who was arrested Saturday as a material witness in connection with the asserted theft of a scenario script from Warner Brothers' studio, yesterday was charged with grand theft in a complaint issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McIsaac.

Forrest J. Easley, a detective for the Caddo studios, and Joseph March, a writer for the same concern, were charged with conspiracy to commit burglary and grand theft in the original complaint.

After further investigation, however, it was decided to file a complaint against Miss Higgins, who, according to Tom Cavett, investigator, is the person who received the manuscript from Miss Carmelita Sweeney in the asserted plot to place the document in possession of the Caddo concern.

The officers charge the three defendants plotted to obtain the manuscript through Miss Sweeney, so it might be used as evidence in a civil action pending between the two motion-picture companies in Federal Court. Miss Sweeney told her employers and caused the arrest of the defendants when they came to her home for the manuscript.

RULING DUE TODAY IN PLAGIARISM SUIT

Whether producers of two other motion pictures shall be granted temporary injunctions to restrain the showing of "The Dawn Patrol" will be decided today by United States District Judge Cosgrave, before whom the actions, which assert infringement of copyright, were brought.

The plaintiffs, who each sued separately for an injunction, are Caddo Productions, which produced "Hell's Angels," and Gainsborough Pictures, Ltd., which produced "Journey's End." The defendant company is First National Pictures, Inc., which produced "The Dawn Patrol." Judge Cosgrave last week viewed the three pictures run off in succession.

INN PRESENTS SEER

When delicious food, sparkling entertainment and a restful Old World atmosphere are successfully blended and offered to the public at a reasonable figure almost immediate acceptance results, according to Martin Kluge, who has built up an entertainment program which is fast becoming recognized as one of the most versatile in the Southland, and is meeting with the enthusiastic approval of increasingly large and appreciative patronage. Dancing is enjoyed to Tracey's Moscow Masqueraders, whose broadcast over KMIC is eagerly dialed in by hundreds of radio fans. The Moscow Mystic, a mysterious veiled seer, has been obtained as an additional feature, and starting Saturday Moscow Inn patrons will be able to consult the Moscow Mystic on Wednesday and Saturday nights from 8 to 12 on all matters which smack of the occult.

The latter came to this city, he said, in the course of a vacation trip which will take him to Alaska. He left for the North last night.

DO MIRACLES STILL HAPPEN?

Disabled Veterans' Chief Paid $25 by Man for Bad Check of Three Years ago

Nothing can surprise William J. Murphy, National Commander of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, any more.

For yesterday, while he was standing in the lobby of the Alexandria talking with Assistant Manager Smalley, a man approached and offered Murphy $25.

"Three years ago I gave you a bad check for $25," said the stranger.

AUGUST'S CRIME WAVE TOPS JULY

Robberies Rise 74 Per Cent in First Eleven Days

Burglaries Also Increase But Purse Snatchings Drop

Previous Month Set Record for Summer Period

While Chief Steckel was bewailing the inadequacy of his police force, figures were tabulated in the police statistician's office yesterday revealing that robberies have increased 74 per cent over last month. And July recorded a total of 148 robberies, the largest number on record here for any summer month.

The figures showed a total of seventy-three robberies for the first eleven days of this month, an increase of thirty-one, as compared with forty-two for the same period in July.

At the same time burglaries increased from 176 to 186, or 6 per cent, during the same eleven-day period. Purse snatchings, which, while recorded by police as thefts from persons, in many cases constitute robbery by force and violence, dropped from thirty to sixteen.

MORE CRIMES

Reports on nine hold ups, two safe-crackings, a dozen burglaries and two purse snatchings for the preceding night hours were filed at the central record bureau yesterday.

Two masked bandits waged a miniature crime wave of their own in the West Los Angeles district. First they held up John Joseph Burkhardt of 2005 La Brea Terrace and a girl friend at Amalfi street on the Riviera and obtained $10 and his automobile.

Then the bandits a short distance down the boulevard held up Clifford T. McCoy of the Young Men's Christian Association and his woman friend, robbing McCoy of his billfold and papers. And, still driving Burkhardt's machine, the pair then held up John B. Whalen of 944 West Sixth street and Miss Helen Smith of 5526 Marion Way and Miss Lillian McCarthy of 128 North Workman street at Beverly Boulevard and Stone Canyon.

NEW YORKER ROBBED

Stopped in the 1300 block on Sunset Boulevard by three men who asked for a tire patch, Victor Von Shubert of 1720 Park avenue, New York City, en route to San Francisco, was held up and robbed of his $3500 automobile, $240 in cash and $100 worth of jewelry. Von Shubert walked to Central Station and reported the robbery.

Two bandits, one carrying a revolver and the other an old sugar sack, walked into See's Candy Company store at 3500 West Washington Boulevard and robbed Miss Grace Wideman, clerk, of $18.50.

Entering the office of F. C. Hathaway, manager of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York City at 815 South Hill street, with a pass-key, burglars broke open the safe and obtained $6000 worth of Liberty bonds belonging to Hathaway and $123 in cash belonging to the company.

Quinn Brothers Given Sentence of Seven Years

Convicted of first-degree robbery, Roy and Charles Quinn, brothers, were sentenced to serve terms of seven years to life imprisonment in San Quentin penitentiary by Superior Judge Vinci yesterday.

The men were convicted of robbing Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mullins, proprietors of a Pasadena cafe, of $138 on the night of May 16, last. During the trial the defendants presented an alibi in the person of Dwight Ellsworth Abbott, another County Jail prisoner, who confessed that he was one of the bandits who robbed Mr. and Mrs. Williams. The jury, however, did not believe Abbott's testimony and found the Quinn brothers guilty.

The charm of old Hawaii will be interpreted in dances by "Huapala" at 2 p.m. today in May Company's exposition hall. One of her specialties is the hilo manikahi, describing the exotic flowers of the islands, the rainfall, the winds and their beauty.

The program will be given under the direction of Uncle Remus (E. M. Bonnell) under the sponsorship of the Los Angeles Steamship Company. A new Hawaiian film also will be shown of the actual blooming of flowers, the flow of lava from Kilauea and other features of Hawaii.

BARON IGNORES TITLE FOR JOB AS FIREMAN

Titles, estates and army life held no lure for Adolf Theodore Von Gedda when he was 17 years of age and living in Stockholm, Sweden, the eldest son and next in line for the title of his father, Baron Andrew Theodore von Gedda, a captain in the Royal Swedish Guards.

Today, a man of soldierly bearing about 50, living at 2208 North Broadway as plain Theodore Gedda, a fireman for the Southern Pacific Railroad, he wonders if he wouldn't have been wiser to have followed the military calling of the men of his family for many generations back instead of seeking adventure in the new world.

If he were to return to Sweden now he would be Baron von Gedda, but he sees no use in that since the family estates long since have been dissipated, with the exception of a villa outside of Stockholm, where his mother lives. And for that matter, he is still not impressed with the title idea and never would have let his story be known here except that it was discovered recently when he lost a locket in which were a miniature of his father and the coat of arms of the family.

While he was in private school in Stockholm young Gedda first was inspired with the desire to come to America. His mind was filled, he said, with tales of the wild west and his one ambition was to become a cowboy. Only because they thought he would come back to them after he had satisfied his hunger for adventure did his family consent to his leaving. But in the meantime he became an American citizen and never has been back to his native land except for one visit several years ago.

He left home at 17 and for several years sailed the seven seas, eventually landing in San Francisco, where he was within reach of his heart's desire. He went to New Mexico and Arizona and for several years longer worked on the big cattle ranches of the section as a cowpuncher.

Then mining claimed his attention until at last he became a railway fireman. He has been at this work for many years, while all thoughts of returning to Sweden have been put aside, and he is loyal to his adopted country, cherishing only a lingering regret that he did not elect to follow the profession of arms as his fathers before him.

Living with Gedda are his 15-year-old daughter, Alice, and his 13-year-old son, Allan. An older son died here several years ago in an attempt to save two boys from drowning in the Arroyo Seco. He was awarded posthumously, the Carnegie gold medal for bravery.

Betty Nuthall Favored to Take National Title

English Star Ranked First in Annual Tourney

Helen Jacobs Reiterates Refusal to Play

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—A last-minute attempt failed today to add Helen Jacobs, America's second ranking feminine tennis star, to the list of contestants in next week's national women's singles championships at Forest Hills. A transcontinental telephone call brought the information that continued ill health makes the trip impossible.

This development, combined with the surprising withdrawal of the champion, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, last night, left Betty Nuthall, 19-year-old English star, in the position of favorite as the official draw was made at the offices of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The telephone call to the home of Miss Jacobs in Berkeley, Cal., was made by President Louis B. Bailey of the association, just before the drawing was done. Her mother, with whom he conversed, said it would be inadvisable for "Helen the Second" to play.

With the names of the country's No. 1 and No. 2 ranking stars conspicuous by the absence, fifty-seven players made up the field.

Ten were selected as the fore-

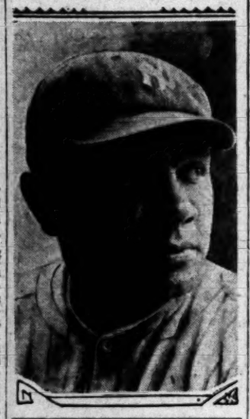
HERO!

Babe Ruth knocked out his forty-third homer yesterday, and clicked a single in the ninth to beat the Detroit Tigers, 6 to 5, and kept the Yanks more or less in the American League pennant race.



BABE WINS FOR YANKS WITH BLOW

Ninth-Inning Single is Deciding Factor; Slams Homer No. 43

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Babe Ruth twice played the hero role today as the Yankees opened their series with Detroit by pulling out a 6-to-5 victory from a close duel between Ed Wells and Waite Hoyt.

In the third inning, the Babe hammered out his forty-third home run of the season with Reese on base to climax a four-run rally and give the Yanks a good lead in the ninth. After Charley Gehringer's homer had tied the count, Ruth came through with a single with two on base to drive in the winning tally. Two men were out and there were two strikes on the Babe when he broke up the game.

The homer put Ruth eight games and nineteen days ahead of his 1927 record. Neither starting pitcher saw the finish. Hoyt gave way for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Wyatt was the loser, while Gehringer's homer drove Wells out and Henry Johnson appeared to win his third successive victory as a relief hurler. Night Games Drawing Big Crowds Here

Three weeks of night baseball in Los Angeles have seen fourteen after-dark contests played prior to last evening. A total of 126,824 fans saw these games. Of this number, 77,939 were paid admissions, the others representing passes and women free tickets. The average paid night attendance has been 5567. Including women free, the average at night games was 9059. The average amount received by visiting clubs during this period has been figured at $9000 each week, or $27,000 that Sacramento, Oakland and San Francisco teams have taken out of Los Angeles in the past three weeks.

Shellenback Puts Down Wild Rally in Ninth Frame

BY BOB RAY

A home-run clout with two men on by Otie Brannan, the Sheiks' silent second-sacker from Arkansas, in the eighth inning gave Hollywood a 5-to-4 victory over Seattle in last night's series opener at Wrigley Field.

Brannan's circuit wallop broke a 2-to-2 deadlock, enabled Frank Shellenback to best Rudy Kallio in an exciting pitching duel and kept the Stars in first place, one full game ahead of the Angels.

The Indians, who proved far from a set-up that a lot of fans expected them to be, put on a two-run rally in the ninth inning to give Hollywood rooters a scare, but Shellenback checked the uprising in time to finish with a one-run lead.

A total of 6526 customers, 2263 of whom were fair fans taking advantage of an extra ladies' night, saw the struggle, which was one of the best played here since the kleigs were installed.

It looks like another good game tonight with Dutch Ruether and Emil Yde, two smart southpaws, scheduled to make it a pitchers' battle.

Frank Cox, young Seattle catcher, was forced from the struggle in the fifth inning when Mickey Heath, after missing one of Kallio's tantalizing teasers, swung his bat completely around and clicked the Indian catcher on the back of the head with it. Cox was knocked colder than a pawn broker's heart, but revived after first aid and was able to walk from the field.

KALLIO ESCAPES

The Stars filled the bases after two were out in the second on Barbee's single and walks to Bassler and Gazella but Kallio escaped without a run scoring by retiring Shellenback on a pop fly to Ellsworth for the third out.

Hollywood shoved over the first run of the evening in the third, a wild throw by Ellsworth paving the way for the tally. Hill walked for a starter and then D. Lee hit one down to Ellsworth, who threw low to Muller in an effort to force Hill

BLAKE HURLS GREAT GAME AS ERRORS BEAT VANCE

Stephenson Drives in Winning Run with Single; Fast Fielding Aids Chicago Twirler

BY WILLIAM WEEKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Sheriff Fred Blake and his posse of bristling Cubs corralled the Brooklyn Robins, 3 to 2, after eleven innings of spectacular baseball before a record throng of 45,000 spectators today and hoisted themselves into a full-game lead in the torrid National League pennant fight.

From the standpoint of thrills it was one of the greatest shows of the national pastime staged on Wrigley Field. One spectator was fatally stricken with heart disease as the game ended.

The old hoss from Alabama, Riggs Stephenson, ended the victorious assault on Dazzy Vance by singling with the bases loaded in the final inning, to score English with the precious tally.

The victory extended the Cubs' spell over the Robins to twelve triumphs in sixteen games for the season and the fifth time this year they have defeated Vance, their erstwhile Nemesis. Too, it was the Cubs' sixth straight victory and the fifth consecutive setback for the Robins.

HERMAN STARS

Vance was not more than a small part accountable for the defeat. Two errors in the opening inning by Jake Flowers, Robin second baseman, paved the way for two runs, and not even the efforts of Babe Herman could overcome the handicap. Herman got two doubles, a single, a triple and a walk but was

Ballou Beats Thomas in 1-0 Duel of Twirlers

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Win Ballou won a pitchers' battle with Fay Thomas of Sacramento tonight and the Los Angeles Angels took a 1-0 decision before 3000 persons. Thomas had the better of the mound argument, allowing only two hits while Ballou gave out five, but a squeeze play in the seventh gave the Seraphs their run.

Arnold Statz walked in the seventh, was sacrificed to second, stole third, and sprinted home when Ballou laid down a bunt in front of the plate. Thomas struck out nine and Ballou ten.

GOTHAM RULERS FROWN ON M'LARNIN, SINGER GO

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission refused sanction today for a proposed match here between Al Singer, lightweight champion, and Jimmy McLarnin, leading contender for the welterweight crown. The commissioners turned down the bid of the Madison Square Garden promoters because of a ruling preventing a champion in one class from competing in another.

Frank Bruen, general manager at the Garden, explained to the commission that there was little hope of pairing Singer and Jockie (Kid) Berg, lightweight contender, in a title match this September because of the financial demands of the warriors. A match may be

San Gabriel Bag Toter Scores 145 for Thirty-six Holes at Rancho; Final Rounds on Today

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Stroking Rancho's fairways with meticulous care, Manual Cabral of San Gabriel maintained a slim stroke lead over the field at the thirty-six-hole mark of the seventy-two-hole Southern California caddie golf championship yesterday with a total of 72-73—145.

With the final thirty-six holes today. Cabral's steady consistency has put him out in front and may keep him there.

With the final thirty-six holes to be played today at Rancho, the championship is still anybody's. Dan Williams of Fox Hills slipped into second place with 146, Louis Coronado of Virginia scored 147, and the favorite, Bob Alva of Lakeside, is only three strokes behind the leader with 148.

The original field of almost 200 was cut to low 64 and ties yesterday and only the elite compete for a slice of Ben Fahy's $1000 purse today.

The leading caddies are shooting a championship brand of golf, and a hot battle looms for the title today.

Fahy will be on hand this afternoon at 4 o'clock to present the thirty-five money prizes, which range from $200 for the first-place winner to $5. Harry B. Wesbrook, Ralph L. Stephens, J. M. Arneill, W. G. Hinnau, and Billy Coe, donators of trophies, are also expected to be on hand for the presentation.

A. H. (Ollie) Painter, who is in charge of the tournament, claims that the event has been one of the most pleasant he has ever handled. "The caddies," says Painter, "have proven themselves to be the best of sportsmen, as well as golfers, with an entire lack of discord featuring the tournament."

Following are yesterday's complete scores:

145—Manual Cabral, San Gabriel.

Local Net Star Advances in National Junior Play

CULVER (Ind.) Aug. 12. (AP)—Henry Barclay, Baltimore, turned in the first major upset of the national boys' tennis championships today by eliminating F. Keaney, St. Louis, seeded No. 7 in the draw, 6-3, 6-4. Barclay now rests in the quarter-finals, where he meets George Boynton, Atlanta, second ranking national boy star.

Hal Surface, Kansas City, scored a minor reversal in the junior event, when he triumphed in a long duel with Joe Bill Bralley, Austin, Tex., 6-8, 6-3, 6-4.

Edward Sutter, brother of Cliff Sutter, New Orleans, national intercollegiate champion, played some sparkling tennis in defeating Robert Bacon, Providence, R. I., 6-4, 6-4.

The first and second seeded players in the junior tournament advanced by winning two matches each. Karl Kamrath, Austin, Tex., won from H. Adler, St. Louis, 6-0,

MERCURY ATHLETES IN FINAL WORKOUT

The final local practice session, with all athletes on hand, will be held at Bovard Field this afternoon for Los Angeles A.C. track-and-field stars who will carry the Mercury banner in the national championships at Pittsburgh the 23rd inst., and in the international meet at Chicago the 27th inst.

Today's practice will not be the final one before the men leave for Pittsburgh on Sunday, but it will be the last one with all men who are now in Southern California on deck.

Coach Dean Cromwell and Commissioner Boyd Comstock are well satisfied with the condition of their men. Both were pleased with the showings made in last Saturday's tryouts at Pasadena, although Hector Dyer, sprinter, and Fred Sturdy, pole vaulter, showed that they could stand more work.

The Mercury team is well divided as far as track-and-field stars are concerned. Nine of the men will compete in the field events and seven on the track. Such field veterans as Herman Brix, Fred Sturdy, Jim Stewart, Henry Lasallette, Bob Patton, Alma Richards, Dick Barber, James DeMers and Vaino Hoover are all experienced and should not fall down in stiff competition. The trackmen are Hec Dyer, Vic Williams, Ray Alf, Bob Maxwell, Dick Pomeroy, Harry Hinkle and Leo Lermond.

British Challengers Arrive This Week for International Polo Matches Next M

INVADERS ARE WELL MOUNTED

Cost of Ponies Estimated at $200,000

Great Britain's Line-up is Virtually Settled

Hitchcock Molds Team to Meet Rivals

BY PETER VISCHER
Editor of "Polo"

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. (NANA)—With the British challengers arriving this week, intent on wresting world honors at polo from American defenders, preparations for the brilliant sporting panorama that goes to make up international polo—oldest and most aristocratic of all sports—will reach a final stage.

TOMMY HITCHCOCK

Years ago emperors played polo with jeweled mallets. Today, though the styles are simpler, neither time nor money is spared, and it is not exaggerating to say that 40,000 persons drawn from the corners of the globe will pay something like $800,000 to see the rival fours of Britain and America on the historic green turf of Meadow Brook, Long Island, next month.

DETERMINED BID

The British are making a determined bid for polo honors, last won by them in 1914, and denied thrice since then. With a string of horses gathered for more than a year, worth conservatively $200,000, and a team of hard-hitting aggressive players, they hope to match America's brilliant youngsters.

The British side is really as good as set. Unless startling reversals in form take place in the few practice matches the British are to play in this country, the challengers will line up as follows: Capt. Richard George at No. 1, Gerald Balding, No. 2; Capt. Pat Roark, No. 3, and the brilliant Lewis Lacey at back.

The American side will enjoy a considerable advantage over these Britons, whatever the determination and the ambition of the invaders. The Americans will be playing on acclimatised ponies, before friendly crowds, on the fast turf they know so well. Furthermore, they have a stronger squad from which to choose their players, and they have as their captain the greatest player the game has yet seen, Thomas Hitchcock, Jr.

Hitchcock has been brought up in an atmosphere of polo and horsemanship. His father, whose name he bears, was captain of the first American international polo team, which lost to the British before the cream of American society in two matches at Newport, R. I., in 1886. His mother is one of the nation's finest horsewomen. He is master of the famous Aiken Drag hunt in South Carolina, perhaps the greatest teacher of polo the game has known. Possessed of a strong physique, a competitor's heart, and magnificent strokes, Hitchcock stands alone today at the head of all polo players.

NEVER BEATEN

If American polo had Hitchcock as its only asset the British would still be in an unenviable position. He has never been beaten by Englishmen. He helped the great Devereux Milburn recover the Westchester Cup in London in 1921. He swept the British from the field in 1924 and 1927, leading the attack, and inflicting upon them the most devastating defeats in the history of the game.

Hitchcock's game has matured. Now that he is captain of the American forces he directs the play rather than leads it. Therefore, he will probably play No. 3, which might be described as the pivot position, or turntable, of the game. The No. 2 turns defense into attack, and Hitchcock is a master at it. His long hitting and aggressive riding are, of course, unparalleled.

Hitchcock would undoubtedly like to use an American team as close as possible to that which overwhelmed the Argentines in the last great match of 1928. In that game he had W. Averell Harriman at No. 1, young Earle Hopping, Jr., at No. 2, himself at No. 3, and the dynamic Winston Guest at back. All his practice matches have made it clear that he cannot erase the memory of that spectacular afternoon from his mind, and why should he?

Railroaders Off for Meet

Headed for Ogden, Utah, to defend the championship honors of the Union Pacific System, more than 450 amateur athletes and rooters from the western unit of the railroad comprising the Los Angeles and Salt Lake division, will leave tonight on a special Union Pacific train. The occasion will mark the dedication of a new $75,000 stadium in the Mormon city, where athletes from the entire Union Pacific System will gather.

IT'S NEWS WHEN STARS LOSE

Sheiks Travel at .719 Clip Over Period of Eight Weeks; All but Two Regulars Hitting Over .300; Summer Racing Popular at Agua Caliente

BY BRAVEN DYER

Generally it's not news when a baseball team loses a series, but that was the case when the Hollywood Stars dropped four out of seven to San Francisco last week. And it was news because the Stars had won seven straight series since June 18, when they started knocking off victories with reckless abandon.

HARRY GREEN

It was old Hankus Pankus Hulvey, who twirled the 4-to-3 victory over the Missions on June 18. The Stars were in seventh place at the time. Before they had finished their wild rush to the top Oscar Vitt's athletes established a winning streak of twelve straight games. They won twenty-three and lost six to close the first half in second place.

OSCAR VITT

Since the second half dawned Vitt's charges have won eighteen and lost ten. From June 18 until the end of the San Francisco series the Stars traveled at a .719 clip, what with forty-one victories and sixteen defeats.

To Vitt, of course, goes most of the credit for that magnificent spurt. Few people know that likeable Oscar came within a whisker of managing the New York Yankees this season. Following the death of Miller Huggins last year, Col. Jake Ruppert went after Vitt and had Oscar virtually signed. It was then that Bill Lane got busy and because of the close friendship between the Old Hard-Rock Miner and Ruppert, the Yankee owner eased off and Vitt finally signed with the Stars at an increased salary.

Lane and Ruppert have been close friends for a long time. The Stars secured Gazella from the Yanks, also Ed Funk and Gordon Rhodes. The latter broke in here, although at the time he was under option to the Yankees. Although Lane denies it, it is common gossip that Jess Hill was signed to a Yankee contract by Bill Essick, former Vernon manager, who scouts for Ruppert.

Vitt fairly oozes personality on the field. He injects his own pepper and enthusiasm into his athletes, which is one explanation for those six and seven-run rallies which the Stars are accustomed to staging. Oscar is so popular with the fans, and his strategy generally succeeds so well that when he does make a mistake the bugs actually get a kick out of it. They don't bother to ride the Star pilot.

Right now Vitt's outfield is causing him some worry. Cleo Carlyle and Dave Barbee have not been delivering. Barbee's fielding has been slow and his throwing bad. And his hitting hasn't held up. Only Gazella, Brannan and Lee are hitting below Dave.

It looks as if Vitt will go along with Harry Green, Jess Hill and Bill Rumler for a while. Aside from Severeid and Bassler, who are Hollywood's leading sluggers, with averages of .339 and .309, respectively, Green heads the club with .332. Only four outfielders in the entire Coast League are in front of Harry, namely, Schulmerich, Hoag, Arlett and Johnny Moore.

What's more Green is a more timely hitter than Barbee. Rumler is forty points ahead of Barbee's .311 average. Mike Gazella's climb to .306 has helped the Stars a lot. His hitting has been timely. Brannan with .286 and Lee with .274 are the only regulars not in the .300 class, which indicates why the Stars are a tough outfit to beat.

Now that night baseball, with attendant large crowds, is here to stay, Wrigley Field officials—Mr. Oscar Reichow and Roots Weber—should do something about the terrible parking conditions. In an effort to grab off all the quarters in circulation attendants do everything but park your chariot on top of another car. On a big night, if you are lucky, you start to leave the parking joint twenty-five minutes after the game has ended. And it's no use to leave the game early unless you prefer sitting in your buggy to parking in the stands.

Harry Pollok, publicity chief for Agua Caliente, states that the ladies-free policy in vogue at the border race track results in splendid summer crowds on Tuesdays and Fridays, attendance running around 6000 or 7000. The summer crowds, according to Harry, are made up largely of day tourists from neighboring States, who drive in, eat lunch at the Casino and take in the races. Last Sunday's turnout was over 16,000, which indicates that summer racing is plenty popular.

The summer season runs on through Labor Day, with a big event billed for August 24 when the President's Plate will be run. There is a $2000 added purse for this event, which will feature 3-year-olds and up at a mile and a furlong.

The SPORT LIGHT of Grantland Rice

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

The withdrawal of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody from the women's national tennis championship at Forest Hills leaves an open field and a much more interesting competition. Where it was a walkover, or close to the same, it will now be a scramble where three or four will have excellent chances to take over the defaulted crown.

Some of the glint may be removed from the crown with Mrs. Moody absent, but after all a championship is a championship and it will be so entered on the records. Before there has been a depressing influence over the field in the thought that a week's hard play could only lead to being badly beaten in the final round.

While the withdrawal of Mrs. Moody takes the leading star out of the row next week, it also increases greater public interest in a competition that will no longer be a one-sided affair.

Miss Cross, Miss Palfrey, Miss Nuthall and one or two others now have something to play for beyond the privilege of reaching the final to be trampled on.

There will naturally be greater interest in the competitive side of women's tennis when some young star comes along to challenge Mrs. Moody's supremacy. That may not happen for some time. But with all the tennis that is being played, no one can tell at what moment another genius may suddenly make the champion sit up and take notice.

Modern Polo

Tommy Hitchcock may not be the developer or the father of modern polo, but the American captain for ten years has been a leading influence in building up the hard hitting, hard riding game.

Polo to Hitchcock has always been a young cavalry war—speed up and down the field—added to power.

The British team that starts its final training over here may have its full share of skill, team play and finesse, but it must also have the ability to stand up under a smashing attack and it must be a much harder hitting team than any side the British have sent across in many years. The young American team has trained for a slashing attack, for a charge and counter-charge where the main idea is to break through. It is a different type of polo from the game of ten or twenty years ago. It has more action, more speed and much greater power. And it is far from being gentle. The challenging side will have to spend the next three weeks getting ready to meet this type of polo if it is to have any chance to win.

The Offensive Change

There has been a big drift toward a heavier offense in many sports. In the same way it is now the heavy hitting that dominates baseball where most of the pitchers spend a weary summer. And if the ball parks were larger the outfielders would soon run out of legs. They would have to be marathon runners to qualify.

The same has been true of tennis to a large extent, although young Sydney Wood has shown that a softer attack can also upset the smashers.

There has been a general belief that Knute Rockne builds up his Notre Dame teams along offensive lines. But it so happens that while Notre Dame always has a fast, hard-running attack, it also has one of the strongest defensive combinations in football. The South Bend line last fall was one of the best of all time with Moynihan, Cannon, Law and Twomey around.

Van Ryn and Mangin raced through their match with Abraham Bassford and Dr. Irving Epstein of New York without losing a game in the two sets. Mercur and Hall took the measure of H. H. The English combination of H. G. N. Lee, Davis Cup player, and S. J. Perry survived the first round by defeating Armand L. Brunea, New York and Jack De Lara, Los Angeles, 6-2, 7-5.

Interest in the women's singles centered around the second surprise victory of Baroness Glacomo Levi, No. 2 ranking player in Italy. Keeping up her excellent tennis, the former Miss Maude Rosenbaum of Chicago eliminated another American ranking player, when she defeated Miss Ethel Burkhardt, San Francisco, 7-5, 6-4. The day's play also included the defeat of a seeded player, Miss Virginia Rice, Boston, by Miss Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Ct., 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

ALICE WHITE

She pounded pavements . . . pounded studio-doors . . . pounded the keys of a battered typewriter. Then a keen-eyed director spotted Alice . . . and in a few short years a new White star rose in Hollywood's heavens.

Luck? . . . Luck nothing! Alice White was endowed by Nature with a special charm to thrill the millions.

OLD GOLD, too, is one of Nature's favorites. Endowed with mellower, sweeter tobaccos. It gave to millions a brand new taste-thrill, without a trace of throat-irritation. That's why OLD GOLD broke into the "Big-4" in less than a year, why today it's the country's fastest growing cigarette.

When Nature backs an Alice White or an OLD GOLD, success comes . . . and comes on the run.

JUST A FEW YEARS AGO SHE WAS POUNDING A STUDIO TYPEWRITER. TODAY, SHE THRILLS MILLIONS WHEN SHE STARS IN A PICTURE.
IN SEATTLE, WASHINGTON, OLD GOLD APPEARED FEB. 1927. JUST THREE MONTHS LATER IT WAS ONE OF THE NORTHWEST'S FOUR LEADING CIGARETTES.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12. (AP)—Heavy clubbing by the Pittsburgh Pirates carried them to victory over the Philadelphia Nationals in a double-header here today, 8 to 7 and 8 to 3.

The first game went fourteen innings with the Phillies forging in front in their half of the fourteenth and the Pirates rallying for two runs on L. Waner's triple, P. CUBS CONQUER ROBINS 3 TO 2 so well bottled up on the bases that he scored only once.

Where the Dazzler lacked support, the Cubs came through with fielding of such brilliance as to strangle Brooklyn scoring attempts, except in the second and fourth innings. Twice they choked off runs at the plate, once by another one of Kiki Cuyler's great throws from right field. Two double plays helped to haul Blake out of other trouble. Blake gave twelve hits to fourteen by Vance.

After Blair had been tossed out in the final inning, English singled over second. Cuyler singled through the same spot and Wilson was intentionally walked, filling the bases. Stephenson then cracked a single off Gilbert's glove to drive in English.

Blair, first up for the Cubs, was safe on Flowers's fumble which permitted him to reach second. English got a synthetic single off Flowers's shin, and Blair raced to third. Cuyler sent Blair home with his sacrifice fly.

Wilson was safe on Flowers's second bobble, with a double play in sight. Stephenson singled to left, sending English home with the Cubs' last run until the eleventh.

Brooklyn scored in the second on singles by Flowers and Frederick and tied it up when Wright singled in the fifth to send Herman home.

LAWLESS WILL BATTLE ANDERSON AT STADIUM

Buckie Lawless, eastern welterweight who beat Young Jack Thompson last February, will fight Babe Anderson of San Jose in the main event at Hollywood Friday night. Goldie Hess injured his left arm in training and was forced to call off his fight with Hector McDonald, which was scheduled for Friday night. Hess expects to be ready for action in about two weeks, according to his manager, Harvey Pettit.

Originally Buckie Lawless and Babe Anderson were booked to fight next week. Moving them up to this Friday night doesn't take away from the fans anything that they pay for. Lawless and Anderson are rated main-event fighters and they have been in training so will be in shape even on short notice.

San Francisco promoters brought Lawless to that city and paid him a fat guarantee to fight. The fight game is slow in the north and Lawless came here looking for action. He will fight any welterweight in California, including Jackie Fields. That's how confident Buckie is right now. Anderson fought a slashing bout with Benny Miller at Hollywood a few weeks ago.

Erwin Bige fights Guy McKinney in the semi-wind-up. They are welterweights. Sammy Offerman and Eddie Thomas are off the card. Offerman sent word from San Francisco that he is in no shape to fight. Augie Curtis will meet Santos Manana in the special event. These lads are flyweights.

STARKIST WINS RACE

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Aug. 12. Starkist, a fast daughter of Runstar, accounted for the featured race here this afternoon, the Inyo Claiming, a seven-furlong dash for 3-year-olds and up. Starkist, running for the College Inn stable of Bill Hartman, won by a head from Shasta Charm with Edward K getting the show.

Always close to the leaders, Starkist moved toward the front as the field entered the stretch. She was blocked on the rail, however, and had to come to the outside and only got up after a hard drive. Time for the seven furlongs was 1m. 26 2-5s.

The victory on Starkist gave apprentice Lennie a double for the afternoon. He had won the third with Sam Gilmore. Results:

First race, five and one-half furlongs, claiming—Joe Campbell, first (Jones:) Paliou, second (Lennie:) Black Man, third (Meredith.) Time, 1:08 3-5.

Second race, seven furlongs, claiming—St. Tonas, first (Woolf:) Via, second (Jones:) Face Cream, third (Comingor.) Time, 1:27 3-5.

PETROLLE STOPS WALTHIER

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Billy Petrolle, the "Fargo Express" comeback bent, knocked out Paddy Walthier, Chicago lightweight, in the fourth round of their scheduled ten-rounder at the Congress Arcade tonight.

GEORGE, LUTZE VIE AGAIN IN FEATURE OF MAT SHOW

Don George, the young heavyweight who has won seven matches here in as many starts, will face Nick Lutze, the colorful mat star and lifeguard, in the feature event of Lou Daro's wrestling show at the Olympic next Wednesday night.

Daro signed Lutze for the match yesterday. The first meeting between George and Lutze was so close, and the match so sensational, that Daro decided to give the lifeguard another shot at the conquerer of Marin Plestina as the result of the showings Nick made in the two matches he has had here since he underwent a knee operation.

Although Lutze offered no alibi for his first defeat at the hands of George, the knee ailment he was suffering from at the time slowed him up in that bout. He wrestled with a stiff leg through the latter part of that match. George had been ill for a week preceding the match, and as a result, he was not at his best for that bout.

Dworkin Cops Net Laurels

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12. (AP)—Leonard Dworkin, ranking player at the University of California at Los Angeles, today won the right to represent Cleveland in the national public parks tennis tourney at Washington next week. Dworkin defeated Jim Hardie, captain of Carnegie Tech's tennis team, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, in the city finals. Dworkin recently moved here.

SAUREZ WHIPS PERLICK IN RING

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Justin Suarez, Argentine lightweight, pounded out a ten-round victory over Herman (Twin) Perlick of Kalamazoo, Mich., tonight in the feature bout of the boxing card at Queensboro Stadium. The South American scored his second straight conquest in this country by a decisive margin, battering Perlick but failing to put him down for a count. Suarez weighed 138½ and Perlick 139 pounds.

Suarez, a hard and willing puncher, swarmed over the curly-haired Michigan lightweight in a bout that stamped him as a new prospect in the 135-pound ranks. He won six of the ten rounds easily and scored a more clean-cut victory over Perlick than Jackie (Kid) Berg, the English battler, was able to do several weeks ago.

Spit is a horrid word, but it's worse if on the end of your cigar

One of many actual photographs of "spit-tipping" cigar makers. The above picture was taken in Boston, Mass., March 28, 1930. Affidavits from the photographer are on file, showing that these workmen used spit in finishing the ends of cigars.

. . . the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency . . . join it. smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

Over 7,500 cigar factories are registered by the U. S. Government. Over 7,400 of these hand-roll cigars, producing 50 percent of the output. Every hand-rolled cigar—made by American Cigar Co. or anyone else—is subject to the possible danger of "spit-tipping." Certified Cremo is absolutely free from spit-tipping—No Cremo is made by hand.

The choicest, tenderest leaves that the crop affords are scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture. Certified Cremo's purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that bind, roll, wrap and tip the cigars!

Hash Is Much Simpler

The Newly-weds had bought a chicken, and as Newly-wed was an amateur at carving, his wife insisted on his learning how to carve from the cookery book, so that he should not display his ignorance before their guests.

When the fowl appeared on the table, the host was plainly at a loss how to begin.

"Why don't you carve it, dear?" asked his wife, anxiously. "You know exactly how to do it."

"Of course I do, love," said Newly-wed, "but I can't find any of the dotted lines."

at second. The ball went over by the box seats in short right-field and Hill tried to score but was cut at the plate, Owens to Cox. D. Lee reached third on the error and play at the plate and scored when Brannan punched a single to center. Barbee forced Brannan and then Carlyle singled but Owen snared Heath's grounder and retired Mickey at first for the third out on a neat toss to Kallio.

Dutch Holland evened the count in the fourth when he clouted one of Shellenback's offerings over the left-field wall. Funny part of it was that on the previous pitch Holland had taken such a terrific swing and missed that he staggered forward about ten steps to keep from falling on his face.

Seattle went ahead in the fifth when Muller singled, took third on Cox's hit and, after Kallio had fanned for the second out, scored on D. Lee's error on Knothe's grounder.

SCORE KNOTTED

The Stars tied it up in the home half of the fifth on singles by D. Lee, Barbee and Carlyle and Heath's infield out. Kallio got out of a tough hole in this round by purposely walking Bassler and then fanning Gazella for the third out.

It was Shellenback's turn to get in a jam in the sixth when Holland and C. Lee led off with singles to put runners on first and third. Shelly fanned Owen, but hit Almada to fill the sacks. The Sheik spitball slabster then whiffed Muller and personally tossed out Borreani to end the inning.

Brannan got his winning home run in the eighth with two on after two were out to clinch the victory. With one away Shellenback singled and Hill walked. D. Lee dubbed one in front of the plate and Borreani picked up the ball and threw to Knothe, forcing Shelly at third. Brannan then smashed one into the right center-field stands to score Hill and D. Lee and break the 2-2 deadlock.

FANS THRILLED

The Indians gave the fans a thrill in the ninth when they bunched three hits for two runs, but Shellenback checked the rally to preserve his victory. Ernie Johnson batted for Borreani and opened the round with a single. Gaddy, batting for Kallio, was out on a called third strike that appeared to be a bit low. Knothe, however, doubled and Ellsworth singled to score the two runs. Hollywood then filed to Carlyle and Ellsworth was out stealing to bring the exciting struggle to a close. Score:

Foul Tips

A new announcing system, installed over the week-end, was used last night for the first time. The fans so appreciated the novelty of actually hearing the announcer's voice that their applause was deafening. Oscar Reichow, demon broadcaster, was not startled, and apparently afraid of his own voice, that he forgot to announce some of the players.

The readjusted lighting system also was in use, as far as the fans were concerned, there seemed to be little difference, with the exception that center field was a bit more easily observed than before. The players, however, voiced their approval in that thrown balls were more easily seen. The lights around the lower boxes were partially screened.

Bill Lane, owner of the Stars, announced that a novelty had been arranged for tomorrow night, in that Joe E. Brown, the noted Warner Brothers' comedian, would bring two ball teams composed of his friends, for a two-inning game, starting at 8:15. Brown, before he became famous on the stage and screen, was a ball player, and once occupied third base for one of the Boston clubs in the major leagues, and was a great baseball fan.

Ladies were free at the opening game last night, and the crowd exceeded the 6000 mark. Which was pretty good, considering Seattle's position in the standings.

Jack Powell and Perle Casey are the arbiters for the week.

"Chick" Ellsworth was shortstopping for the Indians again after a prolonged absence. He got into the game for the first time in some weeks, when he played in the second game of the double-header with Portland. The only game, by the way, that the Tribesmen took from the Ducks in that series.

The official attendance was given as 6526 fans of whom 2263 were women.

"Dutch" Ruether was announced as the Seattle hurler for tonight. Manager Oscar Vitt probably will use either Emil Yde or George Hollerson.

ANGELENO HOOKS BIG ROCK COD OFF BARGE

HERMOSA BEACH, Aug. 12.—Jack Lamar, Los Angeles contractor, pulled in one of the largest rock cods seen on the big Olympic barge, when he hooked a twelve-pounder yesterday. Lamar's catch was the heaviest fish pulled in on the Olympic for the past week. Many large bonito, some weighing as much as nine pounds are being hooked daily, according to Capt. J. M. Anderson, skipper of the vessel. Mackerel, sand dabs, sole and perch are also taking the bait well. Capt. Cliff Garner reports sea trout, barracuda, bass and halibut being brought in daily by his string of live-bait boats.

Oaks Defeat Missions, 5-3

OAKLAND, Aug. 12. (AP)—With Bill Henderson pitching tight baseball and his team-mates contributing timely hitting, Oakland defeated the San Francisco Missions, 5-3, tonight. Henderson struck out ten men and allowed six hits. The hitting of Arlett, rightfielder, and De Viveiros, shortstop, was particularly effective. Merton Nelson started on the mound for the Missions but was forced to retire in the sixth when he pulled a tendon in his arm. Fuzzy Hufft, leftfielder, hit in all the Mission runs, two of them with a homer in the fifth. Score: and held Benny even in the seventh. Miller copped the eighth and seemed on his way to victory, but Jackson belted Benny in the breadbasket repeatedly to take the ninth.

NEGRO BATTLER TAKES DECISION

ENTITLED TO NOD

This sent the boys into the final stanza all even. Jackson cut loose with everything he had in this canto and his edge in this session, plus his work in the second, fifth and sixth entitled him to the nod.

At the start of the fight Benny aimed for Sammy's tummy, but the target was an elusive one and Miller raised his sights as the fight progressed.

Benny weighed 150½ to Sammy's 149 3-4. The boys would draw a good house if rematched. The place was three-quarters filled last night.

Young Sport and Ernie Hood, Pasadena favorites, met in the semi-wind-up and the decision went to Sport, who was younger and stronger than his foe. Sport would pass for Fidel La Barba in a pinch and carries a heavy punching attack. Hood did well at the start, but faded as Sport continued to carry the fight to him in the last three rounds.

Chalky Wright, a colored boy who looked as if he had just stepped out of an ink well, slapped his way to a decision over Sid Torres in the six-round special. The beetle-browed brownie was upset momentarily in the first round when Wright parked a left hook under Sid's ticker. The stern-visaged Wright punched too straight for Torres and that was that.

The two preliminaries were over in a hurry. Gene Mullen stuck his long arms half-
